83rd Year, No. 120 ★★ VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCT. 28, 1966—44 PAGES PRICE: 10 CENTS WEEKEND 15 CENTS

WAS IT AN OMEN? When Attorney - General Robert Bonner (Stetson hat, centre) posed for this "fun" picture during the Barkerville restoration hi-jinks in 1962 it probably never occurred to him that one day he'd be fighting a personal election campaign in British Columbia's legendary cattle and gold country. But next month he'll contest a byelection in the historic Cariboo riding, seeking a legislative seat the voters of Point Grey denied him in general election in September. (Svendsen photo.)

Three-Way Poll Fight Assured in Cariboo

By JOHN MIKA

The Nov. 28 byelection in Cariboo will develop into a "little general election" it appeared today as three parties said they would contest it and even the Conservatives are trying to find a candidate.

Provincial Tory president Stuart Fleming of Vernon this morning told The Times that he is urging the Cariboo PC constituency association to enter the contest by the Nov. 19 nomination deadline.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault also confirmed that his party definitely will seek a victory and Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the same Thursday immediately after the writ was announced.

Although he still has to go through a formal nominating procedure, the Social Credit party's candidate will be Attorney - General Robert Bonner for whom the opening was engineered because of his Sept. 12 defeat in Vancouver Point Grey.

IMPORTANT ISSUES

The other parties haven't yet declared their standard-bearers but the leaders have indicated that the battle will be turned into a re-enactment of last month's general election in which they claim Premier Bennett hid some important issues.

With logging the main industry and cattle next in importance to the Cariboo riding, the NDP will have an oportunity to prove Mr. Strachan's post-election contention that his party's main campaign "peaked" just a little too early.

He said current worry over layoffs of loggers and the profits taken by meat departments of supermarkets were foreshadowed by the theme of the NDP campaign but the Sept. 12 election date enabled the Socreds to squeeze in just before the public had begun responding to the economic situation.

Mr. Perrault suggested the same this morning when he said "Cariboo riding will be good campaign territory for the Liberals.

"There are many issues and most of them have developed since the general election."

LIBERAL CANDIDATE

He said "two or three" persons already have expressed interest in standing for Liberal nomination and his conversations with local constituency officials guarantee "the party will have a candidate."

He said he would go to the riding this weekend to help with organization and pointed out that Cariboo has returned Liberal members in the past.

Mr. Fleming, whose party virtually abdicted the Sept. 12 campaign with only three token candidates, said "we're in the process of consulting with our association in Cariboo and actively pursuing the objective of mounting a campaign.

"It would give us a chance to state our case and begin rebuilding our party. But it's up to the local constituency to decide.

"The provincial organization will give them absolutely full support if they decide to run a candidate—but, of course, we will not impose this decision on them."

PICK OUR TIME

Mr. Fleming said he is making all efforts to ensure a candidate is put up by the party on general rather than local issues.

"At the beginning of the year I said the party was not in a position to fight a general election and we should pick our own time," he said.

"Well, in a byelection there is none of the pressure you have in a general election.

"I feel this is the ideal opportunity for our party to make a full and comprehensive statement of our over-all program."

Last month Deputy Speaker William Speare was re-elected for the Socreds with 3,830 votes. The NDP took 2,530 and the Liberals 719 votes while the Conservatives didn't contest the seat. But since the Socreds first won the riding in 1952, all three opposition parties have held the runner-up spot in one election or another.

Meanwhile, fiery Lillooet editor Mrs. Margaret (Ma) Murray predicted that Mr. Bonner would be defeated.

EGO-APPEAL

"Bennett is trying to appeal to the ego of the Cariboo voters, offering them a big-name cabinet minister," she said.

"But they're not a bunch of hicks who will fall for something like that. The Cariboo is the roughest, toughest place there ever was — real moonshine-drinkin' country."

She said she would be happy to be a candidate but the Liberal officials already have said they would not want her because she does not live in the riding.

Mrs. Murray's reaction to the byelection announcement contrasted with the predictable

LBJ, Marcos Had 'Words' Over Troops

MANILA (CP) — President Johnson and Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos had a "less than cordial exchange" on the question of sending Filipino troops to South Viet Nam during the Manila summit conference, an informed source disclosed today.

Johnson, speaking at the closed-door session of the seven-nation conference, had criticized Philippine participation in Viet Nam, the source said, referring to the 2,000 Filipino civic action group as only twenty-hundreds of one per cent of the Philippine population of 32,000,000.

Meeting the U.S. president later, Marcos pointed out that the Philippines has a standing army of only 45,000 men, and that during the Huk (Communist) insurrection here in 1949 the U.S. "did not send one million U.S. dollars a day" to the Philippines, the source said, referring to the cost of the Philippine effort in South Viet Nam.

SECOND REFERENCE

After the conference President Johnson, speaking in Corregidor, again referred to Filipino participation in the conflict.

Johnson then expressed concern for Viet Nam saying, "we have all agreed that a terrorist, Communist insurgency sponsored and buttressed by the Hanoi government shall not destroy the independence of Viet Nam."

He added:

"The Philippine people, who were racked by a similar armed assault on their sovereignty by the Huks, will recognize the full dimensions of these problems and the nature of the response that must be mounted."

Informed sources believed tha Johnson took up the subject again prior to his departure here Thursday, following his visit to Cam Ranh base in South Viet Nam.

Pearson Holds Line Against Money Demands

OTTAWA (CP) — Western premiers left the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference today not very happy and not very much richer.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia said:

"We didn't lose anything, and that's a victory for B.C. We didn't get anything either."

He said that Finance Minister Sharp has said he will write to him about British Columbia's demands for federal support for certain Crown corporations.

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial fiscal conference ended this afternoon with no significant change in a rigid federal refusal to yield more tax room to the provinces and several premiers left for home with bitter comments.

Premier Robarts of Ontario said the week had been "an exercise in futility."

Premier Roblin said it was an unhappy conference for Manitoba and "can hardly be described as encouraging in the national interest."

Prime Minister Pearson said the federal government had protected the interests of the country and he was "quite happy with the result."

The only change announced by Mr. Pearson was an adjustment in support for higher education worth $1 per capita to the provinces, or a total of $20,000,000.

Mr. Pearson said the federal government has "gone as far as we could" in giving further tax resources to the provinces. He estimated the new money promised during the week-long conference to the provinces at $350,000,000 for the year 1967-68.

He conceded that the growth in provincial programs will be faster in future than it will be in the federal field. But predictions that Ottawa would face a surplus in a few years were not correct.

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Yelling students burned a life-size effigy of President Johnson today and Chinese stoned a hotel used by U.S. troops, in demonstrations protesting the president's visit Sunday.

South Africa May Pull Out of UN

AMMO BLAST DEVASTATING

SAIGON (AP) — Two American soldiers were reported killed and 10 wounded tonight when a U.S. Army ammunition dump exploded in a huge ball of fire 12 miles north of the South Vietnamese capital.

First reports had said the blast apparently inflicted only slight casualties, but Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the scene that American authorities there reported a heavier casualty toll.

The blast laid waste the surrounding jungle and broke windows in Saigon.

South-West Africa Control 'Abolished'

PRETORIA (Reuters) — Prime Minister John Vorster held a special cabinet meeting today to discuss South Africa's answer to Thursday night's United Nations vote to terminate the republic's mandate over South-West Africa.

Political observers speculated the government might now consider quitting the United Nations.

The cabinet was due to hear later a first-hand report from Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller on the General Assembly vote, which aims at wresting from South Africa control of the territory which it has administered for 46 years. Muller was due back from New York by air today.

The vote came too late for comment in most South African morning newspapers, but in Johannesburg The Rand Daily Mail said it demonstrated a sharp deterioration in South Africa's international position and the extent of its failure to convince the world that apartheid (racial segregation) could be made morally acceptable.

The Rand Daily Mail usually supports the opposition Progressive party, which is opposed to apartheid.

Doubts

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Many UN diplomats expressed doubt today that the world organization could carry out the General Assembly's decision to wrest South-West Africa from a defiant South African government.

The 121-nation assembly voted 114 to 2 Thursday night to end South Africa's old League of Nations mandate over the 320,000-square - mile territory on her northwest border and bring it under UN trusteeship.

The world body also voted the establishment of a special committee of 14 member states, to be designated by the assembly president, to recommend practical means by which the territory should be administered.

It called upon the South African government "forthwith to refrain and desist from any action, constitutional, administrative, political or otherwise, which will in any manner whatsoever alter or tend to alter the present international status of South-West Africa."

The historic decision, climaxing a running battle between the UN and South Africa going back to the start of the world organization, came through the adoption of a series of Latin American amendments to a basic resolution proposed by 54 African and Asian members.

Only South Africa and Portugal voted against the measure.

Three Abstain

Britain, France and Malawi abstained. Botswana and Lesotho were absent; both adjoin South Africa and are dependent on it economically.

Canada, which voted in favor of the termination of the mandate, worked behind the scenes to gain the widest possible support for the resolution.

It was the most drastic action the UN has ever embarked upon to try to compel South Africa to yield the territory. But the South African government has served notice it will use "whatever means necessary" to block any attempt to take over the mandate.

This would give the assembly only one recourse: To turn the issue over to the Security Council, which has the authority to resort to sanctions or outright force.

But this posed the question of whom the council would delegate to carry out the job in the unlikely event that it did approve military measures without running into a British veto.

Force Threatened

A number of African nations threatened during the month-long assembly debate to organize an army to move into South-West Africa.

It was considered more likely that the council would call for economic sanctions. But such measures have had little effect on South Africa's white supremacist government in the past.

The resolution said South Africa had failed to carry out its obligations to the 500,000 inhabitants of the territory it took over in 1920.

First Defeat

BONN (Reuters) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's minority Christian Democratic government suffered its first defeat today when the West German Bundesrat (upper house) rejected the 1967 draft budget.

Grim Battle Rages In Viet Rice Fields

SAIGON (Reuters) — Heavy fighting flared in the rice fields of South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta Thursday, with government troops reporting 137 Viet Cong guerrillas killed in a set-piece battle.

Two battalions of elite South Vietnamese troops were airlifted by helicopter at noon to reinforce infantry units locked in combat with two Viet Cong battalions, a government spokesman said.

American and South Vietnamese air force planes bombed the guerrillas, accounting for about 90 of the dead.

Government casualties in the action, which took place 88 miles southwest of Saigon, were described as light.

The government force, which hit the Viet Cong within minutes of launching a search-and-destroy operation in the area, was today reported continuing its sweep through rice fields and fortified hamlets.

AFTER GUERRILLAS

The recent intensification of fighting in the Mekong Delta region has led to speculation that the United States will send large forces into the area to help the government hunt down entrenched guerrilla bands.

There also was a report, from Ottawa, that the resumption of bombing in the demilitarized zone by the United States had once again driven the Indian, Polish and Canadian members of the International Control Commission out of the area.

In making the announcement, External Affairs Minister Martin said:

"We remain convinced nevertheless that there is a role for the commission as an instrument through which a measure of disengagement on ground could be brought about. . . . This will require active co-operation of both sides."

In the air, American pilots took advantage of improved weather to step up raids on transportation and military targets in North Viet Nam. One air force plane was lost and its pilot is missing.

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The North Viet Nam news agency today claimed that U.S. Army commanders in South Viet Nam killed three Negro soldiers who wanted to go home and disobeyed orders to go on an operation Sept. 23.

Months of Terror Began With Shout: 'You Are a Spy!'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

PHU BINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Sister Rosa's long night of suffering began just as school let out. The laughter of her first-graders was echoing down the road when the Viet Cong appeared in the doorway.

"You're a spy," they shouted.

They ripped off her nun's habit, took her crucifix, gave her some black pyjamas just like theirs and led her blindfolded out of the little village of Duc My in the Mekong Delta.

It was four days before last Christmas.

The 64-year-old nun walked most of the night along a jagged trail to a bleak compound where they removed her blindfold, took her rosary, clamped on handcuffs and chained her, with 21 other prisoners, to a metal bar that ran the length of the low-ceilinged thatched hut.

●

So began the long days of chopping wood and washing rice, and the long silent nights, and the weeks and months of never being allowed to talk to anyone, of being forbidden to kneel in prayer and having to listen to propaganda lectures against her church.

What had she done?

The first of her many interrogators supplied the only clues with his opening two questions. Those English books she used in the school, they were supplied by the government, weren't they? And hadn't two of the younger nuns been seen in town buying bolts of clothing with U.S. money?

One day this week, when the number of men and women chained to the long bar had reached 35, there was feverish activity among the guards. They hurried half the prisoners into sampans and promised to return for the rest.

That afternoon, advance elements of the South Vietnamese army, on a sweep through Vinh Binh province, overran the Viet Cong base camp and found 18 handcuffed, blindfolded prisoners.

'U.S. CAN'T' SUBDUE REDS

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle called today for a Vietnamese settlement based on guaranteed self determination after the withdrawal of American troops.

He told a crowded press conference in Elysee Palace the Americans cannot "subdue" Viet Nam and that an American military victory there is impossible.

At the same time, he added. the American forces now in Viet Nam cannot be destroyed by their foes.

Once more demanding withdrawal of American forces from Viet Nam, de Gaulle said peace there depends on Washington's acceptance of the principle of self-determination for the Vietnamese people.

"They have only to observe the principle that each people should settle their own affairs in their own manner and by their own means," he said.

SECRET CAUCUS DISCLOSED

Tory Disharmony Out in Open

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The disharmony within the Conservative caucus over the leadership of John Diefenbaker exploded into the open today.

A secret caucus of the Conservative party was held recently with attendance limited only to those who hold one particular viewpoint on the leadership question, G. W. Baldwin, Conservative MP for Peace River disclosed.

He said he received no notice of the caucus.

He learned later that the secret caucus was attended by those within the Conservative MPs who have announced their support for Arthur Maloney for the national presidency of the party.

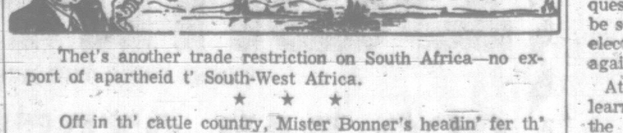
"I think it is my right, as one who holds an opposite opinion, to make it quite plain that I was not included in that group and to give my reasons why I am opposed to this view," said Baldwin in a statement issued today.

Meantime, a smoothly functioning Diefenbaker organization has dealt two blows to the Conservative national president Dalton Camp's campaign to challenge Diefenbaker's leadership at the annual party meeting next month. There is now a serious question whether Camp will be successful in his bid for reelection with Maloney running against him.

At the same time it was learned that the agenda for the annual meeting has been prepared and distributed. Copies of the agenda have been already distributed to MPs and other convention delegates by Dr. James Johnston, national director of the Conservative party. Dr. Johnston is a Diefenbaker appointee to the Conservative head-office staff in Ottawa.

It is understood that Camp was not informed in advance —or consulted—about the agenda.

Mr. Baldwin in his statement said, "I don't think it is any longer a question of Dalton Camp et al versus Diefenbaker, Nielsen and Maloney, but rather a question of a very deep and fundamental principle; whether this is a divine right in any person to retain any elective office without some means of submitting in the usual democratic way, from time to time, to re-endorsement or rejection."



Thet's another trade restriction on South Africa—no export of apartheid t' South-West Africa.

FIRE DESTROYS CITY; 20,000 ARE HOMELESS

BOGOTA (AP)—The government announced Thursday that the city of Quibdo, in northeast Colombia, has been destroyed by one of the worst fires in the country's history. Quibo, a city of 40,000, is about 200 miles northwest of the capital.

San Carlos Palace, the government house, estimated that 20,000 persons were left homeless and calculated the losses could reach $9,000,000.

The fire broke out Wednesday night when a gasoline tank exploded and the flames spread to hundreds of wooden houses.

TRAWLERS 'SPYING'

Commons Gets Admiral's Text

OTTAWA (UPI) — Soviet fishing fleets operating off both coasts of North America are "an important part" of Russia's "war-making machine" according to Rear-Admiral William Landymore.

Defence Minister Hellyer today released Rear-Admiral Landymore's statement to answer charges that he "tampered" with the brief when it was originally delivered to a standing committee on defence.

The confidential statement said some Russian ships "which look like trawlers" are actually picking up radio transmissions.

"They are, in fact, spies on our doorstep and they are always with us looking for intelligence," Landymore's unexpurgated statement said.

UNHEALTHY ATTITUDE

He added: "I personally think that a nation which keeps electronic binoculars trained on Canada and the United States is showing an unhealthy attitude towards us.

"Because they are legally on the high seas we must put up with their presence, but as far as I'm concerned they constitute an important part of a war-making machine and so cannot be ignored."

The entire statement about camouflaged spy boats was removed by Hellyer from Landymore's statement to the defence committee, although general comments concerning Russian fishing fleets remained.

Conservative Terry Nugent (Edmonton Strathcona) accused Hellyer recently of "tampering" with Landymore's brief, but he was unable to get the minister to make a statement.

Hellyer maintained he had a right to remove references in the brief which might have embarrassed other nations or not given a true representation of the facts.

In another section of the brief, Hellyer's department took out references to the United Nations' peace-keeping chore in Cyprus.

"It is well known that while our (Canadian) peace-keeping forces have been at work in Cyprus, both the Greek and Turkish Cypriots have added significantly to their arsenals," Landymore wrote in the original brief.

PRESENT BUILD-UP

He added, "it would have been relatively easy to have prevented an arms build-up by sea blockade and airport control so that stable conditions could have been maintained while finding a lasting solution without further bloodshed."

Most of the other deletions refer to the navy's recruitment problems.

Hellyer removed the statement: "I am desperately short of the naval personnel required to meet my commitments" to read: "I am experiencing a shortage of the naval personnel to meet my immediate commitments."

The minister edited out figures which showed there had been a 10 per cent decrease in men re-enlisting for a final tour of duty and a 6 per cent decrease in those re-enlisting for a third time.

POSITIVE SIDE

The statements take out included one which said the navy got only a little over 70 per cent of its requirements for new recruits in 1965 and was 60 per cent below a target figure in 1966.

Instead of Landymore's comments, Hellyer inserted some more positive aspects of the recruitment problem.

These included special training courses, sea duty allowances and improved housing — all efforts to beef up naval enlistment.

GO-GO BUDGET

OTTAWA (CP)—The go-go generation has got to Finance Minister Sharp.

He said Thursday his supplementary budget next month will be called a mini-budget instead of baby budget.

He dropped the new term at a news conference following a tax structure committee meeting with provincial premiers.

Unions Foiled In Meeting B.C. Cabinet

The cabinet can't meet the B.C. Federation of Labour because most ministers are out of Victoria, the federation was told today.

The federation sent a telegram earlier to Provincial Secretary Wesley Black asking for a reply to a letter two weeks ago.

It wants to present a brief to the cabinet on what it regards as the misuse of injunctions in labor-management disputes.

The reply was that "the majority" of the cabinet is in Ottawa and elsewhere on government business and that it was "impossible for Mr. Black to place the request before the lieutenant-governor in council at this time."

'Millions of Troops' Needed in Viet War

UNION, N.J. (UPI) — Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., Thursday night said at least three million U.S. troops will have to fight in Viet Nam if the war continues to escalate.

"Every sign points to an increasing escalation in Asia that will involve not 300,000 troops, but three million and more American troops in a land war in Asia," he said.

"I want to say to my president again tonight, if you continue to lead this nation down the road to a continually escalating war, you are going to have the responsibility in history for sending American troops to Asia by the millions," Morse said.

"I think it is a shame that some way, somehow, this great man — for he is a great man — does not recognize the horrendous mistake he is making by following the foreign policy, in my judgment, a secretary of defence, a secretary of state, and some other bad advisers have apparently sold to him," Morse said.

He advocated a cessation of bombing of North Viet Nam, a retreat into defensible enclaves, and support a cease-fire.

Morse also warned against the flag-waving of "super patriots" at home, and the following of "slogans and not facts."

"The hardening of the American position in Southeast Asia has gone hand in glove with the hardening of the slogans used to justify our intervention there," he said.

Angry Opposition Hits Pipeline Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — The government ran head-on into an aroused Opposition today when it tabled an agreement with Trans-Canada Pipe Lines, Ltd., permitting construction of a line through the United States.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker insisted that the agreement be submitted to a parliamentary committee to make sure that it would not undermine the future development of northern and southwestern Ontario.

T. C. Douglas, NDP leader, said the government has no power to authorize the agreement without first submitting it to Parliament. His party would fight the measure every inch of the way.

Mr. Diefenbaker said the agreement is part and parcel of a Liberal policy of continentalism which would destroy the economic and political independence of Canada.

He cited in this regard the Canada - U.S. auto agreement and government policy on water resources.

Mr. Douglas contended that the agreement will place a 15-year moratorium on the industrial expansion of Northern Ontario.

He said the Trans - Canada line through Michigan will become the main line from Western to Eastern Canada while the Northern Ontario line became secondary.

USED CLOSURE

After the Liberals' "humiliating debacle" of 1956, they should be given an opportunity to keep from falling into the same booby trap. The reference was to the Commons pipeline debate of that year when closure was used by the government.

Social Credit and Creditiste spokesmen supported the government on the agreement.

Mr. Pepin said Trans-Canada will be liable under the agreement for forfeiture of at least $1,000,000 for each breach of its undertaking to move most of its gas for eastern Canadian markets by the all-Canadian route.

He tabled a contract between the company and the government, saying it binds the company to live up to commitments it made to obtain government support for its plan to build a second line from Western Canada through the United States.

MAKES OBJECTIONS

Mr. Douglas said he is more convinced than ever that the government's decision to accept Trans-Canada's new proposals, after rejecting the original ones, is a complete and unjustifiable reversal of policy.

He said the agreement states that 50 per cent of the gas for Eastern Canada will move through the Northern Ontario section of the line. This was not 50 per cent of total volume.

The new line through the U.S. would be 36 inches. The Ontario line was 30 inches. In terms of volume, 44 per cent more gas would move through the U.S. than through the Ontario line.

It was misleading and specious for the government to say the 30-inch line would be the main line.

Mr. Pepin interjected that more volume would go to Northern Ontario.

Mr. Douglas said the new agreement did not remove Prime Minister Pearson's original objection that the main gas lines must be constructed in Canada.

"We will fight on this issue," Mr. Douglas declared. "We insist that the agreement be submitted to Parliament. . . . Withdraw this order and submit it to Parliament."

Mr. Douglas said he can only conclude the government has back - tracked under pressure and that he would like to know the source of this pressure.

FORMER B.C. STOCK PROMOTER FILES BANKRUPTCY PETITION

TORONTO (CP)—George Caldough, a one-time stock promoter, has filed for personal bankruptcy less than a year after leaving British Columbia's Oakalla prison.

Mr. Caldough, 37, was parolled after serving three years of a six-year term for stock fraud.

He said in his bankruptcy petition at Osgoode Hall that he was unable to meet the demands of creditors and has liabilities totalling $37,872—$35,183 of which is owing to the department of revenues.

It was in Mr. Caldough's $70,000 West Vancouver home that movie actor Errol Flynn died in 1959 while a guest.

Mr. Caldough, now working as a clerk in a Toronto clothing store, was arrested in London in 1960 and charged with distributing misleading promotional material to prospective investors in the United States.

U.S. SPACE PROBLEMS

Apollo Launch Set Back Again

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The first launch of three Apollo astronauts has slipped from December to January because of problems in the prototype moonship's breathing and cooling system.

The U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration confirmed late Thursday the launch of Apollo with astronauts Virgil Grissom, Edward White and Roger Chaffee aboard has been delayed until early 1967.

Informed sources said the start of the 14-day earth orbital shakedown flight was expected to take place in the first half of January. The flight once was tentatively set for mid-November and engineers lately had been aiming for an early December launch.

Since the 35,000-pound spaceship has only made two unmanned suborbital flights, problems were expected and the one-month launching delay was not expected to affect America's manned lunar landing schedule. The first manned moonshot could come as early as 1968.

The Apollo delay, however, did not interfere with preparations for the Nov. 9 launch of Gemini 12 astronauts James Lovell and Edwin Aldrin on a four-day rendezvous and space-walk flight. It is the last mission in the project Gemini series.

A number of troubles cropped up during the past few weeks while the Apollo I spacecraft was undergoing crucial testing in a vacuum chamber at the spaceport. The series of tests is running nearly a month behind schedule.

One of the most serious problems concerns a cooling unit that engineers suspect may not operate as well as expected for 14 days in space. Officials were expected to make a decision to replace the unit with an imprvoed version. Such an operation alone would take several weeks.

Another problem that has stalled the altitude chamber testing for more than a week was caused by faulty seals in a breathing oxygen regulator. Parts to repair the device were late arriving at the moonport and the spacecraft was not expected to be ready to resume tests until at least Tuesday.

Father Goes Berserk In Shooting

CHICAGO (UPI) — A crazed father of seven children, screaming "I'm doing it for the kids," went berserk in a candy factory Thursday, killing one fellow employee and shooting two others.

The gunman, Lane Odum, 38, handed over his pistol to a friend who told him "you know you'll go to the chair . . . you have a wife and seven kids."

The shooting occurred in the massive Curtiss Candy Co. plant on East Illinois Street, just two blocks from the fashionable shops and hurrying throngs of North Michigan Avenue.

Fellow employees in the six-storey building ran screaming in terror when Odum whipped out a 38-calibre blue steel revolver and blazed away.

Lee Robinson, 35, was killed with bullets in the head and chest. Thomas Throppe, 39, went down shot in the right arm and side. Hudi Redmond, 36, was shot in the left arm.

Facing Necessity

THERE IS NO REASON TO doubt the truth of the Peking announcement that Red Chinese scientists have exploded a nuclear device, using a guided missile to carry it to the target. It had been expected for some time that China would accomplish this feat — the only doubtful point was when.

We are offered no details of the achievement, although full credit is given to "the brilliant illumination of Mao Tse-tung." And the official announcement contains declarations of good faith; the bomb will never be used first against any country; it will be for defensive purposes only and to safeguard peace. More ominous is the comment that China's possession of the ultimate weapon and the means of delivering it should bring "great encouragement to the Vietnamese people."

Although no such concrete act was required, the latest development gives urgent emphasis to the need for a world-wide nuclear agreement, not only to control or prohibit use of the bomb by the five powers which now have it, but also to prevent possession from spreading to any more countries. The larger the number of nations which can boast of the ability to destroy enemies with nuclear explosions, the more difficult it will be to control this greatest of all hazards to mankind. It is therefore essential to halt any further proliferation of the weapon.

It is equally necessary to come to some arrangement among the present bomb-possessors that will make it impossible for the weapon to be used. Stockpiled, it can be effective as a deterrent, but that should be the extent of its employment, and the ultimate objective of the nations should be to abolish the stockpiles.

The situation takes on added urgency with the advent of Communist China to the nuclear club. In recent years the attitude of the United States and Russia—the two chief nuclear powers — has been fairly safely stabilized in the mutual knowledge that use of the bomb by any country could well trigger the holocaust that would end them all. This is understood by Britain, of course, and by France, which has tried so hard to achieve the prestige of bomb ownership.

But Peking is more of an unknown quantity. In China's current mood of savage resentment against the West, hot rivalry with Russia, and encouragement of street hoodlums and violence in a purging movement to deify Mao Tse-tung as the mystical leader of a movement which assumes at times the flavor of religious fanaticism — in such a mood there is no assurance that hot-headed fanatics might not be moved to pull the nuclear trigger.

The situation is certainly not one for complacent acceptance. International nuclear control is now an urgent necessity. It will entail acceptance of Red China into the councils of the world, and various other alterations in the global scene, but it cannot be delayed any longer.

The Unfolding Story

MR. KENNETH KIERNAN, minister of recreation and conservation, appears undisturbed by reported plans of Western Mines to carry on open pit mining in Strathcona Park—an operation which will leave a permanent scar on that scenic landscape.

The minister points out, with apparent equanimity, that the company has the legal power to convert its entire 1,200-acre crown-granted claim into an open pit operation if it wishes, though he does not expect this to happen.

In his public statements on the issue, Mr. Kiernan sounds very much like the former minister of mines, which he is, but considerably less like a minister of conservation and recreation who is expected to champion the public's interest in preserving wilderness parks.

"At the start of an operation," says Mr. Kiernan, "where you are dealing with things that are not visible, it is impossible to say you will do this, this and this."

The minister's explanation suggests government approval of park mining activity of a nature so undeterminable that the area in which it is carried out could be blighted for all time.

There is reason for public concern over the minister's attitude to parks held in trust for the future. But there are other developments in the unfolding story of Western Mines that are also disturbing. One of them is the manner in which information on the extent and effects of the operation is coming out, bit by bit, as if the process were to condition the public to the acceptance of one distasteful fact before another is revealed.

Another is the proposal to dump tailings into the open pit, when it has been dug, perhaps three years hence, thereby saving Buttle Lake from further pollution. This might be one way of making the best of a bad situation. It might also be an attempt to pacify the community of Campbell River, which is rightly disturbed by the prospect of having contaminated mine wastes dumped into its domestic water supply. Even the minister agrees that the tailings cannot be left on the surface of the ground, since run-off from the dumps would pollute the lake water.

Looking at Prices

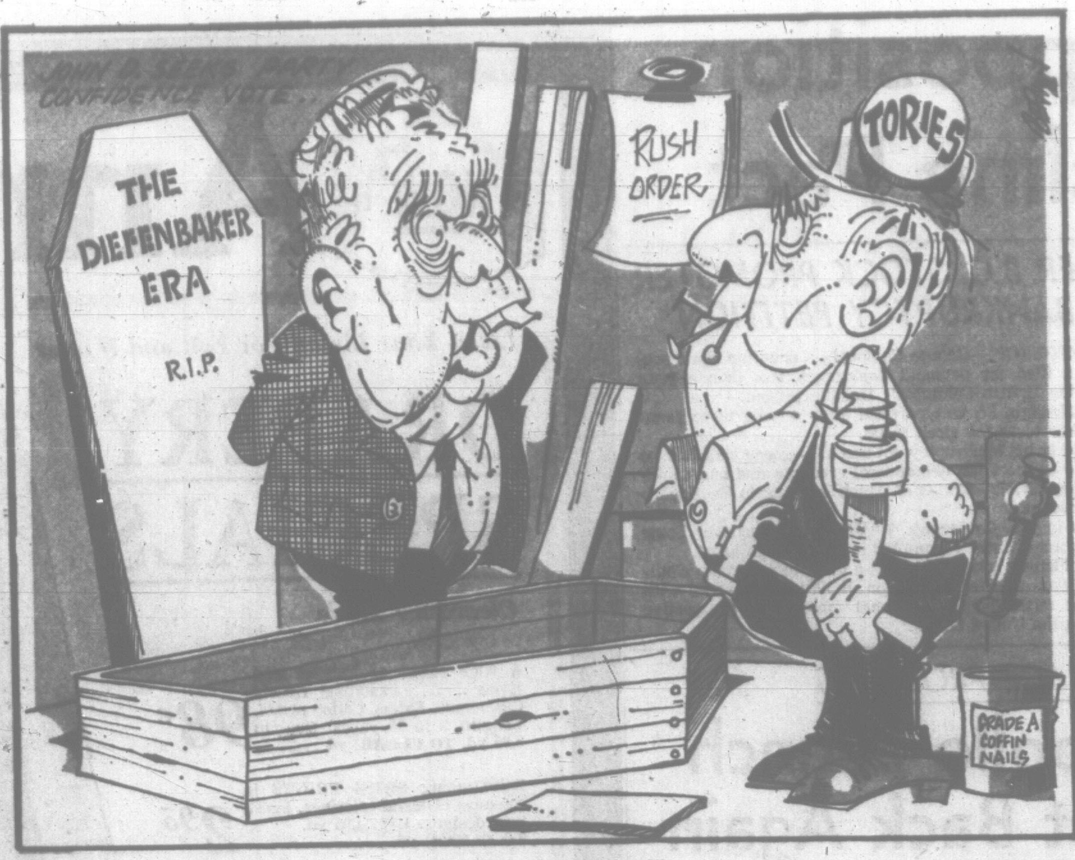
HOW MUCH WILL BE ACCOMplished by a housewives' boycotts to bring down chain store food prices, no one can tell. In some areas the women's action has triggered off price wars as the stores attempt to sidestep the boycott, but lowering prices for selected items on a temporary basis is of little use.

The stores claim that they are not to blame for ever-increasing food costs. They point—and with much justification—to such factors as higher basic costs of both food and packaging, and to the fact that many shoppers in this affluent age have got into the habit of buying not just food but services as well, such as processing which used to be done in the home. There has been such a change in food retailing in the past decade that it is difficult to make price comparisons which are really valid.

The Senate-Commons committee which is investigating the cost of living has had the top officials of the major Canadian food chains give testimony on their businesses in great detail. According to Mr. Ronald Basford, MP, chairman of the committee, a preliminary report on the findings will be presented to Parliament before Christmas with recommendations for combatting spiralling prices. Judging by the line of questioning at the hearings it seems likely that promotional costs of retailing—trading stamps, contests, "cents off" deals and other gimmicks—will come in for prominent mention. Two companies were honest enough to admit that the customer pays for this promotion in the long run.

However, since the chain retailers have pointed to wholesalers, processors and others in the business of supplying food, the committee has plenty of work ahead of it for the next few weeks as it attempts to get to the bottom of the problem.

Whether the committee's findings will result in price reductions is somewhat doubtful, unless specific instances of gross profiteering are uncovered and publicized. However, there can be no doubt that merely having the committee in existence will exert a dampening effect on price increases, as it already has in the case of automobiles. No business is anxious to have to justify price increases before a Commons-Senate committee with such wide powers to compel the revelation of business secrets.



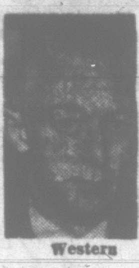
"Anybody I know . . .?"

CHIEF AND RENEGADES

By MAURICE WESTERN

War Dance for the Tory Battle

IF Mr. Eric Nielsen's Toronto speech is a reliable indication, the Conservative get-together in November promises to rank as a social event with the descent of the Six Nations on the Huron villages. The popular notion that Mr. Diefenbaker is the issue seems to be an oversimplification. It is apparent from his speeches that Mr. Camp, despite many misunderstandings, thinks highly of his chief. On the other hand the Diefenbaker Conservatives think, if not highly, at least frequently, of Mr. Camp.



Western

But the leadership issue is much broader than is generally supposed. One school, of which Mr. Nielsen is a vigorous adherent, maintains that the Conservatives, throughout their history, have been obsessed with the importance of doing in their leaders. The opposite view, not always expressed with comparable clarity, is that the leaders have demonstrated an uncanny knack for doing in the party.

It will be apparent that Mr. Diefenbaker, by either analysis, is little more than an interesting (if at times remarkably lively) exhibit A in the current controversy. One might hope, therefore, that the November convention would be an occasion for scholarly discussion based upon sound research into many absorbing chapters of party history. Mr. Nielsen, who has already dealt — somwhat obliquely — with the "struggles of the Drew era," might well cast fresh light on the remarkable episode of Sir Mackenzie Bowell and the "nest of traitors." His opponents, in the same disinterested spirit, would no doubt dwell on such painful incidents as the abrupt departure of Mr. R. B. Bennett and the apparent inability of other leaders to recognize polite hints from below.

Distraught

But it is apparently impossible for the Conservatives to keep Mr. Diefenbaker in perspective, or anywhere else. Mr. Diefenbaker arouses passions, even among Conservative scholars, and the current disputations sound less like the prelude to a convention than like a war dance of the Iroquois on the eve of battle.

Mr. Nielsen began, in a relatively quiet vein, by protesting that he was fed up with "the back-biting, back-stabbing, back-room plotting and policy conspiracies that have disfigured the party's image for five years." But then, rapidly warming to his work, he asked:

"Who in his right mind would be so stupid as to either offer himself or allow himself to be drafted to lead a party in whose membership there will be those conspiring constantly against him — for that is the history of this party—undermining, undercutting, plotting the leader's downfall, selfishly coveting for themselves the spoils of a successful revolt or coup."

It is difficult, off-hand, to think of more than a dozen such candidates and depressing that Mr. Nielsen should suspect these men of mental instability.

The crime-busting member for the Yukon then turned his attention to Mr. Camp "What," he demanded, "were the circumstances under which he chose to leave the Liberal party some years ago, a party in which he held national office, and was it of his own volition or was he pressed to leave?"

This raises many sinister possibilities. Did Mr. Camp get out with a hose like Mr. Rivard escaping from Bordeau Jail? It is extraordinarily difficult to imagine the Liberals ejecting anybody. But were there dark circumstances of which we know nothing. Is Mr. Camp an habitual establishment wrecker?

However, there is worse to come. Proceeding with his revelations, Mr. Nielsen warns that "Mr. Camp belongs to the same ilk as Mr. Walter Gordon." (This use of the work "ilk" is startling because in politics it is almost invariably applied to members of other parties and in a disparaging sense.)

"They are the thinkers," Mr. Nielsen continued. "They inhabit a little world where the thinkers rule and everybody else is dross."

The dimensions of the threat now become more starkly apparent. The Conservative party is in peril of being infiltrated by thinkers. It is small wonder that a blood-bath is imminent.

Nor is this all. Mr. Camp only recently was made a director of a large financial group," the main backers of Mr. Coyne's Bank of Western Canada. He represents big people."

Mr. Coyne again. It is enough to chill the blood of any Diefenbaker Conservative.

There are others involved, people "who regard the Conservative party as a kind of rich man's club"; people who cannot forgive Mr. Diefenbaker because he won victories "without taking the directions and dictates of the backroom boys, the pundits, the Bay Street barons or the crown princes of privilege with which this party continues to be troubled."

For many delegates it will be a difficult convention. A prickly feeling at the back of one's neck may be the only warning that one is sitting next to a baron, a crown prince or even a thinker. And what will these people be doing there? To use Mr. Nielsen's own verb, they will be out to disembowel the Conservative party.

The more one ponders this language, the more it fails to convey the sense of brotherhood that one would expect of men linked in common cause. While Mr. Nielsen managed a few gentle shafts at the despicable Grits, he seemed far more intent upon impaling actual or suspected rebels. He even went so far as to mention the unexplained resignations of two ministers in 1963, adding with obvious reference to the Spence inquiry, "partial explanations have since been exposed—but not by our leader who always had it in his power to do so."

Lest anyone miss this dagger thrust, Mr Nielsen reverted later to the rebels observing that "they remained quiescent until they once again saw their opportunity in the Spence report."

Passions Aroused

Without doubt these are unnerving weeks and it is perhaps not too surprising that the member for the Yukon appears himself at times to be somewhat distraught. Thus he began his speech by warning that the party is "being destroyed as a political entity by internecine warfare" resulting from personal aggrandizement and grasping for power.

Towards the end, however, he managed to assure an audience, which must have been chilled to the marrow by his earlier disclosures: "Make no mistake about it, an election now would return the Conservative party to office."

If so, it will be the first such victory by a disembowelled party in our political history.

In any event, it is plain from Mr. Nielsen's expose that the convention will be a stirring spectacle. The threat from the thinkers, the barons, the Borgias and crown princes is evidently more serious than most of us had assumed. But fortunately the day of reckoning is at hand and there should be no lack of rebel heads on pikes when the carnage is over at the Chateau Laurier.

In Memoriam

Aberfan

Peace, restless land, your toll is fully paid
By fresh, young lives, in carefree springtime years,
Who are within your heaving breast now laid;
Who leave behind no monument but tears.

Why did you claim them, these, your youngest ones;
Their sweet Welsh accents still; their singing cease?
Their grandsires' lives you seized and grandsires' sons;
Must children now this sacrifice increase?

"I called them not; not I who cause your grief;
I need them not, these dear beloved of yours;
'Tis Man's unthought stupidity the thief;
He leaves me scarred and bleeding from my sores."

Then 'neath your scars enfold these children's frames;
Hear solemn songs above them as they sleep;
And shelter them from sun and winter rains;

—Victor W. Williams, Victoria B.C.

"WE WOULDA BEEN HERE SOONER, ONLY DAD DIDN'T WANNA STAY VERY LONG!"

Looking Back

From The Times of Oct. 28, 1906:

At the opening session of the convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities on Wednesday Mayor Morley read a paper on the proposed new Municipal Act which strongly advocated the self-government of municipalities under certain restrictions and subject of course to the common law of the Dominion. The paper produced results inasmuch as it was followed by a resolution empowering the executive to obtain the necessary assistance to have a new act drafted or the present one revised.

Mr. Johnson Bounces Back

By STAN McDOWELL

From Ottawa

"DANIEL JOHNSON," said a delegate from another province at this week's federal-provincial conference, "is an intelligent man and a charming fellow. But he's still got to learn some of the tricks of the federal-provincial horse trade." But the premier of Quebec, as his political opponents have all learned sooner or later, is a gifted student in the art of political infighting. The recurring pattern in his record has been going down for what looks like the count and then getting up to win on points.

McDowell

By Wednesday afternoon Mr. Johnson appeared to be down as flat as he had ever been, victim of what he had said earlier in the week was a federal government attempt to make Quebec a province like the others.

Before the conference opened on Monday Mr. Johnson had been faced by a stiff challenge from Prime Minister Pearson's statement of plans for a federal initiative in adult education. The statement, bluntly rejecting Quebec constitutional claims to exclusive jurisdiction in culture, research and areas of manpower policy, offered Mr. Johnson no face-saving way out.

The province needed money. Difficulties in the bond market made it impossible for Mr. Johnson to risk scaring off investors any further by reviving the implied threats of Quebec separation that he had made at the federal-provincial conference in September.

Constitutional Quebec

But politically he could not afford to accept a federal statement that so directly attacked his constitutional position.

Then, in a classic example of the "mean cop, friendly cop" treatment, in which one policeman browbeats his man and then turns him over to another policeman who offers kindly help, Ottawa offered Mr. Johnson his way out.

After a meeting with Quebec provincial ministers in his office at midnight Monday, federal Manpower Minister Jean Marchand drafted another version of the Ottawa plan for adult education, strikingly different in tone and wording but not in substance from Mr. Pearson's statement.

It was worded to accommodate Quebec's constitutional sensibilities and it carefully avoided all reference to such controversial points as culture and research.

When Mr. Marchand's statement was issued Tuesday afternoon the entire Quebec province delegation got together for a strategy session. By early evening the Quebeckers were making guardedly approving comments on Mr. Marchand's text and later the approval grew open and enthusiastic.

Flexible Quebec

It came as no surprise late Wednesday afternoon when Mr. Johnson announced Quebec's readiness to be flexible in trying out the federal adult training plan, as explained by Mr. Marchand. He emphasized that it was Mr. Marchand's version of the proposal that Quebec liked.

As for Mr. Pearson's statements on culture and research, the Quebecers took the attitude that they were just a "hors d'oeuvre," with no meaning in substance, that Quebec could shrug off.

Mr. Johnson was putting a good face on it but it was a compromise, a readiness to conciliate Ottawa that Quebec had not expected from the man who had promised "not to beg Quebec's rights, but to exercise them."

But Mr. Johnson's friendly tone toward the federal government did not include one cabinet member, Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp.

He charged that Mr. Sharp took such a paternalistic attitude toward the provinces, asking them to take federalism on his terms, like it or lump it, that he seemed to be trying to be a one-man replacement for the British North America Act.

Odds More Favorable

With this attack, Mr. Johnson moved into a fight where the odds are much more in his favor than they had been in his battle to enlarge Quebec's special status.

The other premiers are not happy either with Mr. Sharp's determined stand against giving up income tax points to the provincial governments.

Mr. Johnson is still asking for more money, but for all the provinces as well as for Quebec, and on the same practical economic grounds as such premiers as Duff Roblin of Manitoba and John Robarts of Ontario are asking for it.

Quebec is behaving as if it were a province like the others, with a vengeance. That puts it in a contest in which the others are on Quebec's side.

Mr. Johnson has even laid the preparations for his own version of the manoeuvre of giving the other side a way to back off without losing face.

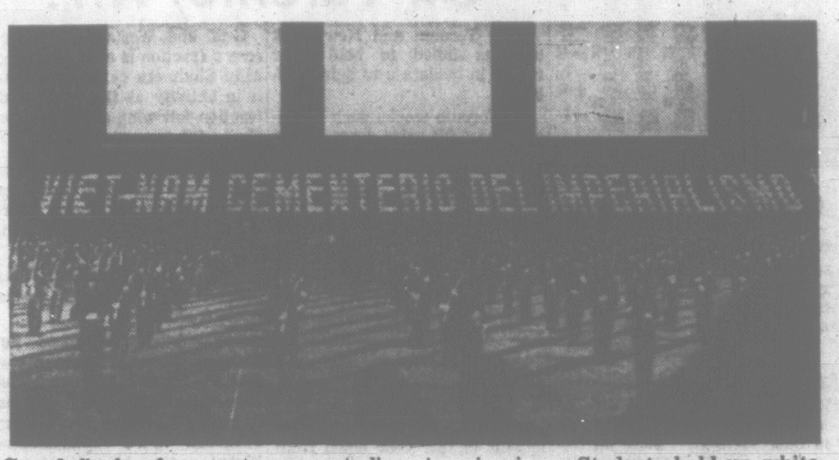
At his Wednesday press conference he took great comfort from the thought that Mr. Sharp was, after all, a member of a cabinet, and he had high hopes that the federal cabinet would bring its high-handed finance minister around to a more reasonable position.

It is an audacious challenge that Mr. Johnson has launched against Mr. Sharp, especially for a man who has just been given a hard time in a tight corner of a lions' den.

Cuban Revolution Has Matured; But the Air of Crisis Remains

By CHARLES HAYNES

(Last of three articles by a University of Victoria student who toured Cuba last summer. He was one of 20 Canadians invited by the Cuban government through the Canadian Union of Students).



Grand finale of a sports-gymnast display in Havana is used to rouse Cubans to a high pitch of enthusiasm for the Revolution — and to promote anti-Americanism. Students hold up white placards to spell out the slogan "Viet Nam Cemetery of Imperialism".

After seven years the Revolution has matured. The days of wild rebellion are gone.

A 30-year-old film producer described for me his exploits in the Havana underground and admitted: "I was a romantic then, all of us were. We knew nothing about the responsibilities of Revolution."

And who was more the legendary, romantic figure than Fidel Castro? Fidel, who swam rivers and climbed mountains, who debated politics among student radicals, who at 21 joined activists plotting to invade the Dominican Republic and overthrow Trujillo.

Fidel Castro, more than anyone else in his country, realizes the new phase in the Revolution. In marathon speeches he explains to his people the problem of the nation.

Haynes

In a sense he is the most democratic leader of the world today, for he goes out among the people, questions them, argues with them explains to them. He is "our Fidel" to the farm worker, the Negro, the mountain dweller. Sometimes things go wrong, and the people are angry with Fidel, like a mother with a naughty boy.

Fidel understands his people, he visits his people. Having no permanent offices or address, he is always on the move about the island. One day he may talk with students at Havana University. Another day he's on a coop farm, listening to complaints of bureaucracy.

The Reuters news agent in Havana told me how he was swimming at Havana's Santa Maria del Mar Beach, when who should swim by but Fidel himself. The Reuters man got an interview right there.

"The first swimming interview I've given," confessed Fidel.

During this interview Castro repeated his feeling that the individual is becoming less important than before in the Revolution's administration. Gradually the institution of the Communist party and the institution of government will replace Fidel's personal guidance.

This is not to say Fidel will retire. He will always be 'around' and will always be a symbol of the Revolution's ideals — maybe. Che Guevara disappeared into history and no one knows where he is.

The Communist party is now an accepted fact in Cuban life. The party represents the established orthodoxy.

Party organization extends throughout the political structure of Cuba. Local cells join to form municipal committees, municipal committees from regional committees, which from provincial committees. The supreme authority is the Central Committee. Fidel Castro is general secretary of this 100 member nucleus. Many Central Committee officials hold important posts in the government.

There is freedom of criticism in Cuba but only within narrow limits. One can criticize inefficiencies of the Agrarian Reform and offer suggestions to improve the Agrarian Reform, but one cannot criticize the basic philosophy of Agrarian Reform.

Study Morrison

Marxism is a required course in first year at Cuban universities. The nature of the course, I gather, is doctrinaire. But each lecturer makes up his own exam, so in one respect at least there is no imposed uniformity.

I found Cuban newspapers horribly predictable in their news coverage. Their best features are movie reviews and art critiques.

When a paper in Matanzas province wanted interviews with the Canadian delegation, they conveniently chose four students whom they knew were the loudest supporters of the Revolution.

News stories in El Mundo and Granma focus on the revolutionary struggles in Latin America and U.S. "crimes" around the world. Little amplification is given in the reports. The purpose of the Cuban press is to reinforce the suggestions which the government considers important.

Not all is well in Cuba. Many older people have lost patience with the Revolution. They may have welcomed it in the beginning. They may not have minded rationing, provided the food situation improved.

Many Fed Up

The Revolution, however, has concentrated its efforts where conditions are worst —in the country. Many of those who lived in the cities and who were well off financially are fed up now.

They are the old middle class, the 100 or so who leave Cuba for Miami each day. I saw them in a sealed-off waiting room of Jose Manti Airport, sitting out the last few hours.

They are the ones who choose to leave all their possessions behind them and break off long friendships. The waiting list is long.

I heard the story of a student who had tried to escape the island (draft-age youths are denied the chance to leave). After capture he was thrown into prison. Later the authorities released him and allowed him to continue his studies. But the student was uneasy, lest someone see him befriending foreigners.

An elderly woman was due to leave Cuba. The army had drafted her son, and she was unlikely ever to see him again.

More than this saddened me. A sports-gymnastic display in Havana's baseball stadium made frightening use of Orwellian media.

Hundreds of school gymnasts covered the field. To music they formed geometric patterns. Behind them on the field's far side placards formed letters of slogans: "Cuba — First Free Territory of the Americas," "The Duty of Every Revolutionary is to Make Revolution," "Viet Nam — Cemetary of Imperialism."

Cameras projected pictures on three large screens, showing atrocities of the Batista era, battle scenes of Viet Nam, Negroes rioting in the U.S. and the face of Lyndon Johnson (followed by the expected jeering). When emotions ran high a unison clapping broke out. Shells exploded, searchlights swept the sky, a helicopter flew into the stadium—simulating battle conditions of Viet Nam. More clapping.

Newspapers, the prevalence of posters and slogans, the ever-present example of the Martyrs, displays of mass emotion—all these are used to preserve an atmosphere of "permanent crisis." Were it not for these devices the Revolution might very well lose its momentum and disintegrate into chaos.

Because of American provocations (themselves the results of Cuban provocations) Cuba is a very well-armed island, with or without the infamous missiles. Militia and soldiers in their olive green uniforms are everywhere.

Saw Artillery

In the port of Santiago I saw a convoy of trucks leaving the dock area, each truck pulling a covered-up piece of artillery. In the Sierra Cristal hills of Oriente we visited a small military training camp, where soldiers served us coffee.

Most military I met were courteous and friendly. Soldiers in the regular army are largely draftees and country bumpkins.

Havana Cathedral once sheltered the bones of Columbus. The cathedral faces a cobblestone square with buildings of Spanish colonial style on three sides. Compared to cathedrals in other cities in Latin America the one in Havana is unspectacular. Even hundreds of years ago Cubans were not inclined to erect lavish monuments to their faith.

Traditionally the Cuban men have not shown interest in the Church. To do so would not be considered 'manly." Women have remained more devout. In the modern chapel built next to Havana Cathedral I saw only old women at prayer. In Varedero some Canadian students went to mass and found the service poorly attended except for women and the elderly.

Two legates from the Vatican told me they had neither found nor experienced state persecution of religious practice. But the fact that people generally ignored the church did not cheer them.

Party Bar

A Roman Catholic may support the work of the Communist Party, and many do support it, but the faith of a Roman Catholic obviously bans him from membership in the Party. I heard of one university student who declined joining the Young Communist League because, he explained, "I still believe in God."

By far the best thing about Cuba is the Cuban people. I was surprised how some of them would go out of their way to show me directions, or take me where I wanted to go, or make phone calls for me, or give me bus fare on one embarrassing occasion.

The women are not afraid to talk to you. The girls are exceedingly beautiful. There is something proud about them, something fine.

Everyone in Cuba dresses informally, even administrators in the government. This informality does not include the wearing of shorts, and only on the beaches do men take their shirts off. The puritan simplicity of Old World Spain still remains. For all the basic seriousness of the Revolution, Cubans are a gay people. Their faces are pleasant.

I learned something very special in Cuba. I learned to understand how most of the world regards North America. I felt the discontent, the anger, the hatreds of desperate people. Half the world is starving. Half the world will not wait any longer.

What will happen "when whirlwinds of rebellion shake the world?"

Cuba is one answer.

River Otters Aren't Rare, But They're Not Often Seen

By DR. CLIFFORD CARL
Director, Provincial Museum

Dear Dr. Carl: How common are otter on Victoria's waterfront? After living in Cordova Bay for over 20 years we were thunderstruck to come across three lying on a rock, their necks stretched out in curiosity (our dog in the same attitude only a few feet away).

After a few seconds, two, followed by a more leisurely third, slipped into the water where their heads bobbed a few moments then disappeared ... the three made several solemn inspection trips toward us ... after a while, satisfied, they bobbed around and came up with great quantities of fish which they took some time to chew up ...

We did see a baby a few weeks ago in the bush. Would they have holes somewhere along the bank?

★ ★ ★

Otters are relatively common along the entire coast of the province and several family groups are known to occur in the vicinity of Victoria. However since they are active mostly at night they are only occasionally seen by local residents.

Carl

Often the only clues to their presence are piles of broken crab shells and droppings composed of much shelly material. Such signs may be found on almost any rocky beach above high tide mark, but usually away from habitations.

Dens are usually located under roots of trees or among large boulders fairly close to water, either fresh or salt. Well beaten paths are often conspicuous in the immediate area, which fact also may provide a clue to the presence of these animals.

One family of otters lived for many years in the Inner Harbor near Johnson Street bridge and descendants are probably still there. Some years ago a member of this group distinguished himself in a rather remarkable way. He was captured and transferred to Stanley Park in Vancouver as a potential mate for a female already in captivity there. While being held in a temporary enclosure the new arrival escaped and in a very few days turned up in his old haunts again — a remarkable case of homing ability.

The animal we are so discussing is the river otter, not the sea otter, which is a related species. It is true that our so-called river otter is most often seen in salt water along the coast but it also frequents the freshwater systems of the province and is equally at home on land.

The sea otter, on the other hand, lives almost entirely in salt water. At one time it was probably fairly common along certain parts of our coast but now it is absent although individual sightings are occasionally reported. The sea otter is most easily distinguished from the river otter by its habit of swimming on its back and by the fact it rides very high in the water. Otherwise the two animals resemble each other in size and general appearance.

The letter resumes: In the summer we enjoyed watching a family of seals from our lunch table. They presented the usual domestic scene. Father monopolized the rock with the largest exposure at low tide. Mother and the two babies had to be content with the other two rocks (none of the rocks as big as themselves). Mother had to put up with all their frolicking and father only rarely allowed one to sleep beside him.

Our question here is: These rocks were only out of water an hour or two at the very lowest tides. We know the seals were often close around but they can't stay underwater all the time, can they? Where would they go at night? How far away would they go?—Mrs. M. D.

The seal we commonly see locally is the hair or harbor seal which is found along the entire coast line of the province. While it does spend a great deal of its time in water it regularly hauls out on isolated rocks or sandbars to rest. Any rock that is temporarily exposed is likely to be used, particularly if it is located so the animal can wiggle quickly into the water if danger threatens.

Seals may sleep on such rocks or bars but it is more likely that they spend the night in the water, probably in a sheltered bay. Here they may doze either near the surface or on the bottom, rising at more or less regular intervals of 10 minutes or so to take a fresh breath. The process is automatic yet the animal seems to be able to waken instantly if necessary to escape from a predator or other threat.

Our seals do not have a fixed migratory pattern; their movements seem to be governed largely by availability of food and the need for a hauling-out area for pupping. Hence they may appear in numbers wherever there is a fish run on and females tend to congregate in May and June at certain favorite spots to give birth.

Send questions in natural history to Dr. Clifford Carl, care of the Victoria Daily Times.

FRENCH COOKING DECLINES

By HAROLD KING

PARIS — A number of French gastronomists and gourmets — people with food knowledge and a palate as well as a healthy appetite — are wondering whether the future of the famous French cooking tradition is assured or whether it is destined to fade away.

Authentic French cuisine, they recall, is simple and delicate. Herb flavoring is done with a light hand. Sauces come into the menu and on to the table only now and again.

The appeal of the French cuisine is to the palate, where it belongs, and to the stomach where it has to be digested, not to the eye, gourmets maintain.

●

One French gastronomist wrote recently that the height of perfection of the French cuisine is found in such dishes as roast leg of mutton and small kidney beans, roast duck and turnips, mutton stew, or pot-au-feu.

Yet every restaurant owner in Paris, if he is frank, will tell you that more and more people ask for grapefruit cocktails and grilled meat or fish than for the traditional plat du jour — dish of the day — in which the French art of cooking is, or should be, enshrined.

Various reasons contribute to this change in taste and eating habits.

There is the growing objection by active people to a big meal in the middle of the day. Digestion of such a meal demands time and rest, both impossible in the business life of Paris and other big centers today.

There are the constantly rising prices in restaurants. These have long ago driven office and factory workers into canteens, snackbars and self-service establishments where the question of keeping up any kind of quality or tradition in cooking simply does not exist.

There is the modern fashion of trying to keep as slim at 50 as one was at 20. This affects the choice of food, even at fashionable evening meals, where time is unimportant and money of no consequence. A highly-rated restaurant, famous in the tourist world, will often offer more glitter in decoration than gold in cooking.

The 'Credibility Gap' In Mr. Sharp's Policy

By MELVILLE WATKINS
The Canadian Forum

Once upon a time, governments fought the business cycle by the use of monetary and fiscal policies. Faced with inflation, Bank Rate was raised or the level of taxes increased.

At least, that is what it says in the textbooks. In fact, it has never been clear that in Canada particularly effective use was made of these old-fashioned contracyclical weapons whose efficacy was known to every student of freshman economics.

But it no longer matters. For now we have escalated to a higher policy plateau. Faced with an upward-creeping level of prices, the government has deferred medicare — which was not to have come into effect until July 7, 1967 — delayed the introduction of a $10 million scholarship program, and restricted scientific reasearch grants.

Ottawa correspondents were forced to the limits of rationalization to cope with these bold new measures. The more perceptive recognized that the immediate effects on government spending were negligible, the sums involved being either small or in the future or both.

Public Jaded

Conventional arguments no longer worked, but unreasonable readers insisted on a reason. The old story-line about a right-wing coup in the cabinet was given a trial run but the jaded public refused to treat that as news.

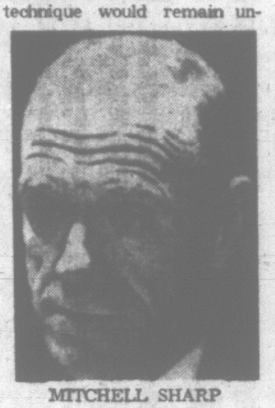
So we were informed that Mr. Sharp was really only telling us that prices were rising — this apparently being necessary for those who had stopped eating — and that we should join him in being prudent in our behavior. What we had actually witnessed was the birth of a new medium of communication and a new technique of persuasion.

The least the professional economist can do, his present skills having been rendered obsolete, is to pitch in and help Mr. Sharp overcome his credibility gap. A new deed needs a new name, but one with ties to tradition.

Old-style contracyclical policy included the exercise of persuasion by the central bank, with the coy name of "moral suasion." For that which Mr. Sharp has wrought, would you believe "immoral suasion"?

Let not one think that what we have seen is anything other than an important breakthrough with widespread implications for stabilization policy. After all, we presently face nothing more than a mild price-creep.

Imagine we somehow blunder our way into a serious inflation. Fear not, for the new weapon has limitless range. With a stern shake of his finger, Mr. Sharp could rise in Parliament and abolish family allowances. Or cancel benefits to veterans. Yet the technique would remain unexhausted. Still in reserve would be the pensions of the blind and the salaries of senators.



MITCHELL SHARP
. . . new dimension

But enough by way of examples. It is, of course, the principle that matters, and we must not obscure the mixture of novelty and tradition that inheres in this new policy. Economists have been wont to speak about a shelf of public works, with projects moved off when needed to create jobs and deferred when inflation threatened.

To this idea old as the Pharoahs' Egypt, Mr. Sharp has added a new dimension. He has built before our very eyes a social welfare shelf, from which projects can be shifted off and on in phase with the business cycle.

While all we presently see is the rot in the cupboard, we must be fair. This new weapon has all those qualities of symmetry so necessary for an orderly and stable world. When next we are in the trough of recession, Mr. Sharp can award those scholarships and announce that medicare-for-our-next-Centennial. Think what it will do for a $50 billion economy to get that sudden injection of $10 million of new spending.

Nor should we be so modest and parochial as to believe that only Canada stands to benefit from the admittedly Canadian invention.

Take the United States, where prices also rise. True, there is not much room for fiddling with social welfare spending in a country which is honest about priorities. But be not dismayed. If social welfare can be turned off and on with the state of economy, why not things which really matter, such as war and peace?

If the Americans were as serious as we are about stopping inflation, they need only defer the war in Viet Nam.

Inconsistency

It is no easy matter to blend the old and the new, and it should occasion no surprise that an occasional inconsistency remains in the Revised New Syllabus. The financial press has perhaps already cleared them up, but there are limits to what I will do in the name of unsponsored research. A few conditions must be cited, in order to provide balance in this note.

Having deferred those scholarships and cut back on research grants, something will have to be done about the Economic Council which persists in its insistence that education and knowledge matter.

Having cancelled medicare to avoid increasing spending, something will have to be done with all those right-wing types who have been saying for years — would you believe since 1919? — that everybody is already spending as much as he needs on medical care.

Having put Mr. Sharp in the position of making a "most painful" decision — to use his own words about delaying medicare — something will have to be done to convince the poor that they too must be willing to endure the real pain that medicare would have helped to relieve.

So be it. There is only one thing which bothers me. Is there anybody else who thinks that the real problem is not that the currency is alleged to be becoming worthless, but that Liberal government promises already are?

French Drain On U.S. Gold Stock Eases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. gold stock rose by $37 million in September, the federal reserve board has reported. It was the first time the U.S. had gained gold since December and the largest monthly gain in 2½ years.

France, which has been the major taker of U.S. gold, reduced her purchases. But U.S. officials cautioned against taking this to mean that French president Charles de Gaulle had dropped his attack on the dollar.

The main reason, they said, appeared to he high interest rates in the U.S., which kept French commercial banks from selling their dollars to the Bank of France as in the past.

As a result, the Bank of France bought only $34 million worth of gold in September compared to $146 million in August. September's purchase brought the French total for the first nine months of the year to about $600 million.

Industrial and artistic users bought $13 million last month, but this and the French purchase was more than offset by U.S. gold purchases overseas.

By the end of September, the U.S. gold stock stood at $13,356,000,000 down $45 million from Jan. 1.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling of soybeans increased slightly in late trading today but the grain futures market developed a little steadying support in other commodities.

Setbacks ranged to about two cents in soybeans, driving the November delivery to the lowest level since June.

Wheat generated a little support from firmer prices at Kansas City.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Fairly active trading in feed grain was under way at the close of trade at the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today.

Most of the action involved inter-month spreading, transferring closing October contracts to other months. Fairly good shipping interest was also evident in domestic markets. There was also good action in the rye market, prices displaying rallying tendancies as sales to Europe and Japan were reported.

Oilseeds were irregular.

Lakehead prices for IWA, Class Two and domestic wheat were unchanged.

BUSINESS VIEWS

Bond Purchasers Enjoy Neat Gain

By AB KENT
Business Writer

Investors who took advantage of the mid-September "bottom" in the bond market could be enjoying a nice capital gain by this time.

As predicted by local investment dealers last May, bond prices remained low all summer and began to turn last month.

Selected long-term issues since then have climbed 2 to 3 points, for example: the 7-per-cent General Motors Acceptance Corp. issues offered recently at $100 now are quoted at 102-103; Simpsons-Sears Acceptance Corp. 7-per-cent due 1986 at 101¼-102; Government of Canada 5¾ per cent due 1992 at 99⅞-100⅛, and B.C. Telephone's 6¾ per cent offered at under 99 now 101½-102.

Anyone who had cash to spare was well advised to put it into bonds while the stock market was depressed, thereby taking advantage of the highest interest rates in history as well as the tax-free capital gain.

Historically, as one dealer points out, a stock market upswing should follow the bond market turn-around by anywhere from four to 16 months.

But within that time there should be a series of rallies and declines in the stock market lasting for brief periods.

"As long as there is tight money it is not likely there will be a genuine bull market," he said.

Alexander Hamilton Institute in New York had this technical word to say this week:

"We believe the current rebound (in the stock market) should be viewed as a rally in a bear trend pending further tests of the 1966 lows and a clearer outlook for 1967 prospects."

They say that while bond and blue chip equities are better, investors should hold some reserves "pending further market developments."

Babson's Reports, in Toronto says high-quality government bonds are good for capital appreciation over a short term and will permit purchase of common stocks when the market's down-trend is "inevitably reversed."

As is normal during the pre-Christmas period, the Bank of Canada last week released more money into the total supply compared with the previous week.

Oct. 12 the figure stood at $20,929 billion and last week it rose to $20,945 billion.

Fortune Magazine has done a business survey of American inventories and concludes a slump in buying for inventory is in the offing.

Inventory buying has been absorbing more than 5 per cent of industrial output and nearly twice as many manufacturers now would like to cut back to the low side as those who want to stay high.

Fall buying is therefore being limited, especially by retail merchants, although wholesalers are expanding.

Businessmen estimate that inventories are about 2 per cent above expected sales, more than at any time since the 1961 recession.

An Air Canada 20-foot model of the world's largest commercial jet liner, the Douglas Super 61 DC-8, goes on display at B.C. International Trade Fair in May.

This is a 251-passenger "stretched" version of the basic DC-8 which went into service in 1958, and is 37 feet longer than the largest DC-8 in service.

Air Canada expects to put the new plane into the air next year, when four will be delivered, cutting the cost of air travel to less than one cent per seat-mile for the first time in aviation history.

BURMAH BIDS FOR CASTROL

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Burmah Oil Co. has made a £38,000,000 ($114,000,000) bid to take over Castrol, the world's biggest independent lubricating oil group, it was officially announced Thursday night.

The announcement came after a day of speculating during which two large American oil companies, Gulf and Texaco, were prominently named as possible bidders.

Tourism Aid Studied

KELOWNA (CP)—The federal government may extend its area development program to encourage new tourist industry as well as manufacturing plants in slow-growth areas, Industry Minister Drury said Thursday.

He told the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Association that a number of areas designated for special government assistance have a tourist potential. But tourism does not qualify now for federal benefits.

Under the area development program, the federal government will grant tax concessions or make capital grants to help establish new or significantly expanded manufacturing plants in designated slow growth areas. The Okanagan Valley is a designated area.

Mr. Drury came here to open three new manufacturing plants —White Truck Manufacturing Ltd. in Kelowna, Coldstream Meat Packers Ltd. in Vernon, and Southern Okanagan Wines Ltd. in Penticton—helped by the program. The predominantly agricultural valley has about reached the limits of farming, with the land available between the mountains.

But tourism is being developed, for both summer and winter traffic. New ski tows have been established in the valley.

CONSOLIDATED, BATHURST

Paper Firms Plan Merger

MONTREAL (CP) — The boards of directors of two of Canada's largest paper companies, Consolidated Paper Corp. Ltd. and Bathurst Paper Ltd., have decided their companies should merge, it was announced Thursday.

Separate statements from both companies said the merger will create opportunities for close mutual support in manufacturing and marketing their products.

A Consolidated spokesman said combining the two companies will give Consolidated a more complete range of products on the market.

The statement said the merger will be effected by means of an exchange of a new issue of Consolidated preferred shares plus warrants, or rights to buy, for the Coass A and common shares of Bathurst.

On the Montreal stock exchange Thursday, Consolidated closed unchanged at 38, but Bathurst was up 1½ at 27½. News of the merger was not released until after the close of trading.

Consolidated Paper, which specializes in production of newspaper and paper bags, had net sales of $131,022,129 last year while the smaller Bathurst company, which concentrates on other packaging products, had net sales of $51,136,450.

A special general meeting of Consolidated shareholders has been called for Nov. 15 to approve the issuing of 4,000,000 preferred shares, par value $25.

Consolidated proposes to offer its new shares in return for Bathurst shares, the statement said.

The statement from Bathurst said Consolidated's offer is considered reasonable and fair and will be recommended to common shareholders.

The directors have indicated their intention to accept the offers, the statement added.

The initial series of Consolidated shares would consist of 2,000,000 six-per-cent cumulative redeemable preferred shares, 1966 series, non-redeemable prior to March 31, 1975, and thereafter redeemable at $26 a share.

Consolidated said that the offer will be two of the new Consolidated shares plus one share purchse warrant for each share of Bathurst A.

For each share of Bathurst common, one new Consolidated share plus one-half share purchase warrant will be offered.

'Rates Hike Would Solve Problem'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of B.C. Hydro, said Thursday that financial problems on the Peace River power project can be solved simply by raising electricity rates.

"This is only a possible solution," he said. "Not a threat, not a promise, not a hint."

Higher interest rates that will have to be paid on borrowing as the project progresses could be offset by restoring rates to the 1962 figure, he said.

Since 1962, B.C. Hydro has reduced its rates three times and restoring the consumer rates to this figure would produce an extra $20,000,000 annually — approximately the amount of the additional interest. Dr. Shrum told a meeting of the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Association that people should discount statements by "hostile" politicians that the Peace is in serious financial difficulty.

He said borrowing for the project had been at the rate of 1.777 per cent until higher interest rates and the current tight money situation had forced it up to 6.3 per cent.

Provincial Liberal Leader Ray Perrault branded the statement as irresponsible.

"The one reason for the Peace," said Mr. Perrault, "was cheap power on the lower mainland to attract new industry. Now a captive market, which is already paying the highest rates in Canada will have to bear the increase."

MORE TAKE, LESS PROFITS FORD, CHRYSLER ANNOUNCE

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and Chrysler today faced the fact that they took more money than ever before in the opening nine months of the year but made less profit doing it.

Third-quarter sales reports of the two auto companies Thursday showed their world-wide dollar sales hit a sizzling nine-months pace, even as third-quarter dividends nose-dived.

General Motors, giant of the auto world, reported Tuesday its sales for the opening nine months of this year were the second best in its history, topped only by the first three quarters of 1965.

Chrysler's third-quarter profit sag was the greatest as its earnings were off 64 per cent over a year earlier, while GM was down 62 per cent and Ford fell 36 per cent. American Motors' next quarterly financial statement is due in late November.

Ford's explanation of the drop in third-quarter and nine-month profits was virtually the same as that offered by GM and Chrysler.

Henry Ford II, board chairman, said:

"Lower profits in the first nine months of 1965 reflected principally increased costs of labor and materials. Higher marketing expense, the cost of product improvement and expenses associated with facility expansion programs reduced profits."

Nobody in Detroit appeared too concerned about the third slump as most industry observers expected that it would be reversed in the final quarter of this year as sales pick up momentum.

The fact remained, however, that Ford's third-quarter earnings were the lowest for that quarter since 1960, while for Chrysler they were the lowest since the third quarter of 1962 and GM's lowest since the third quarter of 1961.

Try Bonded Stock on a friend without letting him see the label.

It's the best way to find out what people really think about a whisky: how do they like it when they don't know which brand they're drinking?

If you've tried Bonded Stock yourself, the playback won't surprise you. Bonded Stock is a great Canadian whisky. You can conceal the label but you can't disguise the flavour. It's an extremely mellow whisky with a deceptively smooth flavour that dyed-in-the-wool whisky drinkers love.

So if you know someone who buys whisky by labels, introduce him to flavour.

HOW TO MAKE $800 MILLION

Is Bennett in Trouble or Is He Readying Forces for a New Coup?

By JOHN MIKA
Legislative Reporter

Premier Bennett is a master of showmanship and he's proving it again this week.

Everyone knows that if he weren't premier, Mr. Bennett would earn a pretty good living as a juggler. What most people keep forgetting is that he could do just as well as a magician.

Mika

And certainly he's pulling off the old hand-is-quicker-than-the-eye bit just now in Ottawa.

While all his political opponents are crying out "gotcha at last" as they tumble over each other proclaiming he's in serious financial difficulty on the Peace and Columbia programs, Mr. Bennett only smiles back, offering them his chin as a target.

His calculated silence may well be an effort to goad his enemies into one all-out lunge—accusations that he's so flat broke no one will loan him money. Then, stepping to one side at the last moment, he'll clout them over the head as they sail by with a little lead pipe he has up his sleeve.

AN ILLUSION?

Just as the magician's illusions depend on him tricking an audience into watching the wrong thing at the right time, so Mr. Bennett must be chuckling at the hullabaloo over his brief to Ottawa demanding $100 million on preposterous grounds.

It certainly sounds like a cry of desperation. But stop a moment. Does it sound like our premier?

Can you picture his face, so recently proud and assured on the covers of Time Magazine, screwed up into a humble, imploring mien turned towards Ottawa as a last hope?

I can but under only one circumstance—it's a trap.

I've little doubt myself that he is short of money for the hydro-electric program and I have no doubt that if he can squeeze a few extra millions out of the Pearson government, he'll be happy.

HEADS HE WINS

But I also have no doubt that if he were to meekly offer his neck (as some think circumstances have forced him) to Ottawa, relying only on their mercy, the Liberals would be delighted to chop his head off and he knows it. They've been through the humilitation of dancing his tune (on the Columbia Treaty mostly) because he controlled Real Caouette when that politician had the power of life or death over the first Pearson minority government.

Since Mr. Caouette could not stay the guillotine for him now, there must be some other plan in the premier's mind.

I think that he's pleased to see everyone watching with fascination the tumbril's preparation in the conference rooms of the Chateau Laurier—because that makes it easier for the Scarlet Pimpernel lurking in the House of Commons further up the hill.

And it is the Bank of B.C. charter—to be given to his old confidant Einar Gunderson—that will rescue Mr. Bennett from the Liberals who would deliver him for execution in the money market.

That charter is now going through its final and most crucial test—the Commons finance committee, where some serious threats began looming for it in the hard questioning given Mr. Gunderson a few days ago about his preferences when it comes to deciding where to loan money. Most people seem to have forgotten all about that interesting question during the ensuing furore surrounding the premier's brief.

BIGGER PLUM

But, remember, besides turning over all day-to-day cash flow accounts of the government and its Crown corporations to a Bank of B.C. (headquartered in Vancouver and headed by Mr. Gunderson or one of his friends), Mr. Bennett also has an even bigger plum to hand a new bank trying to jump through the stiff competition the established banks would give it.

He has boasted several times that he now has on deposit in several banks more than $100 million in cash that he does not need on a day-to-day basis.

If he deposits all of that in a lump sum in the new bank, its future is assured because under the federal reserve bank system we have in Canada every dollar it holds on deposit entitles it to apply for an $8 credit from the Bank of Canada.

Instantly—without any other depositers—the new Bank of B.C. would be in business with some $800 million to lend.

British Columbia's minister of finance could insist the bank pay him a premium interest for a deposit of $100 million (and he always does shop around for the best interest rate, getting 5 per cent for a similar amount from then Premier Jean Lesage of Quebec).

Under the circumstances, with money being so tight, the finance minister might be able to obtain a payment of say 4 or 5 per cent for his deposit for sound business reasons.

FIRST CUSTOMER

Then, with $800 million to lend out, guess who the bank would see as its first customer? You can't? Why, it would be the fiscal agent for money-hungry B.C. Hydro.

A $200 million loan, say, at a favorable interest rate of 5 to 6 per cent (such a valuable first customer for a new-born bank, you know) would tide over the Authority neatly—much better treatment than it could expect from the federal government or the bond market.

And, of course, the finance minister and the B.C. Hydro fiscal agent are the same person—Premier Bennett.

In one stroke, when that bank charter is signed, Mr. Bennett will be in a position to get a $100 million loan for an effective interest of only 1 or 2 per cent (when you subtract what he'll earn from his deposit); another $100 million for, at most, current market rates; keep his vaunted and vital nest egg intact; and gain even more kudos as a master politician and economic wizard for having brought forth a giant new bank, with headquarters in Vancouver and branches across the country.

During a rather routine meeting with the press last week, I asked the premier whether he planned to consolidate all those bank deposits and plump the whole $100 million into the Bank of B.C. when it is incorporated.

He paused a moment, smiled disarmingly and replied: "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it."

Then he gave me one of his special little winks.

While some in Ottawa hoot that they've finally got the old fox cornered, I've got a feeling he's not blasting back at them because he's too busy humming to himself: "One more river to cross, and that's the river of Gunderson . . ."

Are Today's Filter-Tip Cigarettes Really Safer Than Plain Ends?

How "safe" is the cigarette you smoke? How much harmful tar and nicotine is in the smoke you inhale into your lungs? For years Doctors have warned that tar and nicotine in cigarettes can be dangerous to health and can cause deadly lung cancer. Now, U.S. cigarette manufacturers must label packages with a caution warning. But, when you buy Canadian cigarettes there is no way of knowing how much tar and nicotine they contain. The current Reader's Digest features a factual, new laboratory report showing the latest tar and nicotine content of 25 leading Canadian cigarettes and reveals that some actually contain 200%—or more—tar and nicotine than others. It shows, that in some cases the smoke from filter-tips actually has a higher content, of these injurious substances, than the smoke from some plain ends. The latest, strange developments provoked by the U.S. ruling requiring warning labels on cigarette packages, are also reported in this interesting article. This Reader's Digest article will be talked about from Coast to Coast—every Canadian who smokes cigarettes should read it. It's in November Reader's Digest—on newsstands now.

Public Works Urged

PORT ALBERNI—John Squire, recording secretary of the Alberni local of the International Woodworkers of America, said Thursday loggers made jobless by the growing forest industry crisis should be re-employed in a massive program of public works.

Mr. Squires said logging lay-offs have assumed alarming proportions and that immediate steps must be taken by the provincial government.

He said he has just completed a tour of logging operations on Vancouver Island and has found unmistakeable signs of a giant cutback in the making.

"It's time the provincial government recognized that a crisis is at hand," he said. "Premier Bennett should loosen the purse strings. There are lots of projects in construction such as access roads, schools and hospitals which could be undertaken."

GUEST SPEAKER

Mr. Squire, will be guest speaker tonight at a meeting of Vancouver Island section of the Canadian Institute of Forestry.

The meeting begins at 8 in the Tzouhalem Hotel.

A gold medal will be presented at the meeting to Garry McDermid who was chosen the top graduating student of the 1966 UBC forestry class.

Timber Company Fined

CAMPBELL RIVER — Elk River Timber Co. Ltd. was fined $500 in magistrate's court here for allowing fallen logs and slash to remain in a stream.

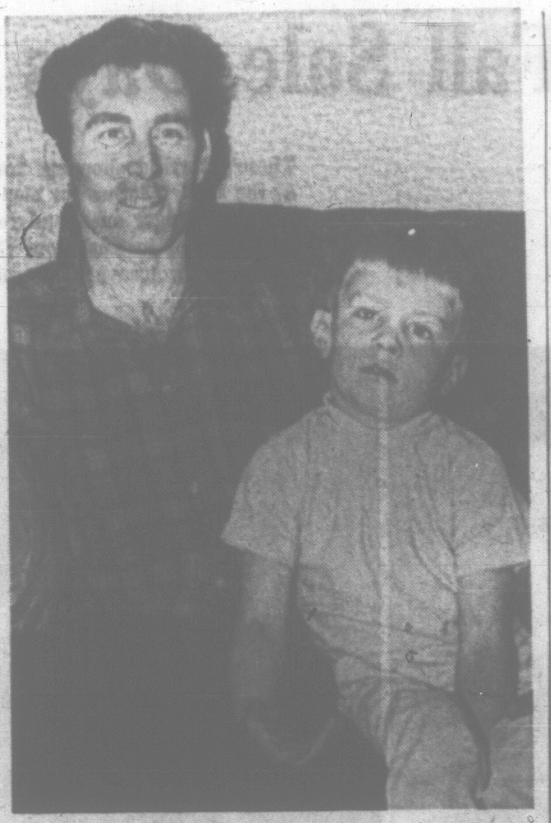
Court was told by Raymond Rogers, an officer with the fish and wildlife branch, the company had been warned to clear the slash from the Heber River, a tributary of Gold River.

The summons was served after the company failed to comply.

Campbell River fish and game officer George Taylor said the Heber River is a good steelhead spot, and becomes a spawning channel for the fish.

Fisheries biologist Irs Whitlar of Victoria said organic material in the water depleted the amount of oxygen and endangered fish.

The company indicated it may appeal. Maximum fine for the offence is $1,000.



Jim Quaife Relaxes With His Son, Mark

Teen Town Organizer Inspired in Korea

By DON DINGWALL

DUNCAN—Jim Quaife believes teenagers have a hard time finding people to help them.

That's why he became adult adviser to Duncan Teen Town.

Now Jim has been appointed regional director for Vancouver Island Teens' Associated.

And that's the reason he sold 40 acres and a home in the country to move into the city, to be nearer at hand to work with the teen-agers.

When interviewed this week the dedicated young man said, "Next year I want to run for city council and add my voice to those clamoring for action. The council needs young blood."

At 32, Jim is a young man full of ideas.

IN KOREA

His deep concern for young people stems to a large extent from his experience with the Canadian Army in Korea.

He finds a different kind of need among Duncan's teen-agers, but feels the same sympathy.

Jim says: "Whenever today's teen-ager does something, adults start up — what are they doing' 'they shouldn't be doing that.' Teen-agers have to get advice and guidance."

Jim first went to bat for the teen-agers at Crofton, taking over the running of a community centre youth group.

He instituted dances, sports nights and hobby crafts. Membership zoomed from less than 20 to nearly fifty.

When he moved close to Duncan, Jim was aware of a running tide of criticism of teen-agers, their apparent lack of direction in how to put in their leisure time.

IDEAL TOWN

An ideal place to start a Teen Town, thought Jim.

He expected the local councils to share his bubbling enthusiasm in promoting youth activities.

This was in 1963. He approached the city and municipal bodies for a piece of land on which to build a Teen Town hall. Three years later he's still trying to get the land.

In the meantime he started Duncan's Teen Town. The need was borne out by the fact 126 young people attended the inaugural meeting.

Directed by Jim the teen-agers started off trying to create a public image of community work.

Money was raised and donated to a burned out family; to Cowichan Christmas Cheer fund, and other charities.

BEST IN B.C.

Duncan Teen Town is its first full year of operation won recognition as "The Best in B.C."

Jim Quaife's ideal is all Island communities linked together by Teen Town organizations.

He sees no reason why Teen Town membershio in B.C. should not top 25,000. Right now it's about 12,000.

In order to devote more time to Teen Town work, he has resigned as president of South Cowichan Recreation Commission.

BORN IN ENGLAND

Jim was born in England, came with his family to Canada as a child, and returned to the old country for a year as a teen-ager.

He has worked on farms in Ontario; been an oil field worker in Alberta; done heavy construction work across Australia; and served in the army in Korea.

Jim is now a lead hand in the garage at Crofton mill and when not supervising the activities of other people's children he likes nothing better than playing father to his own sons Mark, 5, and Dale, three months.

'How Would Mr. Boys Like His Wife Packing Water?'

A Duncan Indian band official snapped back Thursday at criticisms of reserve conditions by B.C. Indian commissioner J. V. Boys.

Abraham Joe, chairman of the Cowichan Band grievance committee, said he is burned up at Mr. Boys' accusation that sloppy housekeeping has contributed to poor living conditions.

He said: "I would like to put Mr. Boys where his wife would have to pack water over 100 yards. How can you keep clean a home which is only 18 by 24 feet with two double beds inside?"

Mr. Joe said that in speaking of 91 houses built in Cowichan in the past 12 years the commissioner did not state the average cost was only $2,800.

Mr. Joe repeated his assertion, the main reason for the inadequate housing was because an Indian can't put up his land as security for a loan.

He said Cowichan Band council is preparing a bylaw making it an offence for any reserve home to be unsightly.

Reserve housing will be on the agenda at the annual convention of the Vancouver Island tribal federation which opens here Saturday.

Leonard Marchand, special assistant in the federal Indian Affairs ministry, will be guest speaker.

Other theme speakers will be Chief Andrew Delisle of the Cugnahwauga Reserve, Quebec, and Chief Philip Paul.

Resolutions and election of officers will be dealt with at the Sunday session.

UVIC STUDENTS PLAN TO MARCH WITH TRIBE

University of Victoria students will join youths from other British Columbia universities in a march by Cowichan Indians on the Indian Affairs Branch in Vancouver, December 5.

About 150 Uvic and U.B.C. students will march with the demonstrators in support of better housing on the Cowichan reserve.

Victoria students will charter buses to travel with the Cowichan Band to the Mainland, where they will be joined by the students from U.B.C.

Ladysmith Man B.C. Delegate

A. J. Poje, Ladysmith industrial relations supervisor of Crown Zellerbach (Canada) Ltd., will be among loggers representing B.C. at the 57th annual Pacific Logging Congress in San Francisco Nov. 13-15.

'64 FLOOD COSTS DOUBLED

ALBERNI — Two flood control projects resulting from the tidal wave that hit the Albernis in 1964 will cost more than double the $540,000 originally estimated, Alberni city council has been told.

Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, informed council by letter that estimates had to be multiplied 2.3 times following field surveys.

"We are shocked," Mayor Fred Bishop said today. He assured council, however, that the city's share would remain one-quarter of the original estimate.

The projects cover raising of a road to form a dike, and rechanneling and diking of Kitsuksis Creek.

Too-Small Trout Cost $10 Fine

Two city men were fined in Sooke court Tuesday for fishing infractions.

Milko Jadresko, 120 Dallas, was fined $10 for taking trout less than eight inches long from Harris Creek.

Terry Frewing, 1439 Pembroke, was fined a similar amount for fishing in prohibited parts of the Sooke River while salmon were spawning.

VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCT. 28, 1966—PAGE 11

Arthur Mayse

A week or so ago, I asked the travel trailer brigade for advice and suggestions that might help some of us who are new to the roll-your-own game. The result has been a welcome deluge of letters, for which my thanks.

It is plain from these replies that trailer people tend to be hard-nosed individualists. Some like 'em small, others demand plenty of elbow room, and the item of gear that one fellow scorns is dear to the heart of his neighbor in the next rig.

However, on some points there is general agreement:

Overload springs, they point out, are no substitute for a levelling hitch; toilets are well worth the space and extra weight, especially when you travel in the U.S. where parks are crowded and washrooms often inadequate; also there's much to be said for a trailer oven and refrigerator.

C. B. McIntosh, 1090 Nicholson, is explicit on this last point:

"Icebox versus refrigerator: I have rather definite views on this, if only because I found that I did not like the status of a block of ice deciding that I would have to drive 16 miles each way to get the darn thing refilled. Also, ice is not always available and can be relatively expensive compared to the production cost of using propane. . . . Add to this the consideration that a refrigerator opens up the entire field of frozen food storage capability, and, finally, can produce lots of those little cubes that make a glass of snake-bite remedy even more palatable."

Here's a letter from Arthur H. Randell of 5317 Parker Avenue, who suggests that one reason for his grey hair might be that he woke to find a bear licking his head on a pre-trailer camping trip. Mr. Randell shoos beginners away from folding ovens with a large, loud "DON'T!"

As a substitute for the built-in oven, he suggests a rigid variety—trade name on request—that stows easily, and is sold with proper-sized pans, muffin tins and what-not as worthwhile options. Pans can be stored inside the oven.

And here are Jean and George Hegler, rovers-on-wheels who are biding time in the Sidney area until they replace their present 16-foot trailer with a larger one being fitted to their requirements.

"A few of our own ideas are being incorporated," they write, "also such optional extras as an electric hot water tank, our own compressor for water pressure, combination gas and electric fridge, and a shower in the biffy."

With one of the new midget generators to power their establishment, they'll be about as self-contained as one can get.

The gypsying Heglers, it's worth noting, looked down their noses at trailers during their 14 years as motel operators in the British Columbia interior.

"We just couldn't approve," George explains. "It was a matter of principal."

★

We come now to a trailerman's growl so often repeated that it becomes a sort of litany.

Tenor of this complaint is that, while our provincial parks are dandy in some respects, they are inadequate as trailer havens.

"You have to jack-knife even the smallest outfit to get into a campsite," says one trailer pilot. (From my own limited experience, I think this over-states the case.) Others mention the nuisance of having to unhitch for even a one-night stay.

What they'd like to find in each park are some trailer-planned spaces a man can drive his rig into and out of without backing, filling or unhooking.

This, it seems to me, is a good notion, and to it I would add a suggestion that definite trailer areas be established.

The tent camper came first, and his rights should be respected. As a matter of fact, I think he should rate the best campsites in any public tract.

But the vacationist who tows his holiday home astern looms larger each year in the summer picture, and his needs also deserve consideration.

Ogden Point Crews Tackle Risky Project

By TERRY IZZARD
Marine Reporter

Victoria longshoremen courted death today in a bid to right a listing freighter.

A single crew of burly workmen cautiously began the job of unloading a million board feet of deck cargo from the 15,440-ton Jessie Stove.

The Jessie Stove put into Ogden Point Thursday afternoon with a dangerous 15-degree list.

As a solitary crane slowly lifted batches of lumber on to the dockside, longshoremen were reminded of the death of a fellow worker while handling the same sort of job earlier this year.

●

On that occasion the ship was the Archangel.

While loading in Port Alberni, the Archangel suddenly listed, hurling tons of lumber into the harbor along with one of the workmen.

And only this summer another lumber ship, the Huntsland, listed suddenly while tied up at Ogden Point, throwing part of her cargo on to the dockside.

Fortunately the mishap occurred before the day shift started work.

Until the 518-foot Jessie Stove rights herself, the ship's self-loading and unloading gear cannot be used.

●

Said Stan Ball, Victoria business agent for International Longshoremen's Union: "It would be too dangerous to use the gear while the ship's tilted like this.

"The weight of even one load being lifted might be sufficient to further tilt the ship."

The Jessie Stove's cargo shifted while 300 miles off Vancouver Island en route to Japan.

"Apparently she ran into rough weather and the ship began to list," said Mr. Ball.

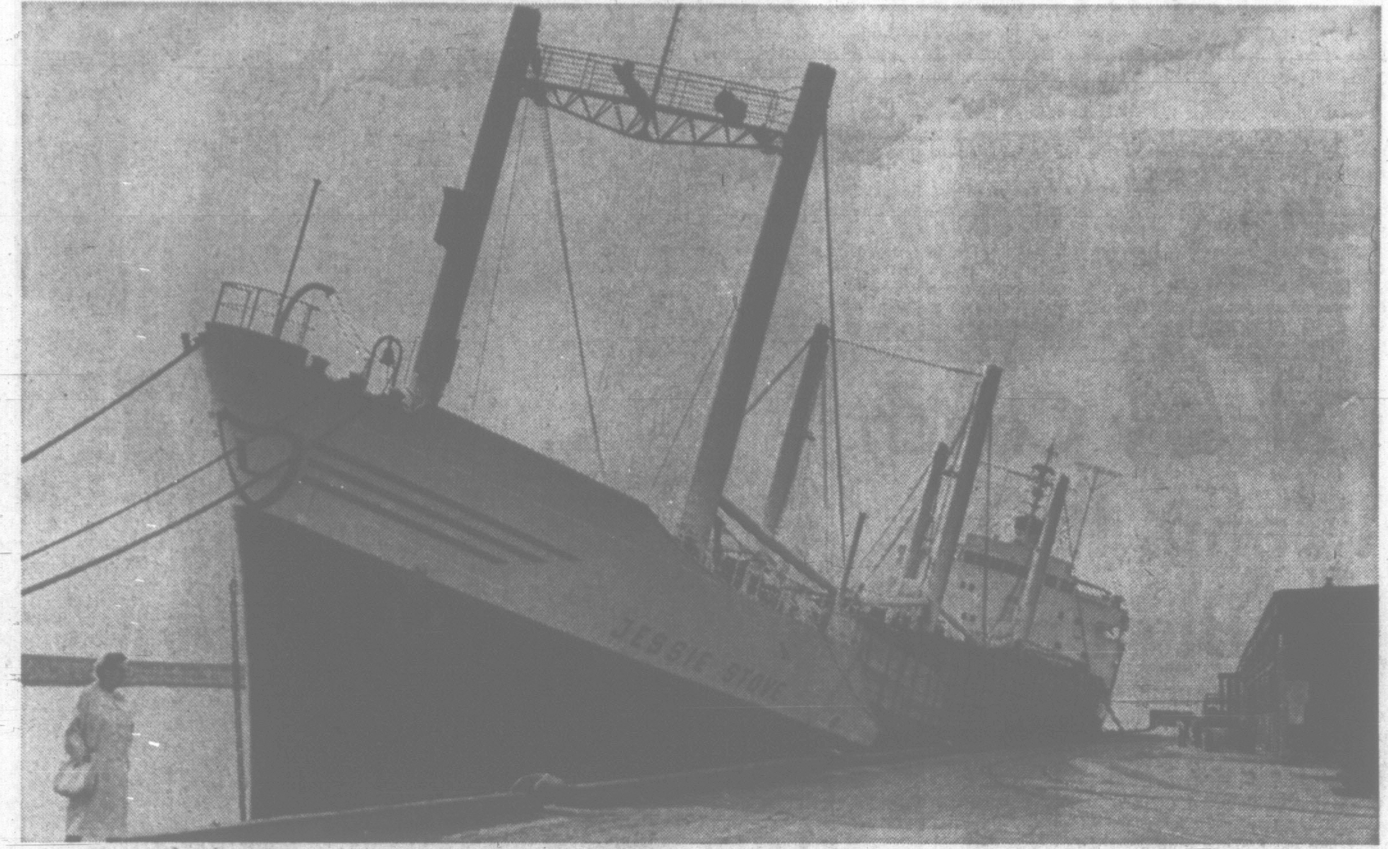
●

He estimated it will take three weeks to strip off the necessary cargo and reload her.

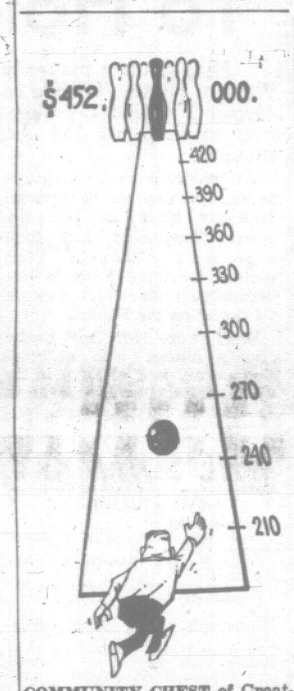
"Until we get below we'll not know what caused her to list," he said.

The Jessie Stove took on lumber at Vancouver, Port Alberni and Chemainus, her last port of call, before setting out for Japan Monday night.

Of Norwegian registry, she carries a Norwegian crew.



LEANING AT CRAZY ANGLE, Jessie Stove appears to be using Ogden Point dock as a support. The seven-year-old freighter will likely be tied up three weeks while her cargo is removed and replaced. Cause of her 15-degree list will not be known until investigators get a chance to examine her below-deck cargo. She is third ship this year to suddenly list. (Bill Halkett photo.)



COMMUNITY CHEST of Greater Victoria registered a $14,000 gain today compared to Thursday as collections mounted to $254,637. This represents 56.3 per cent of the 452,000 objective.

Man Pays $100 Fine In Shooting

An Esquimalt householder was fined $100 in central court today for the gunshot wounding of a man on Sept. 8.

Luke A. Wedge, 26, of 637 Nelson, pleaded guilty to the charge of criminal negligence by causing bodily harm to Amos Pingo, a young Eskimo.

Pingo, on a boat-building course at the Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt, suffered a flesh wound in his leg.

The Eskimo faces a trial on a charge of loitering at night. The trial date was set today for Nov. 14.

Court was told today that Wedge was awakened the night of the shooting by a scratching sound outside his window. He saw a man walk up and down beside the house and then try to climb through a bathroom window.

Wedge took a loaded .22 calibre rifle from a dresser drawer. On opening the front door, he saw a man crouched in a corner of the porch who then jumped up and ran.

A single shot was fired "into the ground" in the hope of stopping the prowler, Wedge's lawyer said, and holding him for police. The accused was unaware he had hit anyone.

The neighborhood had been troubled with prowlers, court was told, and Wedge's wife, was nervous. There are two small children in the family.

Magistrate Ostler agreed with the defence admission Wedge acted unwisely but added "it is difficult to fault this man too greatly."

Canteen to Feed The Fish Watchers

A mobile canteen will feed fishwatchers at Goldstream Park this Sunday and every Sunday through Nov. 27 while the salmon are spawning.

Solaruim Junior League members will sell hot dogs, hamburgers, coffee, hot chocolate and pop from the canteen.

This will be the 10th year Junior Leaguers have operated the canteen at the park during spawning season. All proceeds go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

The canteen will also be at the park Remembrance Day, Nov. 11.

Junior members of the Victoria Fish and Game Club are acting as guides at the park.

SHIPYARD WORKERS today gave Shell Oil Co.'s $9 million off-shore drilling rig tangible shape with connection of first two pontoon-caisson sections. Nine-foot diameter steel members link the three floating sections that will support one of the world's largest well-drilling platforms, to be used off the British Columbia coast when completetd next year. First two of the three "spreaders" to give the sections rigidity are shown to left an dright of the centre pontoon-caisson. (Bill Halkett photo.)

School Board Agent Flailed by Teachers

'Has Not Assisted Negotiation Process'

By DESMOND BILL

Greater Victoria teachers have formally protested the functions of school board bargaining agent Wilfred Peck.

WILF PECK
. . . under fire

The teachers' association sent a telegram to the board asking Mr. Peck's appointment be "reconsidered and assessed".

It said he "has not assisted the negotiation process" and has shown "a lack of understanding" of the co-operative spirit.

The wire has precipitated a new row between the two bargaining groups.

The board has replied that the teachers' wage requests are "fantastic and unreasonable".

The teachers say the board is not bargaining in good faith.

The telegram also accused the board of not negotiating salaries "in the appropriate spirit."

It said, "If the agent's function is merely to 'hold the line' or to precipitate conciliation and compulsory arbitration he is serving no true negotiation function.".

Talks between teachers and board broke down this week and the board has asked for appointment of a conciliation board to settle the dispute.

Teachers this year are demanding salary increases that vary from 8 to 50 per cent.

School board chairman John Porteous this morning released a detailed analysis of the teachers' wage demands.

It shows that if the teachers' proposals were accepted, 85 of them would get wage increases of 16 per cent, 100 would get 19 per cent, 40 would get 20 per cent, 61 would get 22 per cent, 34 would get 24 per cent, and two would get 50 per cent, to give a few examples.

PORTEOUS REPLY

Mr. Porteous, in a letter to the GVTA in reply to the telegram, said the teachers are proposing "fantastic salary increases which are unreasonable."

He said the board is "more than willing" to co-operate with teachers if they would make "a reasonable presentation . . . commensurate with existing economic conditions . . . (and) the existing basic salary scale."

His letter flatly rejected the teachers' suggestion that the board ditch its negotiator, Mr. Peck.

Mr. Peck, a Cowichan school trustee, is a former president of the B.C. School Trustees association.

The teachers had asked the board to meet with a delegation from the GVTA without Mr. Peck being present "so that we may pursue a solution to the issues currently before us."

Mr. Porteous said the teachers are wrong in suggesting that Mr. Peck's function in the negotiations has been to "hold the line" or to precipitate conciliation and arbitration.

BOTH SIDES

He told the teachers that the board is willing to co-operate with them but reminded them that co-operation "should always stem from both sides."

Mr. Porteous indicated that the school board is going ahead with its intention to call in a conciliation officer. He added, "At the moment that seems the best way to try and settle this matter."

COWICHAN COPPER

Miners Pledged Partial Payday

By AB KENT

Cowichan Copper Co.'s Jordan River miners can expect the first instalment of six-weeks-late back pay Tuesday or Wednesday.

A public relations spokesman for Aetna Investment Corp. Ltd. said by telephone from Toronto today that British Metal Corp. is making an interim payment for copper concentrates from the Sunro mine.

Aetna, which gave up mine management following shutdown in mid-September, agreed to make up the short payroll from funds realized from the marketing of milled ore through British Metals.

"We are doing our best to get this thing over with as quickly as possible," said the Aetna man.

Mine employees — most represented by Local 1012 International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers — are owed upwards of $40,000 in wages and bonuses.

Aetna said the interim payment would be for $15,000.

Liens for $38,000 in wages have been filed by the union and steps have been taken by the provincial labor department for their collection.

Miners' families have been distressed to the point where 26 of 120 jobless are on welfare, the rest on unemployment insurance which offers a maximum $36 per week.

NO TRAFFIC JAM FROM TEST CENTRE

A $250,000 automotive centre planned for the Hillside-Shelbourne intersection will not create a traffic hazard.

City planner Geoff Greenhalgh said today the centre, first of its kind in Canada will occupy at least three-quarters of an acre of land and have carefully planned approaches and exits.

LESS HAZARD

"It will be much less of a hazard than existing operations," he said.

Rezoning to make way for the construction of the centre was approved Thursday by city council.

The testing centre will be electronically equipped to check out in detail automobile performance.

During a test run taking between 30 and 40 minutes 200 operating points of an automobile will be checked out.

All equipment runs silently with the only noise in the testing bay coming from the car motor.

During the test the car owner will be able to watch the entire procedure from a glassed-in viewing room.

Following the electronic check the car will be put through a road test machine under simulated driving conditions. With the results of the two tests combined the motorist will have an accurate report on his car's road-worthiness.

In addition to the car-testing facitlities the new plant will have six service bays, a sales showroom and gasoline pump islands.

Imperial Oil now operates a service station on the site designed to house the new centre.

Two Missing Girls Located byy Police

Two 16-year-old girls missing from their neighboring Saanich homes since Monday have been located.

Saanich detectives said today Susanna Bartlett, 1714 Newton Gardens, and Lynn Wilson, 1706 Newton Gardens, were located unharmed in the Victoria area Thursday night.

TOMBSTONE THEFT ADMITTED

A youth who went to Ross Bay Cemetery to drink a bottle of wine Thursday night pleaded guilty today to stealing a tombstone and flowers from a grave.

Brian Proctor, 19, of HMCS St. Croix was arrested after his car crashed on Calumet Road, injuring a passenger.

Proctor also pleaded guilty in central court to impaired driving. He was remanded in custody for sentence Nov. 7.

Detective Angus Stewart told the court today Proctor could give no explanation for taking the 18 by 24-inch stone, worth about $80. The stone marked the grave of a child of a Calgary man.

The flowers were taken from another grave, the officer said. There was about $25 damage to two water pipes in the vicinity.

$900 DAMAGE

After the wine-drinking in the cemetery Proctor was driving on Saanich Road when his car went out of control as he turned on to Calumet. The auto ran up on a lawn, snapping a tree eight inches thick and causing about $900 damage to the car and property.

A passenger, Alan Coutts, 19, of HMCS St. Croix, was treated at Canadian Forces Base Hospital for a three-inch gash on his forehead.

ONE YEAR TO GO

Lions Expect Skrien To·Complete Contract

VANCOUVER (CP)—The president of the British Columbia Lions said Thursday that head coach Dave Skrien has still a year left on his contract and there is no sign this will be changed.

Alan Eyre, stressing that he was speaking unofficially, said: "Dave still has a year to go on his three-year contract, and there has been no indication among the club executive that this situation might be reversed.'

"There has been no discussion on the matter," he said. "Nor would there normally be any such discussion at this point."

"Speaking personally, I would say that here is little doubt that Skrien will carry on as per his contract," said Eyre.

However, there is still the problem of finding a replacement for general manager Herb Capozzi, who retires at the end of the season after a 10-year term. No successor has yet been pinpointed.

Calgary Coach Wants It Dry For Big Battle

EDMONTON (CP) — Coach Jerry Williams, of Calgary Stampeders, wants ideal conditions Saturday when the Stampeders attempt to climb past Edmonton Eskimos into the third and last Western Football Conference payoff spot.

Faced with the need to outscore Edmonton by 21 points to enter the playoffs, the Stampeders need all the offensive thrust they can muster. Williams feels extreme cold or sloppy playing conditions would hamper the offence of each club, but Calgary would be hurt more because they have limited running ability.

Williams admitted Thursday he can't expect his offence to provide many more points than it managed Tuesday in a 28-26 defeat by Saskatchewan Roughriders, but he is prepared to demand a stiffer defensive display.

ESKIMOS HEALTHY

Edmonton enters the game in good health and with a two-point edge over Calgary in league standings.

Edmonton defeated Calgary 26-5 in their first meeting and then tied 18-18 the next time out. If Calgary won by exactly 21 points, the Stampeders would enter the playoffs by virtue of a superior record in total points for and against in WFC standings.

The game at Clarke Stadium will be televised by the CBC western network at 8 p.m. MST.

FINAL GAME SUNDAY

The WFC schedule concludes Sunday when Winnipeg Blue Bombers, assured of second place, meet the last - place British Columbia Lions at Vancouver. The game will be televised in the west by CTV at 2 p.m. PST.

Coach Neill Armstrong of Edmonton admitted the tension has him "full of ulcers" but he was confident Edmonton would win.

His players said after practice they don't want to "back into" the playoffs. A victory would leave them tied with Winnipeg for second place but Winnipeg has won all three meetings with Edmonton this season and has a superior record of points for and against.

SKRIEN TO EXPERIMENT

Winnipeg will meet the third-place finisher in Winnipeg Nov. 6 in a sudden - death semi-final. The survivor meets league champion Saskatchewan in a best-of-three final.

Blue Bomber coach Bud Grant is not looking for a breather in the meaningless game Sunday and B.C. coach Dave Skrien said he will experiment with possible adjustments for next season.

Saskatchewan, with a 17-day layoff before the start of the final, received one piece of bad news. Galen Wahlmeier, who handles snaps in kick situations and is a fine downfield tackler, suffered a knee injury against Calgary and is through for the season.

WILF HOMENUIK

Two Canucks Pass Test For Pro Tour

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP)—Two Canadians were among 32 young pros who qualified to play on the U.S. Professional Golfers' Association tour after a gruelling 144-hole marathon test that ended with a double round Thursday.

Wilf Homenuik, 30, of Winnipeg finished with 71-77 Thursday for a 581 total, 19 strokes back of leading qualifier Harry Toscano of New Castle, Pa.

Leon Declaire of Richmond Hill, Ont., was 31 strokes behind the leader at 603, the score with which the bottom three players qualified.

Archers Topped By Thain Clan

Ian Thain and Joe Tanner stood front and centre this week as Victoria Bowmen and Dockyard pulled the string on the indoor archery season.

Firing official Canadian round targets, Thain topped all scorers with 254. Tanner was right behind with 253. Betty Thain topped the women's division with 251, followed by Eileen Mair, 226.

DUAL-NETWORK COVERAGE

Even to Beer Lover Cup TV 'Ridiculous'

OTTAWA (CP)—A Halifax Conservative MP—who professes a love for football and beer—still feels dual-network coverage of the Nov. 26 Grey Cup game is a "ridiculous piece of hocus pocus."

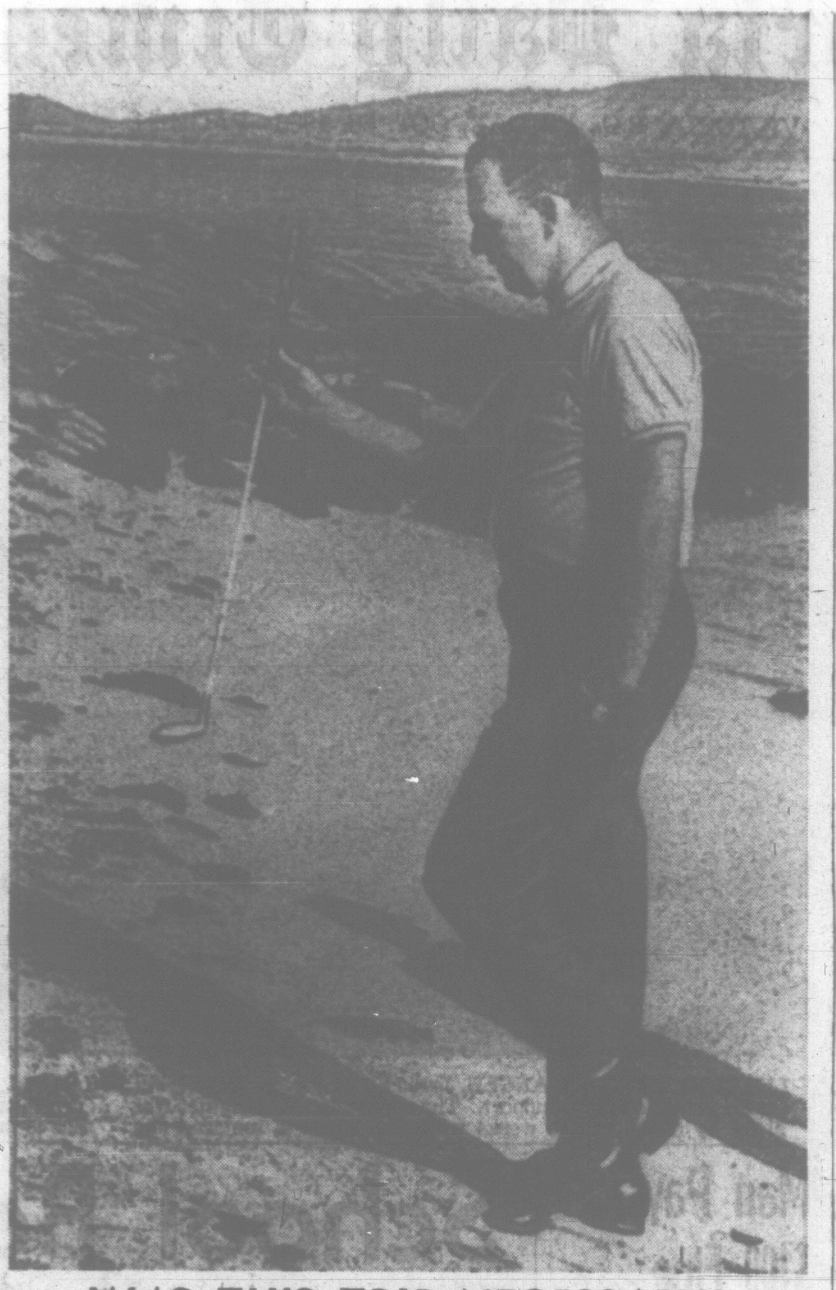
He said the joint CBC-CTV network coverage, with identical beer commercials, created a captive audience.

Since he first mentioned his opposition, he said, some people have accused him of being against football and others claimed he was against beer.

He was "certainly not against the latter" and his friends could find him "Grey Cup day in front of his television set watching "Ottawa beat the best in the west." He even predicted the score—24 to 13.

But his tastes did not change his opinion that the two-network lockup was poor broadcasting. Why didn't one network carry the game on year, and the other the next?



WAS THIS TRIP NECESSARY?

MAKALENA SIX UNDER . . . . . . IN FIRST ROUND

Home Pro Shares Lead

HONOLULU, Hawaii (AP) — Husky Ted Makalena, born and raised about a brassie shot away from the first tee, and veteran pros Doug Sanders and Miller Barber had six-under-par 66s on the Waialae course Thursday and shared the first-round lead in the $57,000 Hawaiian Open.

Dick Lotz, a former California amateur champion, and Tacoma pro Ken Still and veteran Al Besselink posted 67s

Texan Charles Coody had 68 and Bob Goalby, who lost this tournament in a sudden-death playoff last year, had 69. Defending champion Gay Brewer had a 70.

PGA champion Al Geiberger, Mike Souvhak, Frank Beard, Bert Yancey and Chi Chi Rodriguez were bunched at 70.

Makalena, who has made occasional short tours with the pros, is one of the game's long hitters and said his driver was his main weapon Thursday.

"I hit it so far on the two long par fours that I had only seven and eight-iron shots left."

Rawlings Face Thunderettes

It's time to get those times straight, says Howie Tooby, coach of Victoria Rawlings.

Rawlings make their Inter-City Women's Basketball League bow this weekend with a pair of games against University of British Columbia Thunderettes.

Contrary to earlier reports, a Saturday night game starts at 7 p.m. Without any preliminaries, says Tooby. Sunday afternoon's game goes at 2 p.m.

Both will be played at Oak Bay Junior High.

Steelers Adjust To Revision Play

Victoria Steelers feel they have an imaginative offence, but one thrust they had planned this weekend would have left everybody gasping.

They had been scheduled to take off Saturday for a Pacific Football League engagement with Seattle Ramblers in the Washington city.

They learned Thursday the game is scheduled for Sunday.

"I'm puzzled," said team manager John Keresman. "I sat in on the scheduling committee and I ws sure it was the 29th. Seattle must have changed it."

So Sunday it is.

NEW SYSTEM

Steelers have concentrated this week's workouts on sprucing up their bag of offensive tricks. The main change hinges on the position of quarterback-coach Pete Ohler and fullback Major Lincoln.

Ohler plans to stay "in the pocket" on his pass patterns, rather than roll out as has been his custom. That, feels Ohler, will utilize Lincoln as a greater running threat.

The Steelers' bus will leave the Dominion Hotel at 7 a.m. Sunday.

Oakland Rushing On Arena

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Workmen are rushing to complete the $26,500,000 Oakland-Alameda County Coliseum, scheduled to open its doors for hockey Nov. 9.

That night, if all goes well, California Seals and San Diego Gulls of the Western Hockey League will play in the new buildings.

"The date is 70 days prior to the time the contractor was required to deliver," said Bob Nahas, president of Coliseum, Inc. "We're confident . . . that the project will be virtually complete."

The arena will seat 12,000 persons for hockey this season and 12,700 when the Seals become National Hockey League competitors next season.

The circular arena stands 106 feet tall, with a 70-foot-high glass exterior. It will handle all major indoor sports shows, as well as civic and cultural events.

SIX-ROUND EXHIBITION

Jones Was No Match For Dancing Cassius

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Cassius Clay danced his way through an exhibition bout Thursday night with Doug Jones, then apologized later to the crowd.

"I didn't want it to end too soon," he quipped. "Some people think he beat me once but I didn't want to show him up again."

Jones, 10th ranked heavyweight, was no match for the world boxing champion, who pounded him at will and even wrapped his arms around Jones' head and let him pound away.

The six-rounder was for charity and Clay was most charitable—letting Jones take easy shots at him to the body and to the head. In each case Jones was unable to do any damage to the fleet-footed champion.

JONES STAGGERED

Clay staggered Jones in the first round, kept up the punishment and then eased off for the remainder of the bout.

Both fighters wore protective headgear and heavy training gloves.

Clay, who beat Jones in a controversial fight in New York in March of 1963, told the crowd later he wanted to give the New Yorker another shot at him.

The night's proceeds, with the exception of $4,000 for Jones, went to the Children's Hospital Foundation. Clay donated his services.

Henderson Spree Ends Loss Skein

Four-Goal Stint Helps Detroit Trim New York

By Canadian Press

Detroit Red Wings broke a four-game losing streak Thursday night and the man responsible for ending the slump was Paul Henderson.

Henderson, 23, a native of Kincardine, Ont., scored four goals and assisted on another to pace the Red Wings to a 5-3 victory over New York Rangers in the night's only National Hockey League game.

PAUL HENDERSON
. . . Detroit hero

Henderson's goals brought his season total to eight, the most goals scored by any player this season, and moved him into third place in the NHL individual scoring race. It marked the first time that he has scored four goals in a game.

Norm Ullman scored the other Detroit goal, his first of the season, and also picked up three assists.

MARSHALL GETS TWO

Don Marshall scored a pair of goals for the Rangers while Bernie Geoffrion, attempting a comeback after two years as a coach of Quebec Aces in the American Hockey League, scored his first with New York.

The Wings trailed 1-0 at the end of the first period when Geoffrion scored while Detroit's Gary Bergman was serving a minor penalty.

Marshall increased New York's lead to 2-0 at 1:36 of the second period while Dean Prentice of Detroit was in the penalty box. But the Red Wings led by Henderson, suddenly turned into a slashing, brawling crew determined to end the losing streak.

Ullman scored at 2:30 of the second period and Henderson tied the score 31 seconds later.

STEERED IN SHOT

Henderson, a right winger, put Detroit ahead 3-2 at 8:55 with his sixth goal of the season at 8:55 when he steered in Andy Bathgate's slap shot while New York's Wayne Hillman was serving a minor penalty.

Henderson put the Red Wings on top 4-2 at 14:50 when he beat Rangers netminder Ed Giacomin on a breakaway.

Marshall netted his second goal of the night with one second remaining in the middle period. It came with Detroit's Bob McCord in the penalty box.

Henderson closed out the scoring in the third period from close in after a scramble in front of the net.

PEPPER RANGER GOALIE

The Red Wings peppered Giacomin with 49 shots while the Rangers fired 28 at Roger Crozier in the Detroit nets.

The loss put New York in a tie for third place with Toronto Maple Leafs while Detroit is tied with Boston Bruins in last place.

The Rangers were without left winger Doug Robinson who was sent to Baltimore Clippers of the AHL earlier in the day. He had played in two games with New York and had no points.

Two games are scheduled Saturday—the Rangers visit Montreal and the Bruins travel to Toronto. Boston is at Detroit Sunday.

Defenceman Marcel Pronovost will miss Toronto's next five games because of a knee injury and defenceman Bob Baun is out with a broken thumb.

Toronto coach Punch Imlach said he would go with four defencemen—Allan Stanley, Larry Hillman, Tim Horton and Kent Douglas.

The Bruins will be without right winger Ron Stewart sidelined two or three weeks because of a torn cartilage near the rib cage.

Blades Unable To Hold Lead

Fern Flaman makes his first visit to Victoria as a Western Hockey League coach Saturday night and the former National League star will be trying to find a way to keep his Los Angeles Blades sharp for 60 minutes.

The Blades were keen enough to suit Flaman for 48 minutes Thursday night at Los Angeles. Then they lost their edge and California Seals erupted for three goals in less than three minutes and pinned a 6-4 defeat on the Blades.

Seals were led by centre Charlie Burns, who collected five assists, four of them in the third period. It was one assist short of the league record.

With the score tied 4-4 midway in the final period, Burns passed to Stan Gilbertson for the go-ahead score, then set up the final Seal goal at 11:32 by passing to George Swarbrick.

Wayne Maxner and Swarbrick both scored two goals for the winners, while Jerry Toppazini led the Blades with a pair.

SEVERAL CHANGES

Flaman, who logged almost 1,000 NHL games with Boston and Toronto, has retained only 10 players from last season's Los Angeles team and has assembled an outfit that could give the unbeaten Leafs plenty of trouble Saturday at Memorial Arena.

For one thing, Flaman has two high-scoring forwards that have been dynamite against Victoria in other seasons.

Again patrolling the wing is fleet Willie O'Ree, former league goal-scoring king who has had some of his best nights on Victoria ice.

Obtained from Portland during the summer, was Tom McVie, one of the league's slickest shooters and often a headache for Victoria.

LIKES IT RUGGED

Other newcomers include goalie Dave Kelly, wingers Mel Pearson, Dick Meissner and Jack Stanfield, and defencemen Wally Chevrier and Gary Kilpatrick.

Flaman's penalty total of 1,370 minutes has been topped by only two other players in the NHL and his liking for rugged tactics could give the Blades a new look when they skate out against the Maple Leafs Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Police Crack Puck Lottery

TORONTO (CP)—Police say a city-wide hockey lottery ring has been smashed almost before it could get off the ground.

Eight persons have been charged and more than 30 others who acted as ticket salesmen are facing charges of disposing of tickets.

Police say the organizers had printed 3,600 tickets for each of the Toronto Maple Leafs' 35 home games, one for each second of each game. Buyers were to be charged $1 a ticket and $1,500 a game was to be set aside for the playoffs, based on the scoring times for key goals.

If all tickets for the season had been sold the gross would have been $126,000 and the profit after playoffs, $73,500.

TRAGEDY MARKS OPENING . . . . . . OF NICARAGUAN SEASON

Twelve Fans Die in Baseball Stampede

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI)—An excited crowd of 20,000 persons stampeded Thursday night at the end of a baseball game in a downtown Managua stadium. First reports said at least 12 persons were killed and more than 100 were injured, many of them seriously.

Officials said the victims were still being brought to hospitals today and they feared the death toll would rise.

The victims were trampled as the crowd massed at the east gate of the stadium after a game between Leon and Cinco Estrellas that opened the Nicaraguan professional baseball season.

What caused the stampede was not immediately known.

Before the game started police set upon 35 anti-government students—some of them co-eds—demonstrating at the edge of the field.

At least 10 students were arrested and several of them —including their female leader—were injured.

The crowd screamed in outrage as the police hustled the students off the field.

President Lorenzo Guerrero was at the game to throw out the first ball when the police action occurred.

The game itself was played without incident. But when it ended the crowd rushed from the stands, forming a swaying, screaming mob at the east gate. It was not known if the incident before the game and the stampede afterward were directly related.

Those who fell were trampled underfoot as the frenzied crowd fought its way through the narrow gate. In a similar incident at a soccer stadium in Peru several years ago, more than 400 persons died.

Lesser Lights Jar Favorites In World Golf

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A glance at the standings after Thursday's opening round of the Eisenhower Trophy golf championship would have the casual observer wondering if someone hadn't turned them upside down.

There was no mistake, however, and it was the also-ran countries of world golf that turned the first 18 holes of the 72-hole competition inside out.

Kevin Hartley shot a four-under par 68 to give the four-man Australian team a six-stroke lead over South Africa, which finished with 220.

India was in third place with 221, followed by New Zealand with 222. Canada and Rhodesia tied for fifth at 223.

Defending champion Britain came in with 228 behind West Germany's 224, Chile and China with 225s and the United States' 226.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, U.S. amateur champion, three-putted two of the first four greens but finished with a 75.

Keith Alexander of Calgary led the Canadians with a 73, Nick Weslock of Burlington, Ont., carded a 75 and Doug Silverberg of Calgary shot an 80.

SINKS 40-FOOT PUTT

Bobby Cole, who holds the British amateur title, had to stage a blazing finish—32 on the back nine—and sink a 40-foot putt on the final hole for 72 to bring the South Africans in ahead of the Indians.

The Indians — two bearded Sikhs with their long hair under turbans, a barrel - chested retired army colonel and a 25-year-old Hindu—stole the show.

A. S. Malik, one of the Sikhs, shot a 73, as did Ashok Mehra from Calcutta. The army colonel, P. G. Sethi, was even par until he reached the 195-yard 14th where he drove out of bounds and took a three-over-par six. He finished with 75. The other Indian, S. S. Malik, cousin of A. S., had 83.

CHINA SURPRISES

One of the day's better scores was a 76 by Magnus Gumundsson of Iceland.

China was a big surprise. Chienchin Chen shot a 74 and Ming-Chong Ho, who is only 20, a 75.

Only two players broke par—Hartley, with his 68 representing four birdies, and outsider Peter Cros of Paris, whose 71 led the French.

The Americans couldn't sink a putt. Bob Murphy, the University of Florida student, had the best score, a 74. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., and Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif., all had 76s.

SERVICES TEAM AFTER FIRST WIN

The tall order goes out tonight to the Canadian Forces Base hockey team.

Coach Dave (Bunker) Hill's combined Army-Navy team looks for its first victory in Esquimalt Hockey League play at the expense of defending champion University of Victoria Vikings tonight.

The Sports Centre game gets under way at 8.

Combos lost their opening game, 6-5, to Esquimalt Tudor Monarchs last week. Vikings won their only start.

Aussie Fires Three Eagles On Last Nine

BRISBANE (AP)—Australia's Peter Thomson, who bagged three eagles on the last nine holes, and Arnold Palmer shot seven-under-par 67s Thursday to share the first-round lead in the 72-hole Australian Open golf championship.

Palmer had finished his 33-34 round over the 35-38—73 Royal Queensland course when Thomson came surging from behind with 35-33. Australian Bruce Devlin and Brian Boyes of New Zealand tied for third with 69s.

Gary Player, the defending champion from South Africa, and Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina were in the 72 group.

Blueboys Divide Tourney Tussle

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Canada's entry in the first world softball tournament split a doubleheader Thursday, defeating El Salvador 4-1 and losing 3-0 to top-ranked Puerto Rico.

Vancouver Blueboys now have won two and lost three games.

Lorne Auvauche led Vancouver to victory over El Salvador with three-hit pitching.

SEVENTH STRAIGHT WIN

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces downed Pittsburgh Hornets, 5-3, Thursday night for their seventh straight victory in the American Hockey League.

Pro Gridder Charged After Bar-Room Brawl

DETROIT (AP)—An assault and battery complaint has been sworn out against Karl Sweetan, former Toronto Argonaut and now quarterback of Detroit Lions.

The complaint, brought in justice court on suburban Sterling Township, was lodged by Richard Vyt, a 33-year-old sheet-metal worker, who alleges Sweetan struck him in a fight in a bowling alley and bar Wednesday night.

Sweetan, 24, played brilliantly for the Lions' against San Francisco last Sunday in his debut as a National Football League starting quarterback.

Sweetan, declaring himself not at fault, said Vyt threatened him "and I hit him first."

The 6-foot-1, 205-pound Texan said there was an argument at Vyt's table in the Sunnyside Lane bar and bowling alley. A young woman friend had requested him to retrieve her purse and a drink from the table where she had been sitting with Vyt and another man.

Vyt was treated for a reported facial injury in hospital.

Sweetan, who wears eyeglasses, is married and is father of two children.

QUICK RETURN

LONDON (AP)—Tony Hateley, star soccer centre-forward, was sold by Aston Villa to Chelsea for $280,000 Wednesday. A few hours later he helped his new team score a 3-0 victory over Tottenham Hotspur and take over first place in the English Football League First Division.

BOWLER OF WEEK

Perfect record in Times Bowler-of-the-Week competition has been extended by Anne Goodman, who has earned women's tenpin award for fourth successive year. City all-events queen in 1960 and zone champion in 1964, Anne topped distaff tenpinners in third week of 27-week contest by rolling 182-218-178 - 578 series in Thursday Mixed League at Mayfair Lanes.

Domineering Oak Bay Makes It 16 Straight!

Ol' Man River may "jes' keep rolling along," but Oak Bay High's moves in the water are second only to frightened fish.

The dominant force in city high school swimming circles, Oak Bay did it again Friday with an overwhelming victory in the annual inter-high gala at the Crystal Garden pool.

It marks the 16th straight year Oak Bay has sped away with the team championship. As a matter of fact, some of the present swimmers weren't even born the last time Oak Bay missed. That was in 1950, when Victoria High came through.

Coach Gary Taylor's Bays won 13 of Friday's 20 events to pile up 207 points, almost twice as many as runner-up Esquimalt.

Esquimalt (105) was followed by Belmont (56), Mount View (46), Victoria (42), St. Ann's Academy (33) and Mount Douglas (14).

A total of 11 new marks went into the books, including three in the relays.

Paul Thomas of Oak Bay led the record-assault with time-cracking efforts in the boys' novice 50-yard backstroke and the freestyle.

Other record-breakers were Brenda Aylward of St. Ann's, Grant Treloar of Mount View, Gail Conklin and Ross Bruce, both of Oak Bay, Mary Horne of Esquimalt and Mike Regan of Vic High.

Oak Bay teams cracked all three relay standards, winning the girls' 220, the boys' freestyle and medley events.

Soutar, Boyd Making Switch

Transfers have been processed, so peppery Don Boyd and Bert Soutar will be able to don different Pacific Coast Soccer League colors Saturday.

Soutar, former Victorian who has been transfered back to the city by his employers, gets the PCSL's okay to switch his soccer allegiance from New Westminster Royals to Victoria O'Keefes.

Boyd will be on the other side of the fence Saturday when O'Keefes, riding high and mighty with an unbeaten record, play Vancouver Columbus at Macdonald Park.

Columbus has traded Steve Djoric to Firefighters in return for the services of Boyd, an all-star wing half.

THEY'LL BE READY

Both are expected to line up with their new teams Saturday.

On Sunday, soccer's light shines on the District League. A full schedule is slated for both the first and second divisions.

Gorge plays Hourigan Kickers at Heywood, University Vikings entertain Navy on the UVic campus, Red Lions will roar at Canadian Scottish at Bullen Park, and Vic Wests tackle Luckies at Central Park.

The four scheduled second-division games are: London Boxing-Sidney; Island Tug-Vic West; University Norsemen-Colony, and Falcons-Gorge.

Mexican Vacates Top Games' Post

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Newspapers headlined stories Thursday that Gen. J. J. Clark Flores has resigned four posts involving Mexican sports activities and the 1968 Olympic Games.

Clark Flores would not comment when reached in the United States.

The newspaper La Aficion said Clark Flores had definitely resigned as president of the Mexican Sports Confederation, president of the Mexican Olympic Committee, vice-president of the Olympic Organizing Committee, and president of the Olympic Executive Committee.

MOVING FORCE

Clark Flores has been active in Mexican sports for about 10 years and was a moving force in Olympic planning. He is a close friend of Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

The organization and progress of preparations for the 1968 Games have been under fire from foreign sources, although Mexico has insisted that everything will be ready when the time comes.

Spahn Scores Win in Court

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Warren Spahn, one of baseball's all-time great left-handed pitchers, scored a major victory Thursday when the state's highest court voted unanimously to uphold lower-court decisions granting Spahn an injunction to block the publication of an unauthorized biography of his life.

Spahn, who won more than 300 games during his major league career with Boston and Milwaukee Braves, had argued that the biography, written by Julian Messner, did not truly reflect his life.

Golf Pins Retained

Jennie Harlan and Maudie Crawford continued their long reign as holders of the women's double pins at Gorge Vale Golf Club, making their seventh successful defence by defeating Rosalie Roberts and Alice Mitchell at the 15th green.

U.S. HORSE SHOW

Jump Record For Canadian

NEW YORK (CP)—Auto salesman Jim Day, of Oak Ridges, Ont., says his only thought when his accomplished jumper Canadian Club cleared seven feet, one inch to win a major prize for the Canadian equestrian team Thursday night was to "hang on for dear life".

Day, 20-year-old member of the Canadian team that is doing well after three days of competition at the eight-day National Horse Show, rode Canadian Club, a six-year-old chestnut gelding, to victory in the international puissance event.

The win and a second-place tie for Gail Ross of Edmonton in the same event moved Canada into second place behind the United States in both the team and individual race.

It was the second night in a row the Madison Square Garden record jump had been equalled. Dear Brutus, ridden by American Rod Jenkins, did it in a comparable open jumper class Wednesday night.

MISS KUSNER LEADS

Miss Ross, aboard The Hood, and Frank Chapot of the United States, riding San Lucas, tied for second. They also had gone clean through an easy initial round and two jumpoffs that followed, but walloped the imitation grass panels on top of the barrier in the third jumpoff for four faults each.

The victory put Day in second place behind Kathy Kusner of the U.S. in the individual standing. Miss Kusner had 22 points, Day 14 and Tom Gayford of Gormley, Ont., and Bill Steinkraus of the U.S. had 12 each.

The U.S. remained in front in the team standing with 48 points to 38 for Canada and eight for Chile. Ireland still hasn't won a point.

Day's winning effort was the second time in a row that Canada had captured the night's main prize. Gayford was the winner of the Frederick D. MacKay memorial trophy Wednesday.

Miss Kusner with Untouchable, Steinkraus with Bold Minstrel and Gayford with Candiana tied for fourth place, each with one knockdown.

It marked the fourth time in the history of the 83-year-old show that 7-1 had been cleared.

Gayford expressed amazement at Canadian Club's achievement.

"THE BEST-DRESSED PEOPLE IN TOWN WEAR THE FAIR SHARE PIN"

WHAT IS THE FAIR SHARE PIN? A small, gold emblem, in the shape of a check mark, or a square blue pin embossed with the letters F/S. Both indicate that the wearer is proud of his community and wants to make it an even better place in which to live. He or she has demonstrated this pride through a Fair Share Pledge to the 1966 United Appeal.

WHAT IS A FAIR SHARE GIFT? Only the contributor can decide what his or her gift should be. However, to the many who ask for guidance the suggestion is made that a Fair Share Gift for employees is one day's pay a year, and for executives and professional men, one per cent of annual income.

Urban Renewal Planning Shelved; —No Blighted Areas in Esquimalt

Urban renewal plans for Esquimalt may be shelved for some time, but for the best possible reason.

The municipality simply doesn't need them.

"In Esquimalt there are no obviously blighted slum areas,," said A. H. Roberts, Capital Region Planning Board director, Thursday night.

Esquimalt is only "a marginal case" for urban renewal, he told council's zoning committee members, Esquimalt chamber of commerce representatives, and 12 Esquimalt residents who attended a public forum on urban renewal.

"Esquimalt's problem is that its standards may be too high," said Mr. Roberts. Areas which appear poor in Esquimalt might not be considered so in other municipalities.

STUDY PROPOSED

Mr. Roberts said he doubted if federal or provincial aid would be required for a renewal program in Esquimalt, but suggested a study be made to determine the extent of any renewal work.

Instead of fullscale urban renewal, Esquimalt may plump for a smaller, and less expensive, rehabilitation program, involving only the municipal government and Esquimalt residents.

"Sprucing up" is all that's needed in many cases, said Coun. Roy Elphick, chairman of the zoning committee, which is giving preliminary consideration to the urban renewal proposal.

"Many areas just require a little face-lifting," he said.

Full-scale urban renewal "looks like a pretty dead duck" commented on councillor after the forum.

Said Coun. Gerald Horne, a zoning committee member: "We haven't a case for it. That's fine. Urban renewal is expensive."

Esquimalt Chamber of Commerce secretary Ken Bishop, also said urban renewal appeared unneccessary.

PLANNING NEEDED

But despite the compliment Esquimalt had received, long-range planning is still needed for commercial enterprises in the district, he said.

A rehabilitation program would probably be adequate "provided we have the cooperation of landlords" said Coun. Walter Lock.

The case for urban renewal Esquimalt's zoning committee which will recommend a course to council.

"If we don't decide on urban renewal, then we will pursue a rehabilitation program," said Coun. Elphick.

"But we are going to have to tread lightly and study every aspect."

Also taking part in the foum were deputy minister of municipal affairs J. E. Brown, and regional supervisor of Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation R. G. Clauson.

IN SAANICH

Road Safety Training In Schools

A short course in road safety will be given students at two Saanich secondary schools next month, by persons closely involved with it.

Road safety displays will be on view during the one-hour program, and the students will be able to take a closer look during their lunch hour the day of the program.

The Saanich police department, which sponsors the program, will include a motorcycle and radar unit in their display.

POLICE TALKS

Schools bringing the program to their students are Mount View Senior Secondary Nov. 4, and Claremont Senior Secondary Nov. 10. Mount Douglas Senior Secondary will also carry it at a later date.

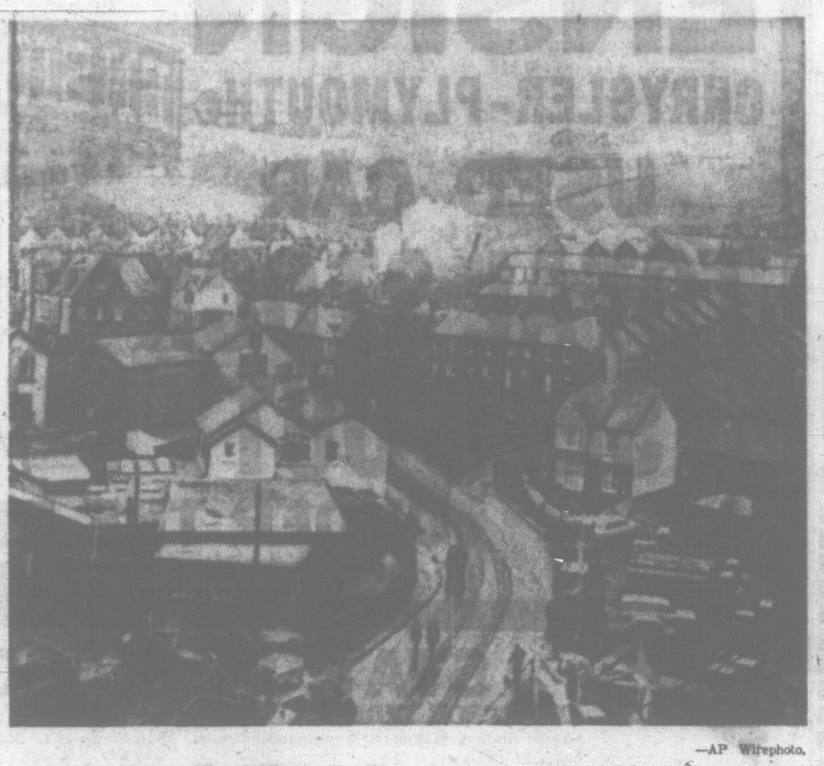
MONEY MAY HELP EDUCATION . . . . . . OR BUILD ABERFAN MEMORIAL

Disaster Aid 'Poor Compensation' for Dead

By HAROLD MORRISON



—AP Wirephoto.

SOMBRE WELSH VILLAGE of Aberfan, where mountain of coal waste crushed the life out of 145 persons, mostly children. Destruction area is at centre back, where public school was wiped out a week ago.

LONDON (CP) — A giant memorial may one day rise over the black slag of Aberfan where rescue workers slowly give up hope of ever recovering the bodies of more than 40 missing schoolchildren.

Broken by a tragedy almost unparallelled in mining history, this Welsh community is still a valley of tears as it completes the bitter task of burying its 145 known dead and waits for the oozing coal slag to yield others.

As messages of sympathy pour in from many parts of the world, a disaster fund, established by Alderman Stanley Davies, mayor of Merthyr Tydfil which adjoins Aberfan, is rising toward £100,000 ($300,000). Officials estimate it may swell to double or triple that figure.

"The money will be poor compensation for grieving parents," said an official of the Welsh office, "But it may help the surviving children and provide a lasting memorial of this immense loss."

There still is no final decision how the contributions should be used. Among suggestions which the Welsh office has heard are: A giant memorial at Aberfan, scholarships and other assistance for the community's children, a new community hall and new school, financial aid for the impoverished, new recreational facilities and housing and perhaps aid for those who want to leave the valley.

Princess Margaret has started an appeal of her own: Toys for the surviving children. Until Nov. 2, all toys for the remaining 360 Aberfan children will be carried free by the British post office. Four warehouses are being held in Aberfan as reception points.

Some newspaper commentators have questioned what purpose can be served by overwhelming th children with toys in this tragic moment.

From its own funds, the national coal board has made an initial offer of £50 to each family which lost a member when the mountain of coal waste broke under a heavy rainfall last Friday, cascaded into the valley and shattered a schoolhouse and 20 houses.

Officials estimate about 195 persons, mostly children and including virtually the entire group between eight and 10 years of age, were crushed and suffocated within minutes. Of the 140 families hit by the tragedy, 126 accepted the coal board's offer.

Some have turned away from the board with bitterness. Cries of "our children have been murdered" and a demand that the death certificates be marked "Buried alive by the national coal board" were heard at a coroner's inquest earlier this week.

The state-owned coal board operates about 470 pits in Britain, each marked by a "tip," or mountain of mine waste. Other tips remain from long-abandoned mines. Wales has about 500 such tips, some built up on flat ground and many on hillsides. Most of these are supposed to be checked daily to make sure they do not slip or slide on to lower ground.

The children and some of their teachers were crushed in their classrooms as they gathered after prayers in Pantglas (Green Hollow) junior school. The skeleton that remains of that school and its adjoining senior school is being razed while determined men still dig through the slime.

The Welsh Office said Thursday it now is possible no more bodies may be found. The huge layer of waste may become consecrated ground, perhaps becoming the base for some giant memorial.

Children will be educated in two temporary classrooms being erected in neighboring Merthyr Tydfil while the senior students attend another local school until a new high school is completed next year.

STARTS AN INQUIRY

Meanwhile, Lord Justice Edmund Davies, who was born just a few miles from Aberfan, is preparing a judicial inquiry to open Nov. 8, to determine, as Prime Minister Wilson has stated, the "truth" about the Aberfan disaster.

Davies already has been urged by some of Aberfan's 3,000 residents not to believe the statement by the coal board chairman, Lord Robens, who said his men discovered an underground spring in the Aberfan tip which had turned into a "water bomb," splitting the mountain of waste. Some of the miners said the spring was known for years.

Justice Davies likely will hold a brief preliminary session, to be followed by a major hearing before Christmas. This may not wind up until next March. In the meantime he may make an interim report if he finds emergency action is required, such as the future of the remainder of the Aberfan slag which stands as a huge and ominous shadow over the grieving village.

Vale of Tears Buries Its Children While Thousands Mourn on Slopes

By ENA KENDALL

ABERFAN, Wales (Reuters) — The small, grey village of Aberfan shut itself off from the outside world Thursday to bury half a generation of its children.

While flags throughout Britain flew at half staff, 81 children — killed Friday when a mountain of coal waste engulfed their school — were buried in a simple 13-minute ceremony.

The long rows of small pine coffins were lowered onto a mass grave on a steep barren hillside half a mile from the Pantglas school where the children played, studied and died.

While weeping relatives and neighbors stood with heads bowed in prayer, thousands of mourners from nearby communities lined the slopes on the other side of the valley, their eyes fixed on a giant cross of hundreds of wreaths marking the cemetery.

All work at the disaster site stopped for the first time since Frida's avalanche killed more than 150 persons.

Most of the graveside mourners were mine workers, many burying their own children.

In keeping with Welsh custom, most mothers stayed at home, behind drawn curtains and black-draped windows.

The silence Thursday was broken only by the sound of hymns sung in Welsh and English at the graveside.

DIED WITH CHILDREN

As her pupils were laid to rest, Pantglas school's principal, 64-year-old Ann Jenning, was buried in a cemetery five miles from Aberfan in Merthyr Tydfil.

"Ann died with her children in the Hell of Pantglas school last Friday morning and I do not think she would have wished it otherwise," Rev. Glyndwer Jones said at her funeral.

Ten-year-old Carl Evans, the first child pulled out alive from the black mountain of slag that killed his friends, paid them his own personal tribute, carrying a bunch of flowers up the wind-swept valley slopes to add to the massive cross.

Weeping onlookers stood facing the trench grave, 280 feet long, in which the tiny coffins were laid side by side.

One of the wreaths forming the giant cross came from Royal Marines in Aden. There also were wreaths from France and New Zealand.

FIVE ANARCHISTS ARRESTED

Spanish Police Smash Plot To Kidnap U.S. Ambassador

MADRID (UPI) — Police have smashed a plot by Spanish anarchists to kidnap U. S. Ambassador Angier Biddle Duke and other Americans living in Spain, government sources said today.

A high officer in the U.S. military forces in Spain and an American news correspondent working here also were marked for kidnapping, they said.

Spanish police Thursday disclosed five anarchists, including one woman, had been arrested for plotting to kidnap a "prominent member of the U.S. embassy," who they declined to identify. The suspects were identified as members of the "Juventudes Libertarias" (Libertarian Youths), which earlier this year kidnapped a Spanish ecclesiastical envoy in Rome, Msgr. Marcos Ussia.

NOT IDENTIFIED

Sources said they were not in a position to identify the high U.S. military or news correspondent allegedly on the kidnap list. The highest-ranking U.S. officers in Spain are Gen. Stanley Donovan, commander of the 16th air force, and Adm. Norman Gillette, head of the military assistance advisory group.

The plot, details of which were not immediately disclosed, was discovered before it materialized and all five alleged kidnapers were jailed.

Duke said he had no knowledge of the alleged plot.

"I do not know anything and I have no knowledge of any planned attempt to kidnap me or any member of my family," he said.

Duke, considered one of America's most successful diplomats in Europe, made worldwide headlines last March when he and his two children took a chilly plunge in the Mediterranean off Palomares to show Spaniards there was no radioactivity danger from the nuclear bomb lost in a B52 bomber crash. The bomb was recovered in April.

Canada Tag Appears In Jewish Forest

By ELIZABETH FORBES

This week a tree was planted in a Canadian forest in Israel in my name.

The honor came through Victoria Chapter of Hadassah, better known perhaps as Wizo — the Women's International Zionist Organization of Canada.

It was given for the very easy and pleasant duty of opening the local group's annual bazaar.

Forbes

And I now have in my possession an attractively printed scroll that tells me my tree has joined thousands of others in a mighty bid for reclamation of a dry land.

The Canadian forest (named because trees are sponsored by people in this country) grows outside Jerusalem on what was once arid desert and completely unproductive except where primitive irrigation created a few oases.

Through Keren Kayemeth L'Israel (Jewish National Fund) in the Hadassah program this land, and many more acres like it, has been purchased for redemption and reclamation.

It was all treeless in the beginning. But today, through voluntary contributions and moneys from the fund, forests have been planted, swamps drained and the arid areas well irrigated.

Trees in the Canadian forest have been planted through gifts from individuals and organizations. Each one commemorates a special event, honors some person, marks the birth of a child or was placed in memory of someone who has departed.

In some cases numbers of trees have been set out on a single occasion. In 1962 the Canadian Hadassah held its national convention in Israel and during the sessions 500 women visited Jerusalem and each one planted a tree in the forest.

Pines, firs and other sturdy growing species are used. Somehow, I'd like to think that mine is a tall, straight pine reaching high on that reclaimed and outside Jerusalem.

Land redemption and reclamation is not the only Israeli project supported by Canadian Hadassah.

It sponsors Nahalal, a complete scientific agricultural training school for girls and boys, also the work of Hadassim, a children's and youth village established in 1947 and today one of Israel's showplaces.

Here, the teaching program is highly progressive and all subjects are handled by the project method. Children are housed in small family units.

Work is also done with Youth Aliyah through which homeless Jewish children from Europe, Asia, Africa and many other lands have been brought to Israel to be cared for and rehabilitated.

A biology science building has been built and equipped in the Hebrew University, also a blood donor clinic and fractional centre at Jaffa and a hydro therapy pool and polio rehabilitation centre at Sarafand.

Most recent contribution is a lecture hall and auditorium, the first building to be established on the new university campus in Jerusalem and the first in Israel to bear the name of this country. It is called Canada Hall.

Moneys from bazaars like the one I opened and from many others help with these efforts without going out of Canada.

Contributions are collected in a central fund established in an Ottawa bank. Through mutual arrangements between the two countries this fund is used to pay for Canadian lumber, medical supplies, wheat, salmon and other commodities needed, at the same time releasing an equal sum of money in Israel for the tremendous work going on over there.

NEW YORK

CITY HALL PAYOFF SCANDAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The first scandal of Mayor John V. Lindsay's 10-month-old administration broke Thursday with the firing of a $17,500-a-year sanitation department official.

The dismissal of Vincent Starace, first deputy sanitation commissioner, came shortly before the city's investigation commissioner charged that payoffs of up to $1,000 each were made by 30 men to get sanitation department promotions. A department foreman also was fired and another foreman resigned.

Arnold G. Fraiman, the investigation commissioner, said his office found 30 of the 55 high-ranking members of the department's uniformed force had made payoffs ranging from $500 to $1,000, for a $22,500 total.

Fraiman stressed that the 30 men were at the top of the promotion list and deserved their promotions — but still were forced to pay off.

He said that when his probe became known much of the payoff money was returned.

Fraiman, who did not make clear who collected the payoffs, said Starace was kicked out by Lindsay for refusing to co-operate or be questioned.

New Car "3-Point Warranty Plan"

5/50,000 Power Train, Steering, Suspension and Wheels

Our 5 year or 50,000 mile warranty on the power train, steering gear and linkage, front and rear suspension, and road wheels, of our 1967 cars provides free repair, including labor, of parts in those systems with a defect in workmanship or material found in normal service.

2/24,000 Entire car

Our 2 year or 24,000 mile warranty on the entire car provides repair and related labor by authorized dealerships, at no charge, of any part with a defect in workmanship or material . . . if found in normal service (except tires which continue to be warranted by the tire companies).

Only one dealer certification per year

And only Ford of Canada gives you a whole year (instead of six months) between required dealer certification . . . no matter how many miles you drive.

The Ford Motor Company's "3 Point Warranty Plan" is the most convenient a new car buyer can get. It also adds a new standard of value during the time you own the car, and also when you sell or trade, because it can be passed along to the subsequent owner.

Used Car Factory-Backed Warranty

2/50,000 on 1964, 1965 and 1966 models

Ford of Canada takes the doubt out of buying a used car. This unique warranty applies to any new 1966 model or used 1966, 1965 or 1964 Ford of Canada car eligible and certified by a participating dealer. The power train is covered for 50,000 miles total operation or 2 years of your ownership — whichever comes first. Over all, this new power train warranty could give protection for up to five years from the date your car was made.

If you now own one of our cars, no more than three years old and driven less than 50,000 miles, this warranty is available to you, too, provided the car is certified by a Ford of Canada dealer and registered at a cost of $35.00. After certification, you'll never have to pay more than $35.00 for any single power train repair that's covered. Ask your Ford or Mercury dealer for full details.

Great news for light truck owners!

Every Ford of Canada light truck, through series 350, is now covered by a 5 year/50,000 mile power train warranty in addition to the 2 year/24,000 mile warranty on the entire vehicle. See your local Ford or Mercury dealer for full details.

Never before have car owners had a better package of investment protection... See your Ford or Mercury dealer... he'll show you why!

Ontario Minister Resigns; Big Cabinet Shuffle Hinted

OTTAWA (CP) — Kelso Roberts, Ontario's lands and forests minister, has resigned in a move that could be the beginning of a major cabinet shuffle.

Premier Robarts announced the 68-year-old former attorney-general's resignation in a statement today before the final sessions of the week-long federal-provincial fisal talks.

He said: "Its acceptance will be arranged shortly to meet and facilitate the personal requirements of the minister embracing plans he has made for his future activities in private life."

The resignation, the premier said, "had been received with sincere regret."

The statement said that Mr. Robarts "emphasized the heavy debt of gratitude owed by the people of Ontario to the retiring minister.

Mr. Roberts' St. Patrick riding in Toronto disappears under Ontario's recently-enacted redistribution laws and it was not known immediately whether he will seek another seat in the provincial election expected within a year.

There has been speculation for more than two years of a major cabinet shuffle and Mr. Roberts was expected to be one of the first to go to make way for younger men.

Mr. Roberts, a lawyer and native of Belleville, Ont., was first elected to the Ontario house in 1943. He was re-elected in 1945, defeated in 1948, but re-elected in 1951 and undefeated since.

He was named attorney-general in 1955 and in the fall of 1962 left that portfolio for lands and forests.

Mr. Roberts, a chief lieutenant to former Premier Leslie Frost, was a contender for the leadership of the provincial Conservative party five years ago on Mr. Frost's retirement. He was edged out by Premier Robarts.

Late Filing Brings Fine

A firm which failed to forward former employees' records within the allotted time to the National Employment Service was fined $50 in court Thursday.

Alpine Clearing Contractors Ltd., Hallowell Road, was fined $25 on each of two counts against it under the Unemployment Insurance Act. The firm pleaded guilty.

Gordon Hardwood, speaking for the company, said the two employees concerned after leaving the firm's employ went to work immediately for an associated company out of town.

Studebaker 'Killing' Criticized by Dief

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Thursday in the Commons that Canadian Studebaker made a "killing" in a deal with Volkswagen at the expense of Canadian taxpayers.

He said it was "wrong and unjustifiable" that Studebaker was permitted by the government to import 10,000 Volkswagen cars duty-free and sell them back to Volkswagen for sale at the full price in this country.

The transaction had lost jobs for Canadians in Canada.

Mr. Diefenbaker made his Commons remarks after Revenue Minister Benson said Studebaker was entitled under terms of the Canada-U.S. auto-agreement to import the Volkswagens free of the 17-per-cent duty.

The Opposition leader said Mr. Benson had the "colossal effrontery" to say that the deal had been good for Canada.

Mr. Benson tabled the Dec. 4, 1964, letter from his department to Studebaker Canada Ltd.—copy to Volkswagen Canada Ltd.—saying that Studebaker was entitled to import the cars duty-free.

Under the auto pact, a Canadian car manufacturer is entitled to import foreign cars duty-free by the same amount by which it increases production in Canada.

Mr. Benson said Studebaker claimed to have increased its Canadian production at its Hamilton plant before it went out of business.

The company could not import American Studebakers because the U.S. parent company had folded. It therefore asked to import Volkswagens.

Fugitive Nazi MD Fights Extradition

ACCRA, Ghana (UPI)—Accused Nazi war criminal Dr. Horst Schumann said Wednesday up to 120,000 Jews were killed in two Nazi death camps under his supervision.

Schumann told a Ghana appeals court his duty as medical officer at camps in Berlin and Munsinger was to suprevise mass gassings to make room for "incoming" wounded soldiers.

Schumann is in court appealing a West German order for his extradition as a war criminal issued by the office of Frankfurt chief prosecutor Fritz Bauer.

Schumann, who found postwar refuge in Ghana under the regime of now-deposed President Kwame Nkrumah, told the court his acts were performed under witten instructions from Adolf Hitler's chancellory.

FACED DEATH

If he disobeyed, he said, he would have been court-martialled. Anyone who disobeyed or opposed Nazi instructions faced certain death or brutal torture as punishment, Schumann said.

The former Nazi doctor said it was also the Hitler government's political goal to kill all mentally unbalanced persons.

'Little Willie' Gets $20,000 From Arden

NEW YORK (AP)—The will of Elizabeth Arden showed Thursday the international beauty expert had parlayed a keen business ability and a $600 investment in cosmetics formulas into a fortune estimated at between $30 million and $40 million.

In her will filed for probate, the Woodbridge, Ont., native left $1,500,000 to be distributed among employees with more than 10 years service in London, Paris, New York, Chicago, San Francisco, Boston, Washington and Los Angeles.

The will, under her legal name of Elizabeth Nightingale Graham, was drawn up last year. She died at 81 last Oct. 18.

In the 24-page document, Miss Arden left $8,500,000 in 37 individual bequests—one a $20,000 gift to "the hairdresser in my London salon known to me by her nickname Little Willie."

The hairdresser was identified as Doris Williams.

'Wife Begged Me To End Her Life'

CHICAGO (UPI)—A public defender was appointed Wednesday for an 84-year-old retired mailman who killed his ailing wife because she pleaded with him to "put her out of her misery."

William Reinecke was arrested and charged with murder after he called police and told them he had strangled his wife, Marie, 78.

"She had been sick for a long time," he said. "She had been begging me for months to put her out of her misery."

Reinecke and his wife, who had been married for more than 50 years, lived alone. She believed she had cancer and was tormented by pain, Reinecke said.

He said he accompanied his wife to several doctors who assured her she was not suffering from cancer, but "they failed to convince her."

Reinecke said he was convinced that she was in pain "almost all time" for the past six months and that she had begged him to kill her.

"She just kept begging me, begging me," he told police.

Reinecke said they decided to die together and that he fashioned two nooses out of lengths of rope. Two chairs were placed beneath the ropes, he said.

He could not bring himself to commit suicide, he said, and so that plan was abandoned.

Eternity Was 20 Minutes for Parents of Tot Buried Under Grain

FALHER, Alta. (CP)—How long is 20 minutes? To the Labrecque family it's an eternity.

About four weeks ago, just after his fourth birthday, Eugene Labrecque was believed dead after lying buried 20 minutes under 140 bushels of barley at the bottom of a hopper on the family farm 70 miles northeast of Grande Prairie.

Mr. Labrecque told about the incident Thursday and of the frustrating rescue efforts.

The family had been in the field all day harvesting the barley crop. There were Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Labrecque, their eldest son, Denis, Eugene, and Reynold Lessard, the hired hand.

Eugene was playing in the grain in the hopper. The barley flowed out the bottom into a machine that took it to a dryer.

"All of a sudden the grain wasn't flowing freely," Mrs. Labrecque said. "About the same time we missed Eugene.

"We were searching for him when I noticed something red lodged against the opening at the bottom of the hopper. It was Eugene's pant leg."

Denis and Reynold started digging with scoop shovels but the grain flowed into the hole as they dug.

"We had to do something else. So Alphonse started a truck. It was filled with grain. He rammed the hopper trying to tip it over. It did not move."

Finally Alphonse, Reynold and Denis were able to tip the hoppper on its side.

The grain spilled out. Reynold was first inside the hopper.

Eugene was lying stretched out, his hands above his head.

"They took him out," Mrs. Labrecque said. "He wasn't breathing. We couldn't feel a heartbeat. I knew he was dead. His forehead was cold and his lips were blue. Eugene must have been down inside that hopper for 20 minutes. I'd given up hope."

But Denis hadn't. He clawed the barley from Eugene's open mouth and started applying mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

Denis worked over his brother about seven minutes while Reynold went for a doctor.

Finally Eugene showed signs of life. He started gasping, screaming and clawing at the air.

Dr. C. Campbell-Fowler arrived with Reynold and Eugene was taken six miles to hospital in Falher.

But the hospital did not have an instrument for clearing the boy's lungs. The only choice was to drive to Edmonton, 210 miles southeast of Falher. It was too dark for an aircraft to land.

Eugene was given a sedative and the Labrecques started toward Edmonton in a car.

They'd gone only 50 miles when an RCMP patrol stopped the speeding car. When the constable learned of the emergency he escorted them to Edmonton.

At hospital in Edmonton, doctors removed barley from Eugene's lungs and placed him in an oxygen tent.

Three days later he went home. He's okay now and, his mother said, doesn't seem to remember the accident.

TRUSTEE ELECTIONS

$2.4 Million Referendum Soon at Sooke

School trustee elections and voting on a $2,405,940 refrendum for Sooke School district will be held Dec. 10.

Sooke school board chose the second Saturday in December to put both matters to the voters, at a meeting Tuesday.

Three school board seats will be filled in the election. Ending their terms of office are trustees J. E. Pearson in the Milnes Landing zone, and Dr. H. J. Portelance and Mrs. Isobel Reader in the Belmont zone.

Nominations will be open Nov. 28.

Sooke board chairman John Bartanus has noted district principals are asking a 129 per cent increase in their principals' allowance only, not in basic salary, in current teacher salary negotiations in the district.

Salary increase asked is about 16 per cent.

RESERVES PLACED ON ISLAND

The provincial cabinet has taken another step towards development of Portland Island into Princess Margaret Marine Park.

An order-in-council, adopted last Monday but signed into law by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes Thursday, placed a Crown reserve on all streams and water-courses of Portland Island.

The island lies between Swartz Bay and Fulford Harbor and was given to Princess Margaret by the province during her visit here in the 1958 Centennial Year. Subsequently, she returned title to the province, which announced it would be developed into a marine park in her honor.

Pension Plan Office Here To Serve V.I.

The federal government has established a Canada Pension Plan office in Victoria to serve all of Vancouver Island, it was announced Wednesday.

The office is under direction of D. J. Purves and is located in the main post office building at 1230 Government.

The office will supervise mobile units which will visit other Island communities from time to time.

PORT SIMPSON PRECEDENT

Pearkes Urges Indians Develop Reserve Land

Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes Thursday showed how Indians can be as progressive as whites if they have leadership and land resources.

Speaking to B.C. Historical Association on Indian villages and historic sites he has visited, he singled out Port Simpson as an example of a progressive and modern Indian village.

Mr. Pearkes said the band has moved ahead mainly because of the natural resources on the reserve.

(Port Simpson is situated north of Prince Rupert near the mouth of the Nass River.)

"Indians log their own timber and load it aboard vessels," he said. "They also have a small sawmill which makes lumber exclusively for Indians."

RAISED $20,000

In two years, he added, the band raised $20,000 to provide and to assist their children with higher education.

He noted the difficulties facing other Indians living on reserves today is that they are confined to land too small in area for exploitation of resources.

The bands and tribes, he explained, were left with small reserves because their forefathers did not attach much value to the hinterland when the white man first came to the province.

They were mainly interested in land with an easy access to the sea, he said.

As an example, he pointed out that an Indian chief in 1791 sold to U.S. trader John Kendrick a harbor, including 15 square miles of land and all its resources, for six muskets, a boat sail, and American flag and gunpowder.

"When it came to marking out the reserves, the Indians of the time were not interested in the hinterland which today would provide them with valuable timber," he stated.

200 PRESENT

About 200 people were present at the meeting held in the Douglas Building cafeteria.

Mr. Pearkes also spoke on visits to other Indian villages including Nootka and Ahousat on Vancouver Island.

He pointed out the first settlers in B.C. were vigorous young men in search of adventure and fortune.

"They laid the foundations of this province," he said. "If we learn something about them, it will increase our national pride which we should try to do at this time."

Manpower Centres Need Men

The Canada Manpower Centres across the country are looking for manpower themselves.

Formally called the National Employment Service, it now is part of the federal manpower and immigration department.

Local manager George Bevis said the new service is building an organization which will provide professional counselling and placement service for workers and employers alike, develop new techiques for anticipating employment trends and informing people of job opportunities.

To do this, there is "a great need" for trained and skilled persons.

"The manpower division is looking for university graduates in arts, commerce, business administration, social sciences and other faculties," he said.

"The qualifications that all need is to be alert, talented, energetic people who will train for the varied and exacting tasks the division has to perform."

New officers are needed in almost all of the more than 200 manpower offices across the country.

Mr. Bevis said maximum salaries range to about $15,000.

High Voltage Victim Improves In Hospital Here

A man severely burned when his metal ladder touched a power line Wednesday is reported in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today.

Gordon Skogstad, 515 Selkirk, suffered burns to his hands and feet when the ladder he and his partner were moving touched the line beside the Carlyle Apartments in the 300 block Oswego.

Skogstad and William Dingley, 651 Fairways, had just finished installing a downspout on the apartment building.

Dingley was released after treatment at hospital for shock.

Mr. and Mrs. Freeman F. King—celebrating their golden wedding anniversary today.

Popular Local Couple Wed 50 Years Today

It's a very special day for well-known Victorians Mr. and Mrs. Freeman F. (Skipper) King, 541 McKenzie Avenue. Fifty years ago today, the couple was married in St. Saviour's Church, Folkestone, Hunt, England, by Rev. A. E. Day.

Mr. and Mrs. King came to Canada in 1918 to settle in the prairies, and moved to the west coast in 1924 to live in Sidney. They have made their home in Saanich since 1944.

Mr. King is well-known for his work with the Victoria Natural History Society, of which he is a past president. Presently, he's chairman of the junior branch.

Recently, the Girl Guides Association of Canada honored Mrs. King by presenting her with a life membership; she's served the organization in various capacities for 43 years. Mrs. King has just retired as district commissioner for Saanich and several weeks ago was presented with a gold thanks badge by the district Brownies in recognition of her service.

The couple, celebrating their anniversary quietly at home, has three daughters; Mrs. R. W. Prette (Grace) of Ottawa; Mrs. O. Kolke (Gwen) of Los Angeles, and Mrs. W. Doyle (Kathleen) of Shawnigan Lake They also have 10 grandchildren.

Donate $25 to Veterans

The sum of $25 was donated to the Veterans' Hospital to sponsor a bingo game for the patients' entertainment by the Maj. John Hebden Gillespie Chapter IODE. This was announced by services convener Mrs. F. J. Adams at the recent meeting in the Upper Terrace home of Mrs. C. R. Stein.

In her report, Mrs. Adams also noted that toys, to the value of $17.38, had been bought to send to the Indian school at Nahanni Butte. She also mentioned that chapter members had made three quilts and 15 nursery bags, and that 36 books and magazines had been sent to seamen in Nanaimo and Chemainus.

Named to the nomination committee were Mrs. J. D. Horne, Mrs. D. M. Trew and Mrs. J. B. Speck.

A resume of the recent semi-annual provincial meeting, held in Chilliwack, was given by regent Mrs. H. L. Woolison.

Byers, received a corsage of dark pink carnations, and the groom-elect's mother, white carnations en corsage. Games were played and refreshments served. Miss Byers cut a shower cake which was decorated with large pink roses and inscribed with "Showers of Happiness to Sylvia and John." WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

Q. Is there any way to stop nails look, but I don't know how nails look, but I dont know how to stop it. I bite my nails without knowing I am doing it. I only see the result later on.

A. Nail biting is a nervous habit, so try to calm down. For more practical help have a professional manicure once a week. After paying for it and seeing how much better the nails look, most women hesitate to bite off the glamor. There are also products on the market which can be applied to the nails and which will remind you when you begin to bite. Ask your nearest drugstore about this.

Q. I keep reading that exercise both reduces and develops. I don't see how it can do both. Please enlighten me about this. I think lots of other women are confused.

A. It does sound confusing! The truth is that exercise is a normalizer of the figure, although the type of exercise is important, depending on what you wish to accomplish. Swimming is a wonderful all-round exercise. It tones the muscles and builds gentle curves and burns up calories.

As a general rule, the stretching type exercise is reducing as is the one which uses the massage idea, such as rolling back and forth on the hips. If you wish to increase a measurement, like enlarging the chest muscles to make the bust more prominent, then the strong muscular contraction is recommended. This is where the isometric exercises are helpful to the figure.

Q. What is meant by a semi-permanent rinse?

A. I suppose you refer to the rinses which are not permanent dyes but which last through a number of shampoos.

Q. Will false eyelashes make a woman's real eyelashes fall out?

A. There is no evidence that this would happen. Thousands of women wear them and still have their eyelashes.

Q. I get seven hours sleep almost every night. I feel fine, but people keep telling me that I should have at least eight hours sleep. How about that?

A. People differ in the amount of sleep they require. If you feel fine with seven hours, then it's probably all right for you. I think the average person may need eight for best performance, but as I say, folks differ greatly in this way.

Plan a Family Feast With These 'Birds'

By Penny Saver

Until yesterday, I thought for sure that our postman had forgotten that I existed. Nothing, not even the usual onslaught of bills, has touched my mail box for ages. I had to laugh at the letter I received from my sister. She went into elaborate details to tell me about the family feast she prepared for 28 people. It took her a whole week to plan and bake and cook her dinner. The highlight of the lavish meal was roast goose, something that I've been too "chicken" to try.

I always choose something conventional that I can't possibly make into an absolute mess, especially when I'm planning for a houseful of people. The easier to make, the better.

I found the ideal roast to grace my table at the next gathering of the Saver clan. This is a turkey roast. It has no legs or wings and no cavities to stuff with dressing. Just thaw these birds as you would any other frozen roast and pop them in the oven.

All the work is taken out of these roasts. They come with a prepared giblet gravy so you need not worry about that. Price by the pound is 69 cents.

I must pass the word on to my unfortunate sister. The image I see of her leaving a cozy bed at about 6 in the morning to stuff and tie a flock of geese for a family feast is just too much to bear!

Something that our family is "nutty" about is, of course, assorted nuts. We have our own nutcracker symphony during television hours. Our nut bowl has been overflowing lately with walnuts, filberts, Brazil nuts and almonds that I found selling for 53 cents the pound. If your family has a taste for nuts, try tnese.

Planning a bountiful feast? Give Penny a call at 382-3131 and she'll tell you where she shopped for these foods.

New Officers Installed

In an impressive candlelight ceremony, Wednesday evening, Mrs. E. Taylor was installed as president of the Victoria Credit Women's Breakfast Club.

Also installed at the annual banquet, held in the Red Lion Motor Inn, were Miss Donna Lowe, first vice-president; Mrs. F. Pilon, second; Mrs. Isabelle McClure, secretary and Mrs. A. Attree, treasurer. The ceremony was conducted by junior past president Mrs. Betty Bell.

Appointed as committee chairmen were Miss Jessie Duff, social; Mrs. K. Price and Mrs Geoff Ellis, bulletin; Miss Judy Cochrane, historian; Mrs. Eveline Ward, chaplain; Mrs. P. Dye, finance; Miss Ivy Burwood, pin and emblem; Miss Vidie Ovenden, publicity; Miss Audrey Harness, parliamentarian, and Mrs. W. Woodley, conference.

Mrs. Taylor initiated four new members at the banquet: Mrs. P. Dye, Mrs. D. Flood, Miss Toby McFarlane and Mrs. Ethel Stark.

The retiring board members were introduced by retiring president Mrs. Elizabeth Ward and presented with gifts.

She also introduced special guests Mr. and Mrs. Geoff Ellis and Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Smith, co-owners of the Victoria Credit Bureau; Mrs. Winnie Holmes, a charter member and Miss Kay Knapton, life member. Miss Harness brought greetings from the Victoria Credit Granters' Association.

FOR FAIR IN ST. SAVIOUR'S HALL

Gretna Green Comes to Victoria

The room over a blacksmith's shop was the setting for the first services of St. Saviour's Anglican Church, held 75 years ago. To celebrate the church's 75th birthday, the Women's Auxiliary is going to turn the parish hall at the corner of Henry Street and Catherine Street into a blacksmith's shop for a "Gretna Green" Fair, Saturday, November 5.

Years ago, when there was an age ban on marriages in England and Scotland, there was a place just across the Scottish border which was apparently exempt from the ban — people of all ages could marry, just by asking.

The handiest place for the ceremony at Gretna Green was the old blacksmith shop; the anvil did double-duty as an altar.

To carry out this idea, the tea room at the fair will be decorated for a wedding, while in the main hall, the stage will be set with anvils, hammers and tongs, and even saddles and bridles.

Among the stalls to be featured are home baking, delicatessen, candy and fancywork, with a special booth for the youngsters. Mrs. J. A. Robertson, who is the daughter of a pioneer blacksmith, will open the fair at 2 p.m.

DEAR ABBY . . .

It's Getting Too Close for Comfort

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a married man who teaches school. I drive my car every day. A young woman teacher asked me to drive her home after school on the first day, and ever since she has asked for a ride home every day.

It's not out of my way, and I don't mind so much that she has never offered to put in any gas, but I think it looks bad. You know what people start thinking when they see a man and young woman together all the time.

If I am a little late, she waits for me. If I leave early, she hurries to go with me. How can I get rid of her without insulting her? I'm afraid there has been talk already.

ON THE SPOT.

DEAR ON: I don't agree that because a man gives a young woman a ride every day, people will talk. But if YOU do, then tell the lady that, silly as it is, people are talking, so the two-party car pool will have to be dissolved. I can't guarantee that she won't be "insulted," but your only alternative is to become permanently trapped.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter went away to college and before she left I bought her a beautiful wardrobe. She recently wrote me a letter saying she needs some new clothes because she has been dating the same boy for the last two months and he has seen all her dresses. How should I answer her?

MANKATO MOM.

DEAR MOM: Tell her to get another boy friend and start over.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a rest home where about 75 per cent of the patients are senile. They tell their families that we don't feed them, or bathe them, and that we steal from them. Abby, some folks actually believe these stories. Don't they realize that these old folks aren't mentally all there at times?

Five minutes after they have cursed us and have even tried to strike us, they are hugging and kissing us, having forgotten all they've said and done. Please print this so the families of these poor old souls will realize that if we didn't love and understand them we wouldn't be working here.

"UNDERSTANDS."

DEAR UNDERSTANDS: Orchids to you, and to others who continue to work in places where this type of understanding is so desperately needed. I agree, the only way to handle those who are not responsible for their actions, be they senile or mentally ill, is to love them, love them, love them.

DEAR ABBY: That young working wife who didn't have time to call her mother, because her mother kept her on the phone for at least 20 minutes, sure burned me up. She should be in my shoes. My mother has been dead for 18 years, and if I only could, I'd call her every day and twice on Sundays no matter how busy I was. Sincerely,

CYNTHIA G.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Almond Porcupine Rolls

One envelope (¼ oz.) active dry yeast, or 1 cake (3-5 oz.) compressed yeast, ¼ cup warm water, 1½ cups milk, ½ cup butter or margarine, sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1½ teaspoons ground cardamon, about 5½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, blanched slivered almonds, cinnamon (optional), 1 egg, beaten.

Sprinkle yeast over water; stir until dissolved. Let stand five minutes. Scald milk in small saucepan; stir in butter, ½ cup sugar, salt and cardamon. Pour into large bowl; cool to lukewarm. Stir in yeast and flour, a little at a time, beating well to make a soft dough. Let dough rise about 1½ hours, covered, in warm place (80 to 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk.

Punch dough down; turn onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic; add a little more flour if needed. Divide dough in two parts; roll each into a 14x10-inch rectangle. Sprinkle each with 1/3 cup almonds, two teaspoons sugar and one teaspoon cinnamon. Roll up jelly-roll-fashion.

With sharp knife, divide each roll into 10 slices. Lay slices, even sides up, on greased cookie sheets, about two inches apart. Make deep depression crosswise through centre with handle of spoon. (When you take the handle away, cut-sides of roll will meet on top and the almonds will show here and there along edges.) Stick about five almonds part way into the depression just far enough so they will stay in place.

Brush rolls carefully with egg; let rise in warm place until light about 45 minutes. Bake at 425 degrees 10 minutes or until golden brown. Remove to rack.

Makes 20 rolls.

FATHER OFFICIATES

Ruth Hamill Married In Kelowna Ceremony

A wedding of interest to many Victorians took place last Saturday in First Baptist Church, Kelowna when Ruth Evelyn Hamill, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. A. C. Hamill, now of Kelowna and formerly of Victoria, became the bride of John Richard Marshall, Victoria, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. A. Marshall of Maple Bay. The bride's father officiated at the ceremony.

Baskets of chrysanthemums in autumn tones of yellow and bronze decorated the church. The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother Roy Hamill to the strains of "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven." The recessional was "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." During the ceremony, the congregation sang "O Father, All Creating," and while the couple signed the register, soloist Barry Patterson sang "Wedding Prayer" and "O Perfect Love." Mrs. C. Buzzell was organist.

Cut velvet starred the bodice of the bride's floor-length gown of white peau de soie. The empire-line bodice featured a scoop neckline and elbow-length sleeves. An organza rosette headpiece, accented with seed pearls, held her four-tier, shoulder-length veil. Her cascade bouquet was of white roses and pink and white carnations.

The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Donald Goodman, New Westminster, was in a floor-length gown of peau de soie in tangerine tones. A coronet held her matching veiling. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums.

Arthur Sutherland, Victoria, was best man, and ushering the guests was the bride's brother, Roy Hamill.

Tiny orange chrysanthemums flanked the three-tier wedding cake at the reception following in the home of the bride's parents. Arthur Sutherland proposed the toast to the bride.

For travelling on honeymoon to Hawaii and California, the new Mrs. Marshall chose a three-piece suit of wool in beige tone, with fur trim. She complemented her ensemble with beige and black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

When they return, the newlyweds will make their home in Victoria.

Victorians travelling to Kelowna for the wedding were Mrs. J. Stansby and Mr. and Mrs. A. Sutherland. Other out-of-town guests included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Marshall, and Mr. and Mrs. D Garbutt, all of Maple Bay; Mrs. D. Campbell, Squamish; Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Pike of Mission, B.C.; Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Robertson of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. D. Goodman of New Westminster, and Mrs. D. McLennan, Edmonton.

Hmm . . . Delicious

Mouths will water when they see the turkey pies that will be sold at one of the stalls when the Evening Branch Woman's Auxiliary of St. Martin's-in-the-Field Church holds its annual bazaar in the parish hall, Obed Avenue, next Friday from 2 to 4:30 p.m. Other stalls will feature sewing, novelties, home cooking and candy. Afternoon tea will be served. General conveners are Mrs. S. Averill, Mrs. R. Groves and Mrs. B. P. Harding.

Price Probers to Hear Manufacturer's Story

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP)—The parliamentary probe into high food costs has narrowed the field to one class of businessmen—the food processors and manufacturers. Everyone else has pleaded not guilty.

Agriculture department witnesses testified farmers are getting a smaller share of the consumer dollar now than they have any time in the recent past.

The corporate - owned chain supermarkets testified their profit margins have not increased. Wholesalers supplying other supermarkets and grocery stores of all sizes testified they are operating on quick turn over and narrow profit margins.

This leaves the food processors and manufacturers to defend themselves. Witnesses for the H. J. Heinz Co. and Gerber's baby foods testify next week.

Aime Boisvert of Couvrette and Provost Ltd., Montreal-based wholesale distributor, said Thursday food prices rank low on the scale of values that determines where a housewife will do her shopping.

According to repeated surveys, the housewife looks for store cleanliness and freshness of perishable products first, then for a wide variety of goods offered, convenience and comfort, and courtesy and personal attention.

Mr. Boisvert said, however, that at present—while housewives are participating in supermarket boycotts and have otherwise aroused heightened interest in prices—the value factor may have moved up the scale to third place.

He said housewives may need education in shopping for good value. They should judge the value of a package of food not on price alone, but on price-per-serving, or price - per ounce. Under questioning, he said this is a tangle mathematical process and steps should be taken to make it easier.

One step that may emerge from the committee hearings would be to limit the variety of packaged foods. If standard sizes are adopted by the food industry, or imposed on the industry by law, it would be easier for shoppers to judge value against price.

'Let Women Take Over' Says Dealer

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—A food-store chain has offered to turn over a store to any group of protesting housewives which would be willing to make good any losses in operation.

William Stewart, vice-president of Hudson Stores Inc., which owns Piggly-Wiggly and Three Boys markets, said today: "We're serious about this offer. It may be that the women are right and they can show us something."

He added: "Frankly, many housewives are under the misapprehension that there is a greater margin of mark-up than meets the eye."

Stewart said the firm was willing to let the women keep any profits they made, but would require them to make good any losses. Stewart made the offer through an ad in local newspapers.

He said they could operate the store for what he called "a reasonable length of time."

NOT SIMPLE

"They would discover that it is not as simple as it sounds," he said. "We maintain they won't make any excessive profits."

Mrs. Judson Smith, chairman of a group calling itself Women for Lower Prices, said:

"We're not going to take them up on the offer. We don't pretend to understand marketing."

Mrs. Smith's group says it is boycotting six stores, including the Hudson Stores, demanding that prices be lowered 10 per cent.

Non-Food Purchases Boost Cost

OTTAWA (CP) — Many housewives who complain about their high weekend bills at supermarket checkout counters don't realize the number of non-grocery items they are buying, a supermarket wholesaler said Thursday.

D. J. Hamm, president of Atlantic Wholesalers Ltd., which supplies fresh produce, packaged groceries and other items to 16 Red and White, Save-Easy and Lucky Dollar stores in the Maritime provinces cited the case of one irate housewife.

She complained that the cash register tape on one shopping visit added up to $8.60, when "she couldn't have bought that much, she said." A fresh addition was made, and it was found she had $2.20 worth of groceries and $6.40 worth of non-food items.

"It's often a surprise to the consumer to find that non-food items add up very rapidly," Mr. Hamm told the Senate-Commons committee investigating consumer prices.

ORDER PRICE CHECK

He testified after the committee ordered an immediate spot-check of prices of popular Christmas foods, and a watch over the next two months to see that prices aren't pushed up for the holiday rush of business.

Mr. Hamm said his company discourages the stores it supplies from using trading stamps as a customer-attracting gimmick, but it has other short-term promotions which run 13 weeks and then can be dropped.

Snitching Shoppers Problem to Grocers

By SALLY RYAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Shoppers are sampling, pinching, switching snitching their ways through U.S. supermarkets these days, leaving behind a trail of empty cookie packages and licked lids.

"If we don't catch 10 people a day at breaking open packages, we're kind of disappointed," says Fred Gallant, manager of a store in Dallas.

"People switch labels on meat to get 20 or 30 cents off, mash the potatoes and pull the leaves off the lettuce," he said.

An Associated Press survey of supermarket managers and shoppers found numerous reports of melon-pinching, cookie-nibbling, jelly-tasting shoppers sampling the grocer's wares on an eat-now, pay-later (if at all) plan.

CAUSES HIGHER PRICES

The supermarkets complain it can cost them millions and contribute to higher prices.

"We've had women open a peanut butter jar and dig their fingers in it for a taste," said an Atlanta, Ga., supermarket manager.

A shopper in Atlanta said: "I even saw one woman break open a jar of preserves from a vacuum-sealed jar, lick the underside of the top and then put it back on and return it to the shelf."

A Santa Ana, Calif., market claimed it lost $1,100 in two months through the switching of meat price tags.

"A customer will take two meat packages out of the refrigerated bin, one low-prices and the other high," said an A and P manager in Dallas.

"She'll walk up and down the aisles until she's in a secluded spot and then change the labels."

Phillip White, a Dallas grocer, said some shoppers are "so picky they do more damage to the fruits and vegetables than was done in the entire shipping process."

"People will take an 89-cent sticker off a round steak and put it on a $1.59-a-pound sirloin," said Bill Simmons, manager of Ralph's Market in Arcadia, Calif.

A Detroit woman with two small children said she frequently opens a box of cookies and lets the kids nibble them while she shops, but added:

"Of course I pay for the cookies on the way out."

A woman in Atlanta said she put packages her child opened back on the shelf.

"I figure I do enough shopping there for them to absorb the loss."

Students Jeer At Replica Launching

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — A copy of the boat used by Canada's discoverer — the French explorer Jacques Cartier — was christened and launched Thursday at North America's oldest shipyards.

Launching of the 78-foot Grande Hermine took place amidst the chanting and jeering of a delegation of Gaspe-born Laval University students.

Intended to serve as an attraction at next year's Monteal world fair, the ship will eventually be placed in Quebec City's Cartier-Breboeuf Park on permanent exhibition.

On his second, and most important, visit to North America, Cartier anchored in Gaspe's Natural harbor before making his way up the St. Lawrence River to Quebec City where he wintered — his crew driven to despair through disease and attacks by Indians.

She Beats Rangers In Getting Her Man

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex. (AP) — A 205-pound blonde ex-convict beat the the Texas Rangers to the draw, slipped her 95-year-old millionaire patient into Oklahoma and married him Wednesday.

Then she came back and was served with papers alleging kidnapping, but went free on $5,000 bail.

Her husband-patient is C. Otis Birch, a millionaire Californian noted for his philanthropies.

Pearl Choate, 59, who served time on a murder conviction until 1963, met Birch when she became resident nurse for him and his ailing wife 16 months ago in Pasadena, Calif. She has been married six times before and lists her occupation as "companion to the elderly," prison records show.

Baptists said Birch made his millions in oil and citrus during the early 1900s and had given millions to Baptist colleges and churches. He now is living mainly off annuities.

Baptist friends who flew here said Miss Choate shut the Birches off from the church and friends and five months ago disappeared with them.

They turned up here two months ago and Mrs. Birch, who had been operated on last spring for cancer, died Oct. 7 at the home of Miss Choate's brother.

Four days later, Birch took steps toward adopting Miss Choate and a hearing on the adoption was set for Thursday. Lawyers said Wednesday's marriage in Altus, Okla., would nulify the hearing.

Postal Unions, Cabinet Meet; New Pay Talks Set for Monday

OTTAWA (CP)—A 1½-hour meeting of cabinet ministers and postal union officials ended Thursday with both sides declining comment on progress but announcing they'll meet again next week.

In reply to a question, Revenue Minister Benson said that no consideration had been given to appointing a mediator —as was done during the postal strike last summer.

Had any progress been made in averting a possible strike next month?

The minister said "if either side felt they weren't further ahead we wouldn't be planning a further meeting."

Bill Kay, president of the 11,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers, declined to answer most questions. He said the meeting went well and that possibly both sides "understand each other a little better."

MEET UNION LEADERS

Mr. Benson said later that the treasury board, the cabinet committee he heads, also met Thursday with officials of other large civil service unions, who represent most of the 30,000 non-postal employees in the Group-D pay group.

"They asked that the 6-percent interim increase recommended by the civil service commission be increased to 8 per cent."

There are some 20,000 postal emplyees in the same pay grouping. They seek a 39-per-cent increase, half of it—about 50 cents an hour — now and the remainder after negotiations next year.

Mr. Kay's union already has been given sanction for a strike any time after Nov. 15 if pay talks break down. The 9,000-member Letter Carriers Union of Canada, headed by Roger Decarie, is polling its members for strike authority and expects results by Nov. 5.

Millions for Music

LONDON (AP)—A three-nation, multi-million-dollar project to build beat group musical instruments at Racanati, Italy, was announced here Wednesday. The project, sponsored by American, British and Italian firms, will cost about $2,800,000.

Minimum Income Plan Improved

Grits Looking for Tory Help To Pass Supplements for Aged

By MICHAEL GILLAN

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is expected to beef up its proposed program to guarantee a minimum income for the aged in an effort to win more opposition support for it.

When the plan was announced last summer, Health Minister MacEachen said it would guarantee an income of at least $105 a month to persons qualifying for the $75-a-month old age pension.

The opposition parties criticized it on the grounds it introduces a means test into the old age pension system and instead demanded that the old age pension be boosted to $100 a month.

The government still will not yield fully to opposition demands but proposals that informants say should improve the measure are ready for cabinet consideration.

PAY THE DIFFERENCE

Under the scheme as proposed at present, the government would pay pensioners the difference between their income, including the $75-a-month pension, and $105 a month.

There is speculation the government will propose supplementary benefits to provide reduced benefits on incomes between $105 up to, perhaps, $130.

At present the program is expected to cost about $225,000,000 in a year. The supplementary benefits are not expected to add substantially to this figure.

The legislation is expected to go before the Commons before the Christmas recess and, if approved by Parliament, may be operative by the new year.

It is intended as a transitional measure for persons who will not benefit from the contributory Canada Pension Plan which came into effect Jan. 1, 1966.

HAZERS FACE JUDGE

BOLOGNA, Italy (AP) — Four upper-class men at the staid 12th century University of Bologna got a roasting Wednesday because they made things too hot for a freshman.

They forced him to sit bare-bottomed over eight lighted candles during a hazing ceremony.

The scorched newcomer was not amused. He complained to police that he had suffered severe burns.

The upper-class men, all in their 20s, were convicted of private violence and sentenced to 20 days in jail. The sentences were suspended.

Lin and Army Get H-Missile Prestige

By VIRGIL BERGER

PEKING (Reuters)—Huge columns of demonstrators today marched through Peking with red banners, streamers and portraits of Communist Chairman Mao Tse-tung to celebrate China's first guided missile nuclear test.

Soon after the early morning announcement of the test, Peking streets began to echo with the sound of drum beats and clashing cymbals and gongs.

Jubilant Communist officials handed out special editions of the People's Daily, printed entirely in red, with headlines proclaiming "successful explosion of first guided missile nuclear weapon is a great victory for thought of Mao Tse-tung and a splendid success for the great proletarian cultural revolution."

The Peking communique gave no details about the strength or type of the missile, how far it flew or the composition of its warhead.

Contrary to announcements at the site of China's three previous nuclear tests, it did not state what time Thursday's explosion took place or what region of China was used.

TO OPPOSE BLACKMAIL

The communique said China was developing nuclear weapons to oppose nuclear monopoly and blackmail by the U.S. and Russia "acting in collusion."

Most of the demonstrators converged on offices of the Communist party central committee and streets in the area were soon blocked by dense crowds.

They shouted slogans and quotations from Mao's writings while truckloads of uniformed troops, also singing and shouting, drove with flags and Mao portraits up and down the capital's broad main boulevard.

Observers here believed the test announcement will give a big boost to the prestige of defence minister Lin Piao and his supporters in the Communist party leadership as well as to the army. The communique said complete success of the test was ensured "by the Chinese Peoples' Liberation Army and China's scientists and technicians."

Not only was the army thus placed ahead of the scientists, but both were stated to be in the first place "enthusiasically responding to the call of Lin Piao" and in second place "holding high the great red banner of Mao Tse - tung's thought," studying and applying his works—though Lin Piao's call itself dealt with the need for more study of Mao's writings.

HONG KONG (Reuters) Communist China's leap forward in the nuclear field is believed to have been masterminded by two Western - trained physicists.

They are Chien San-chiang, head of the Institute of Atomic Energy, and Wang Kan-chang, who is probably the man directing the Chinese nuclear program.

Chien, who received his doctor's degree from the University of Paris, once worked with Joliet Curie in France. Western scientists describe him as one of the most eminent nuclear physicists in the world today.

Wang, a specialist in fission processes, received his doctor's degree in 1943 from the University of Berlin. He did research work at the University of California and later studied at the Soviet Institute of Nuclear Research at Dubna, near Moscow.

They have under them a small but brilliant group, including theoretical physicis hu Ning, who got his doctorate in philosophy from the California Institute of Technology and Chu Hunyuan, who received his doctor's degree from Manchester University in England.

DETECTED EXPLOSION

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission said it had detected an explosion in the central area of the Lop Nor testing site in Singkiang province. It said it was in the low to low - intermediate range (20,000 tons to 200,000-to-1,000,000 tons). The Hiroshima bomb was about 20,000 tons.

The AEC said it had no evidence to confirm or deny the Chinese claim of using a missile to deliver the nuclear warhead. Other U.S. officials noted that Defence Secretary McNamara predicted last year that Peking might have nuclear strike capability of 500-700 miles by early 1967.

A missile capable of delivering a nuclear warhead that distance could pose a threat to nationalist-held Formosa, Thailand or Okinawa, the big U.S. military fortress 400 miles off the China coast.

It also would bring neighboring India, bested by China in a border war four years ago, and the Soviet Union, with which China's relations grow steadily worse, under a nuclear gun from next door.

U.S. Anglicans 'To Re-Think Its Position'

WHEELING, W.Va. (AP) — Episcopal (Anglican) bishops have voted to form a council of some of the top theological minds in the United States to "re-think . . . and renew" the church's position for "life in the world today."

A church spokesman likened the council to "a sort of ecumenical council for the Episcopal Church" made up of lay and clerical members. He described the action as a "revolutionary step."

The bishops said: ". . . These times call for a major re-examination by our Church not only of its theological stance but also of its structure, worship and total life."

The House of Bishops, concluding a week - long meeting here, voted Thursday to have presiding bishop John E. Hines form the council and instruct it to report back at the next meeting of the House of Bishops in Seattle, Wash., next October.

The statement concluded a week of debate over basic principles of theological beliefs held by Bishop James A. Pike of California.

BISHOP CENSURED

Only two days before, Bishop Pike was censured by his colleagues for some "cheap vulgarizations of great expressions of faith."

During the closing moments of the meeting, Bishop Pike persuaded the House of Bishops to adopt a statement on the Viet Nam war. But when it was finally approved, the harsher parts of the statement were eliminated.

The resolution commended "our leaders for their efforts to bring an end to this conflict through negotiation."

The bishops struck from the resolution a plea to "stop . . . the escalation of the war" and to stop "bombing and military action which result in killing of non-combatants."

More Federal Aid to Farmers Stressed at Ontario Parley

VINELAND, Ont. (CP) — A second proposal for more federal aid to farmers was presented Thursday to an Ontario government - sponsored conference on agriculture.

Dr. Baldur H. Kristjanson, chairman of the Manitoba Economic Consultative Board, suggested that direct payments be made to operators of efficient family farms.

A national commission should be set up, representing consumers and all parts of the food industry, to determine how much should be paid to farmers and on what basis, Dr. Kristjanson said.

"The question is whether the family - farm system can . . . meet the needs of the market, while earning satisfactory returns to the capital invested . . ."

A similar proposal was made at the conference Wednesday by representatives of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture, who called for increasing federal payments to farmers to as much as $400,000,000 from the present $275,000,000

Dr. Kristjanson said Canada has tried price supports and deficiency payments for farmers, but none seemed to meet the needs.

He recommended appointment of a royal commission to examine the role of the agriculture and food industries in the economy. If Canadians keep taking food production for granted, they may become dependent on a few giant companies in food growing and marketing.

Women Die in Fire

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Four middle-aged women were burned to death Wednesday night in an apartment house blaze that a fire marshall said may have been deliberately set. At least six others were taken to hospital, some in critical condition, by the fire that raced through the three-storey downtown apartments.

INCLUDED IN THESE SUPERB AND VALUABLE RUGS ARE:

ISFAHANS with its medallion, vase, and flower design known as 'Shab Abbassi', although the famous Sixteenth Century carpets so called were probably made in Herat.

TABRIZ is an ancient capital of Iran. It was here that the beautiful hunting carpets were woven. No other district has used such a wide range of colours or design. Silk is sometimes used in the finer speciments.

DJOSHEGHAN. The rugs of this district have the vase design, but they are simpler than those of Tabriz or Isfahan.

KASHANS. This is a very important weaving centre. Medallion and prayer designs predominate and are woven both in wool and silk.

KERMAN. The yarn of this weaving centre is soft. The designs are mostly medallion, and trees and flowers. The colors are beautifully blended and are particularly suitable for European furnishings.

FERAHAN is woven with the Sehna knot and has enjoyed great popuarity in Europe and America.

KHORASSAN. The stitch of these carpets are finer than those of Ferahan, but the wool is softer and not as durable as the latter.

HERAT. The most common design of these carpets is the recurring leaf and small rosettes. The ground shade is usually dark blue and the finer specimens generally have a soft green border. Knot: Ghiordes or Sehna.

SARUK. The style here is very close to that of the Keshan carpets. The construction is strong with a very deep pile. Knot: Sehna.

SEHNA. This is the district after which the famous Iranian knot gets its name. The carpets are finely woven in small Herat and cone designs. The pile is very short and the rugs are finely woven.

QUOMS, SILK VARAMINS. The famous four seasons of the year included in this exhibition.

Merger Talks With B.C. Urged

FAIRVIEW, Alta. (CP)—Annexation of the Yukon and the Northwest Territories by British Columbia and Alberta has been proposed by the chairman of the Northern Alberta Development Council.

A. O. Fimrite, also Social Credit member of the Alberta legislature for Spirit River, made the proposal in an address to the Mighty Peace Tourists Association.

Mr. Fimrite proposed annexation as a lever to pry Alaska and Mackenzie Highway paving commitments from the federal government.

He added in his address Tuesday there is a growing awareness in the two territories tha amalgamation with the provinces would bring "better legislation."

Representations for annexation must come from the territories as "the provincial governments have not pressured for the Yukon and Northwest Territories yet," Mr. Fimrite said.

The federal government was using a report, which recommended not paving the Alaska Highway now, as an "excuse to do nothing," he said.

Future Plans Unknown Says UBC Head

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. John B. Macdonald, who resigned Wednesday as president of the University of British Columbia, said Thursday he has no immediate plans for the future.

"I would like to get into a position in education—preferably in Canada—where I can be involved in decision-making in respect to the policies of higher education in the country," he said in an interview.

"There is nothing more to add about my resignation. I have given a thorough and straightforward explanation."

He said he had no plans to attend a student rally today at the university to consider his resignation.

Labor Problems Need Hard Look House Told

By BOB MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—The spotlight shifted from housing to labor problems in the Commons Thursday with both Liberal and opposition MPs suggesting a good, hard look at the current labor situation.

David Lewis, deputy House leader of the NDP, suggested the government set up special machinery to handle strikes in the transportation field before the next crisis arises.

Warren Allmand (L — Montreal Notre-Dame-de-Grace) said the question of labor disputes, especially strikes in essential services, requires a frank discussion without the use of "Cliches and stereotype answers."

The debate took place during consideration of labor department estimates which had been before the House on three previous occasions. Debate continued until the House adjourned and the estimates remain as the first topic of debate today.

Earlier, the House gave first reading to National Housing Act amendments which would increase the aggregate amount of loans insurable by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. and widen areas for loans for student housing, rental housing and sewage-treatment plants.

Mr. Lewis, a veteran labor lawyer from the Toronto riding of York South, said it is "not always possible to strike for as long as the labor partner in the situation may like," especially when the interests of society "require that a strike be ended before damage which might be irreparable is done."

But this did not justify compulsory arbitration, he added.

"The process of collective bargaining dies" when compulsory arbitration becomes statutory.

He suggested a separate transport labor act providing labor department staff trained in railway matters to assist in bargaining, conciliation and mediation.

The issue of injunctions against pickets was raised by Mr. Lewis and Ralph B. Cowan (L—York - Humber), both of whom urged that they be abolished in labor disputes.

Creditiste Leader Real Caouette and Gilles Gregoire (Ind—Lapointe) charged that the Canada Labor Relations Board discriminated against Quebec unions in its refusal to break up country - wide bargaining units in the case of CBC and CPR employees voting to join the Qutbec-based Confederation of National Trade Unions.

DRAFT BOARD

Lynda Bird's Boy Friend Gets Call

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Actor George Hamilton, favorite escort of President Johnson's daughter, Lynda, has been ordered by his draft board to report for a physical examination.

Selective service headquarters confirmed the action Thursday night and said it was requested by Air Force Col. Paul V. Akst, director of the New York City selective service.

The physical examination will be held "within two months." Hamilton is currently in Germany making a movie.

A selective service spokesman said the order does not necessarily mean that Hamilton is about to be inducted into the armed forces.

He said the action is due to the drain on the manpower pool because of the Viet Nam war and the recent decision by the government to dip into the 26 to 35-year-old age group of registered men.

Hamilton is classified 3A, meaning a hardship case. The hardship is based on Hamilton's support of his mother. Hamilton is 27.

The spokesman said in the event that Hamilton cannot report for the examination at the place and time ordered by his draft board, a new time and place can be set "upon presentation of satisfactory evidence."

The spokesman said the order to Hamilton is included in other orders sent to some 40,000 men.

He said the order does not mean a change in classification for Hamilton but there will be a "complete review" of his status and his claim of haedship.

KOSYGIN TO VISIT FRANCE

PARIS (UPI)—Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin will pay an official visit to France in the first half of December, it was officially announced Thursday.

The trip could coincide with the winter strategy session of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, scheduled to be held in Paris during the same time period.

The state visit was first announced by President Charles de Gaulle's office. Shortly afterwards it was confirmed by a dispatch from the Soviet news agency Tass.

Both announcements said Kosygin's trip to Paris would be followed with visits by Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and Communist Party Secretary Leonid I. Brezhnev in 1967.

Released 'Lifer' Faces New Prison Sentence

DETROIT (AP)—I've got to go back there and face the music or I'll have no peace of mind," says 66-year-old Roy Logan.

"Back there" is Georgia, where the possibility exists that Logan could face years of confinement in addition to the 42 he spent in a Michigan prison.

Logan won release last month from a life-term sentence imposed in 1924 in the slaying of his Highland Park, Mich., sweetheart.

Still hanging over Logan is a Georgia warrant charging him with excape from a prison camp in 1923 when at age 23 he had just begun a 10-year sentence for armed robbery, a crime he insists he didn't commit.

He says he wants to waive extradition and wipe his slate clean.

Logan stopped by Wednesday to visit Circuit Judge Joseph A. Sullivan, the jurist who granted his motion for a new murder trial on the grounds he wasn't advised of his rights when he signed a confession and that he saw his court-appointed lawyer for the first time the day his original trial began.

In his new trial, Logan pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Because the maximum sentence for manslaughter is 15 years and Logan already had served almost three times that, Judge Sullivan was ready to suspend sentence.

But Logan asked for probation "to get adjusted." The judge placed him on probation for five years, and Logan shuffled off to live in a Salvation Army residence on a city welfare stipend, pending his winning a state old-age pension.

Lawyer Joe B. Sullivan, who won Logan a new trial last Sept. 15, said he was stunned, adding: "I'm convinced Roy could have successfully fought extradition."

Jury Rules Out Any Negligence

Inquest Rejects Suggestion Against Police in Death of Saanich Resident

A coroner's jury Thursday night rejected a suggestion of police negligence in the suicide death of a Saanich man three weeks ago.

The jury ruled the man died Oct. 6 from an overdose of sleeping pills. No fault could be attributed to any other person.

Police action in the case had been questioned in a letter to Coroner Edmond St. Jorre by Frank Hilton, 1540 Charlton Road.

Mr. Hilton suggested police handling of the case had been inadequate and said the dead man had too liberal access to drugs.

The inquest was told that Mr. Hilton's son Frank had told Det. Charles Trueit that his friend was contemplating suicide. The detective offered to accompany Frank Hilton to see him, but the youth persuaded him not to do so

Frank Hilton said he did not want his friend to know he had gone to the police because this would be betraying a trust.

Instead the officer and youth drove to the friend's house where Trueit instructed Hilton to see how he was. The detective told the boy he would wait 15 minutes and if there was any problem, to come and get him.

When Hilton did not return, Detective Trueit left after a quarter of an hour. Later that afternoon, he said he passed the house and on seeing Hilton's car still there, assumed nothing was wrong.

Before parting with Hilton, the officer told him he could be reached at the police station if needed. And when he went off duty at 5 p.m. that day, he told officers replacing him of the circumstances of the case, Trueit told the coroner's jury.

Detective Jack Stone described how he and another officer had found the doors locked at the house when a telephone call from Hilton Sr. summoned them there about 10:15 p.m.

A dresser jammed against the bedroom door from the inside had to be forced aside, he said. A total of 49 pills were found in a saucer beside the dead man's bed.

A doctor said he had first treated the deceased in 1955 for a "psychiatric upset." A psychiatrist diagnosed schizophrenia, a split personality condition.

The deceased had been getting regular prescriptions of sleeping pills this year "which could have been stockpiled."

Police had to exercise caution in entering private homes, the coroner said in summing up the case. He added that new legislation did allow officers to arrest without a warrant where they were convinced a person intended to take his own life.

Observatory Visitors World-Wide

More than 25,000 men, women and children visited the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory last summer.

They came from all parts of Canada and the United States and from as far afield as India, Greece, Mexico, Germany, Malaysia, Russia, Norway and Denmark.

"More than 12,000 visitors signed their names in our guest register," said Dr. Kenneth Wright, director of the observatory. "In our experience only 50 or 60 per cent of visitors bother to sign the register."

Dr. Wright said huge number of visitors to the observatory is indicative of the growing public interest in outer space.

At the Saturday night viewings, astronomers focussed the telescopes on clusters of stars which are surrounded by clouds of gas and offered close-ups of the moon.

Visitors had a chance to look through the largest telescope at the observatory, which contains a mirror 72 inches in diameter.

Fund for Wales From Islanders Now Near $500

A Victoria fund to assist the stricken Welsh village of Aberfan is now approaching the $500 mark.

"We have had donations from all over Vancouver Island," said Mrs. Phyllis Hill, president of Victoria Cymrodorion Society.

"Our original objective was $1,000, but other cities of Canada have given so generously, we don't feel we should put any limit on our appeal."

Donations may be sent to the Aberfan Fund, care of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, Douglas and Cormorant, or to Mrs. Phyllis Hill at 3520 Lorraine Road, Victoria.

Mrs. Hill is also receiving applications from Victorians wishing to attend the Welsh Song Festival in Vancouver, Sunday, Nov. 6.

The festival will be held in the Cambrian Hall, 17th Avenue and Main. There will be a private bus from Victoria.

Businesses Organized For Gas War

Letters to area MLAs and Premier Bennett will be sent following a meeting of businessmen Thursday night organized by the local branch of the Canadian Restaurant Association.

The letters will "protest the discrimination" in gas rates between Victoria and the lower mainland, said William Webb, president of the restaurant association here.

He also said briefs are being prepared for presentation soon to the cabinet.

Local businessmen say butane gas from B.C. Hydro costs more than twice the amount for natural gas in the Vanncouver area.

Mr. Webb said Nanaimo's rates are 65 per cent lower than Victoria for Hydro users.

Tight Money Bids Rejected By Aldermen

Victoria council Thursday declined all tenders for the sale of an issue of debentures.

The rejection was made on the advice of city treasurer James Bramley, who said the best price of 94.6 per $100 bond yielding 6 per cent was not high enough.

Mr. Bramley said he felt the city could get a better price if it waited until the spring when the money situation was expected to be a little easier.

The treasurer stressed that he was not forecasting a better situation in the spring but merely repeating the best financial advice available.

He said that even a slight improvement in the money situation could mean between $6,000 and $7,000 to the city.

In the light of present conditions Mr. Bramley said the offers received by the city were good and reflected high confidence in the city's financial position.

Bond and debenture dealers in the city agreed.

They said the bids were extremely good considering the present financial situation and that the yield rate was lower than that offered by most eastern cities.

They also agreed that financial houses consider Victoria a first-class investment.

Edmonton Firm to Build Bastion Shop, Cafe Complex

Work is expected to start shortly on the renovation of the Board of Trade Building on Bastion Square.

Victoria city council Thursday unanimously approved the sale of the building for $37,000 to MacNab Enterprises Ltd.

After conducting extensive engineering tests the company is expected to give the bulding a modern interior while retaining the outside shell.

Though definite plans have not yet been revealed it is understood the building will eventually house carefully selected stores, a restaurant and possibly a lounge.

The company making the purchase is well known in Victoria as the builders of the Lord and Lady Simcoe highrise apartment blocks.

The Board of Trade building is the second major building on the square to be earmarked for interior face lifting.

Earlier this year an option was taken on the purchase of the old Burnes House hotel which is to become an English-style public house and dining room.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Association

South starts with eight top tricks in a three no-trump contract. With luck in both black suits he can make 11. Neither black suit breaks and if South just goes after them he will be held to his top eight.

Opening lead—♦ Q

When the hand was actually played East was allowed to hold the first trick with the king of diamonds and West the diamond return. South won the third diamond and led his four of spades to dummy's ten. East won with the jack but now South had four spade tricks and his contract.

West criticized East's play of the jack. He was right. East should have ducked. Obviously his jack was going to remain a trick because South's only dummy entry was the spade queen. A watching expert told West: "East was wrong but when you led the third diamond you gave South the hand, provided he knew how to play it the rest of the way."

The expert pointed out that South could lead back his last diamond. West would be in. If he cashed the fifth diamond East would have to discard for the third time and would throw away his last heart. After that South would squeeze East by leading the ace of hearts. If West led the queen of hearts instead of cashing the last diamond South could win, play his queen of spades, continue with ace-king-queen and a small club and force East to lead away from the jack of spades.

West remarked, "Then there was no defence available."

"Yes, there was," said the expert. "When you won the second diamond you could lead a low spade. It would be up to your partner to play low. Later on you would win a heart or diamond trick and lead a second spade to break up all squeezes and end plays."

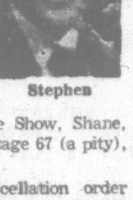
Andy Stephen Looks at TV

The rise and fall of television programs depend on 1,100 machines, called audimeters, attached to TV receivers in homes across the United States. These 1,100 audimeters record the tuning "off" and "on" of a set and the changing of channels. They can change the minds of the networks and do.



Stephen

For instance, the second audience ratings report by the A. C. Nielsen Co., was released this week to show that the series on the bottom of the rung, covering the two weeks ending Oct. 9, was The Tammy Grimes Show. It was cancelled posthaste.

Other shows at the bottom of the heap are 12 o'Clock High, The Tuesday CBS News Hour, The Garry Moore Show, Shane, I've Got a Secret, Andy Williams, ABC Stage 67 (a pity), Milton Berle and Hawk.

ABC-TV has already put the cancellation order through on 12 o'Clock High, Hawk and Shane. CBS-TV has put the skids under The Jean Arthur Show.

The Andy Williams Show at the bottom of the heap is a big surprise. NBC-TV consider this a freak since the show's competition during the ratings period included a Carol Burnett special and a Doris Day movie.

Usually the competition is Candid Camera, What's My Line or the ABC Movie. By the same token, CBS doesn't worry much about its Tuesday night news report and more often than not the network brags about the fact it has the only weekly news program in prime time.

Green Acres, Bonanza, Bob Hope, Red Skelton, Andy Griffith, The Lucy Show, NBC's Saturday Movie and Rat Patrol (tied for seventh), Jackie Gleason and a tie for tenth place among three World Series Games, Walt Disney Presents and ABC's Sunday Movie make up the top ten list.

Among the top ten of the new shows introduced in September are Rat Patrol, Family Affair, Occasional Wife, Iron Horse, Felony Squad, Hey, Landlord, Tarzan, Pistols and Petticoats, Girl From U.N.C.L.E., and Star Trek.

The networks, advertising agencies and sponsors put a lot of faith in 1,100 audimeters, not exactly a fair way to judge the viewing habits of millions.

. . . CARIBOO

cliches that came from others Thursday.

"Bonner needs to be in there, and there was no one stepping down," Mr. Speare explained his resignation, tendered Monday but kept secret.

"J just put my own personal position second to the good of the province.

"I will be a party to the campaign and I will assist Bonner in any way I can because I'm wholly convinced that he should be in the legisalture."

"I am delighted at this opportunity," said Mr. Bonner, recalling he first entered the House in a byelection in the rural riding of Columbia.

"I think frankly the experience of being in an interior riding will certainly be good for me and I hope it will be good for the riding."

"My first task will be to add to my general knowledge of the riding," he said, adding he will meet with Cariboo delegates to next week's Socred provincial convention in Vancouver.

"Some time following that I hope to get on to the ground and to work."

Mr. Strachan said "the calling of the byelection in the Cariboo constituency is an indication of the reluctance of other Social Credit elected members to resign for the purpose of providing a seat for carpetbagger Bonner.

"I know of none of Mr. Bonner's quaities that would fit him to represent the great Cariboo consituency.

MORE SUPPORT

"The increased support that our party received in the recent general election will carry over so that on election day the Cariboo constituency will be represented by a New Democratic Party member who will be a resident of the area and thus able to better understand the requirements and problems of the people."

Mr. Perrault said selection of rural riding for Mr. Bonner's attempt "is an indication that there was serious concern about the possibility about an election result in this area where he's best known."

Asked if the Liberals would contest the seat, he said he had "no comment on that aspect of it at the present time. We hope to go into the area within the next few hours and meet with the people there."

Premier Bennett, from Ottawa, issued this statement:

"I am sure all British Columbians, no matter what party they belong to, would like to see Attorney - General Bonner back in the legislature helping democratic government.

"I don't want to try to dictate to people what they should or should not do in a democracy. But people of all points of view can appreciate the value of such a man."

AT CATHEDRAL

Attentive Audience Hears Sacred Music

By PETER MATTHEWS

Sacred and secular music of several centuries filled Christ Church Cathedral Thursday night in the first of the 17th series of cathedral recitals.

Choral, organ and orchestral numbers and some featured solo voices were heard by a large audience.

The program was introduced with splendor by three trumpets (played from the west gallery) and organ. The fanfare was written by cathedral organist Richard Proudman for major processional occasions.

Martin van Kemenade, Wilf Jones and O'Neill Le Blanc were the three excellent trumpeters, with Mr. Proudman at the organ.

In both the Haydn and Handel Concertos—the first with strings, the second with strings and oboes—Mr. Proudman gave a most musicianly performance with fine and sensitive registration and clean phrasing.

But despite his careful choice of stops and quite successful attempt to create the smaller organ sound of Handel's and Haydn's own time, the orchestra, conducted by Bryan Gooch was too anaemic to provide a proper balance.

Considering they had only had one rehearsal, in general the orchestra played well, but their performance under Mr. Gooch's baton, tended to dullness because of a lack in phrasing and dynamic thought.

Peter Warlock's Capriol Suite fared best, not on the technical side, but because more life was injected into the performance.

The cathedral choir was especially effective in Stanford's Nunc Dimittis. Mr. Proudman in conducting, maintained a beautiful balance throughout this number.

IMBALANCE

The ensemble was not so pleasing in Cousins' Glorious Everlasting, where forte passages suffered from imbalance.

Among the soloists, baritone William Broadhead was outstanding. He possesses a full, warm tone, with excellent intonation and clear words. A fine musicianly performance.

An exceptionally promising boy treble was heard in young Stephen Horning. Bill Dyson displayed almost as much beauty of tone as ever, although his words are less clear than formerly.

The contralto voice of Eleanor Ashford was also pleasing in a musical performance of one of the Sacred Songs of Harvest by Maurice Greene.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor George Sanders, saying he was the "victim of an international swindle," filed a bankruptcy petition Thursday listing liabilities of nearly $1,000,000.

L. a prepared statement he said that as a shareholder in an investment company building food-processing factories in Scotland he signed bank guarantees for $1,250,000.

"Other investors included many prominent members of international society," he said. "Our losses came to well over $3,000,000.

"Criminal charges have been brought against two former officers of the now-defunct company."

Sanders, 60, listed assets of $57,657 and said he paid $360,000 into the investment company, which became defunct after funds were misappropriated.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Margaret Morrongiello, age 11, of Staten Island, N.Y., for her question:

What is ultraviolet light?

Our lovely old world begins every day with a bath of brilliant radiation from the sun. This daily gift is a surprising assortment of energies. We can see its radiant light and feel its radiant heat. It also carries radio waves and invisible rays of ultraviolet light.

Ultra is a prefix meaning beyond or way out. Ultrasonic sounds are beyond the range of our hearing ablility. Ultraviolet rays are beyond the range of human eyesight. Our eyes are living cameras that register various light rays as they bounce from objects around us. They are miraculous sense organs — but they are limited. The energy of light travels in different wave lengths and our eyes can see only some of them.

The rainbow reveals an orderly line-up of the visible rays of light. The longest wave lengths are the reds, the shortest are the deep violets. The visible rays also are lined up in the glowing colors that fan through a prism. The colors result from different wave lengths, and wave lengths are pulses of energy. The measure of a wave length is the distance between the crests of its pulsing waves. The smallest wave lengths of visible light measure about 16 million to an inch.

In sunlight a wide assortment of pulsing wave lengths are blended together and their colors are hidden. A prism separates them and we see them as the colored spectrum of the rainbow. However, some of the wave lengths of light are too long and some are too short for our eyes to see. There is a band of infrared light beyond the red end of the spectrum. We cannot see it becaust its wave lengths are too long for human vision.

Used To Test Minerals

Beyond the short violets of the spectrum is a band of ultraviolet light. Its wave lengths are too short for our eyes to see. But a quota of ultraviolet energy travels with every radiant beam from the sun. Its wave lengths range from slightly shorter to 100 times shorter than the visible violet rays. We cannot see them, but certain lamps force them to cast the eerie glow we call black light. Ultraviolet can pierce and harm skin and tissue and living cells. Luckily most of our quota from the sun is filtered out by the atmosphere, and as a rule only enough ultraviolet gets through to adorn our skins with berry-brown suntans.

Ultraviolet can transmit its energy to certain substances and force them to glow with flourescent light. It is used to test minerals, and it works in flourescent lights and sun lamps. It can be tamed for germ killing to purify foods and to help heal wounds.

A prism is a three-sided rod of transparent material. Ordinary glass absorbs ultraviolet and blocks its path. A glass prism stops it from passing through with the rainbow colors. But a prism of glassy quartz does not absorb the short waves of ultraviolet light. A sun lamp uses quartz glass to let the tanning ultraviolet through. And remember, always wear special dark glasses to shield your eyes from the harmful effects of the sun lamp's ultraviolet rays.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Ricky Goldstein, age, 10 of Utica, N.Y., for his question:

What kind of measure is an erg?

When you do a job, you must use some effort or force. A machine also must use up so much force to do a job. Experts who design machines must know just how much work they can do. They must be able to measure an amount of work force down to the smallest push or pull. And the basic measuring unit for this job is the erg. This tricky little unit is the twin brother of the dyne, another tricky little unit.

A dyne is the force needed to speed up a certain object at a certain rate for a certain distance. The object must weigh one gram. The dyne force must add an extra centimeter to its speed for every second it travels. This is a unit of force — and a machine uses force to work. An erg is the amount of work a dyne can do in a distance of one centimetre. As a rule machinists use the joule measure, which equals the work force of 10 million little ergs. The joule can shove one ampere of current through a circuit against one ohm of electrical resistance.

What Action to Take In an Emergency

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Alvarez

Today, hospitals have a good emergency room where persons who are brought in in shock, after a bad accident, a gun-shot wound, knife stabs, a heart attack or a stroke, can be given the best possible care. Experts tell me that almost certainty, in the future these emergency rooms are going to take over much of the work that used to be done by the now overburdened general practitioner.

People everywhere should know that if, in the middle of the night, they should get a heart attack or a gallstone colic, and they have no family doctor, or they are in a strange city, the best thing to do might be to call a cab and rush to a hospital emergency room.

FALLOUT

I recently saw several women who were much alarmed because their hair was coming out in handfuls. I said to each one, "What happened just three months ago?" One said, "I had a hysterectomy." Another said, "I had a baby," and a third said, "My mother was killed in an auto accident." There were the answers; always when a woman comes in to say that all her hair is falling out, and I ask her if she had an operation or some accident or emotional shock three months earlier, she is likely to say, "Why, yes."

I can encourage these women by telling them that with certain physical or emotional shocks, the hairs die in the little follicles in which they grow, and then it takes three months for new hairs to push the old ones out. Because in these cases the new hair is coming along, there is no sense in giving money to someone who thinks he can make hair grow on the top of the head.

Professor Norman Orentreich of New York, tells of men with a bald scalp who sometimes have tiny tufts of hair taken, perhaps from the back of the scalp; and grafted onto the top. In a recent article he published a picture showing that the scheme works. Also, he shows a woman of 25 who lost nearly all of her hair and got it back after injections of corticosteroids directly into her scalp. The professor says that the great majority of hair-restorers are worthless; also it is a wrong idea that frequent and vigorous brushing of the hair will help.

High Places Sought By Peddler

HALIFAX (CP) — A 27-year-old bicyclist from Quebec City is making plans to follow his cross-Canada jaunt with a call on Prime Minister Pearson and perhaps even an audience with Queen Elizabeth.

Claude Dube, who left his bartending job in Vancouver to start pedalling across the country Sept. 1, 1966, said in an interview Thursday he will leave by train for Ottawa "in five or six days" to seek an interview with the prime minister, whom he hopes will give him a letter for the Queen.

Due arrived in Halifax Tuesday from St. John's, Nfld., where he completed his tour of all 10 provinces. He left Vancouver with a bicycle, a 200-pound trailer and $5 in his pocket.

Lack of Children Threatens Theatre

NANAIMO—Child's Own Theatre here will be disbanded on Saturday unless 50 more children can be found to attend.

The theatre, which puts on Saturday afternoon children's films, was started several weeks ago but has been attended by only 100 children—insufficient to merit continuing the shows, according to organizer Mrs Barbara Desprex.

The shows are held in the Nanaimo Library.

DOCTOR ZHIVAGO
Victoria Premiere
Odeon Theatre

Not surprisingly, Thursday's first-nighters at the Odeon, having read so much for and against Doctor Zhivago, didn't know whether to expect thraldom, boredom, excitement or inspiration.

For me it was a blend of all four—sometimes tedious, sometimes exhilarating, sometimes artificial, but never uninteresting.

David Lean's much-heralded interpretation of a titanic novel by Boris Pasternak is an event if only for its large and notable cast. It is also the first attempt—in the West at least—to present the story of the Russian Revolution as a screen narrative.

On the production side it is a heroic spectacle, which involved the reconstruction of Russian exteriors in Spain and northern Finland, and three years of sustained effort costing $4,000,000.

Pictorially it does for snow what David Lean's Lawrence of Arabia did for sand. When the moon comes out from the clouds, the wolves start baying in the shadow of the birch trees—and two lovers clasp each other beneath their fur blankets—you fall under the spell of its white magic.

Trying to re-create the most crucial period in the history of the Soviet Union is no mean task and there are times when Doctor Zhivago loses reality. It is a grand romantic spectacle but, somewhere along the way, it seems just a little too Western in concept.

Doctor Zhivago, in Boris Pasternak's novel, is both a poet and a doctor. Egyptian actor Omar Sherif portrays him as a man who is spiritually outside the Russian Revolution, yet is deeply sensitive to its causes and consequences.

* * *

He has a doctor's compassion, a poet's insight and the aura of a mystic who is never quite part of the world about him.

British actress Julie Christie (Darling) makes her second bid for an Oscar with a warm and very vital performance as Zhivago's mistress. Geraldine Chaplin brings a Dresden-like daintiness to her role of Zhivago's wife, but it seems less of a characterization than a display of winsome young charm.

Maurice Jarre, who wrote the score for Lawrence of Arabia, provides a musical theme that is alternately haunting, romantic and violent, with a recurring theme for balalaika.

No one can deny the dramatic impact of Doctor Zhivago, but it could have been shortened to advantage.

AVA GARDNER
. . . shy siren

EAGER SALESMAN HUNTED

TORONTO (UPI) — Toronto police are looking for an eager jewelry salesman who took some work home and didn't bring it back.

Toronto Jewelry Exchange Company entrusted one of its salesmen with $25,000 worth of precious gems to show a night customer this week.

The company owners' began to worry Wednesday, however, when the ambitious salesman whom they hired two weeks previously did not report for work.

Ava Regrets 25-Year 'Waste' of Career

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Ava Gardner wants to change her public image.

"The image I seem to have—that I'm a loud-mouthed, temperamental, oversexed, sultry siren—sometimes terrifies me," said the film actress.

"People have a completely wrong idea about me. It's partly because of the roles I've played, partly the fault of the press.

"I don't go to cocktail parties or lead a very glamorous life. I am a very simple human being, easy to get along with except for a normal Irish temper. If I do lose it, I get over it the next minute.

"As for that funny word sultry, I'm as far from being sultry as. . . ."

Words failed Miss Gardner. She made a lovely grimace. On her face even a grimace looks good.

Ava was resting in her hotel suite after the strain of attending the premiere the night before of a $15,000,000 production of The Bible, in which she plays Sarah, wife of Abraham.

"It's the only time in my life I actually enjoyed working—making that picture," she remarked.

Ava went to Hollywood a quarter of a century ago as the beautiful but naive daughter of a North Carolina cotton farmer. There she became a star before she felt she had become an actress. She has made 40 films and acquired and shed three famous husbands — Mickey Rooney, Artie Shaw and Frank Sinatra.

Although they brought her a fortune and a world - known name, she feels now she has rather wasted 25 years of her life.

"I really hate the work of being a movie star," she said frankly. "I haven't the emotional makeup for it—the love of exhibitionism.

WAS IT AN OMEN? When Attorney-General Robert Bonner (Stetson hat, centre) posed for this "fun" picture during the Barkerville restoration hi-jinks in 1962 it probably never occurred to him that one day he'd be fighting a personal election campaign in British Columbia's legendary cattle and gold country. But next month he'll contest a byelection in the historic Cariboo riding, seeking a legislative seat the voters of Point Grey denied him in general election in September. (Svendsen photo.)

South Africa May Pull Out of UN

AMMO BLAST DEVASTATING

SAIGON (AP) — Two American soldiers were reported killed and 10 wounded tonight when a U.S. Army ammunition dump exploded in a huge ball of fire 12 miles north of the South Vietnamese capital.

First reports had said the blast apparently inflicted only slight casualties, but Associated Press correspondent John Lengel reported from the scene that American authorities there reported a heavier casualty toll.

The blast laid waste the surrounding jungle and broke windows in Saigon.

South-West Africa Control 'Abolished'

PRETORIA (Reuters) — Prime Minister John Vorster held a special cabinet meeting today to discuss South Africa's answer to Thursday night's United Nations vote to terminate the republic's mandate over South-West Africa.

Political observers speculated the government might now consider quitting the United Nations.

The cabinet was due to hear later a first-hand report from Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller on the General Assembly vote, which aims at wresting from South Africa control of the territory which it has administered for 46 years. Muller was due back from New York by air today.

The vote came too late for comment in most South African morning newspapers, but in Johannesburg The Rand Daily Mail said it demonstrated a sharp deterioration in South Africa's international position and the extent of its failure to convince the world that apartheid (racial segregation) could be made morally acceptable.

The Rand Daily Mail usually supports the opposition Progressive party, which is opposed to apartheid.

Doubts

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Many UN diplomats expressed doubt today that the world organization could carry out the General Assembly's decision to wrest South-West Africa from a defiant South African government.

The 121-nation assembly voted 114 to 2 Thursday night to end South Africa's old League of Nations mandate over the 320,000-square-mile territory on her northwest border and bring it under UN trusteeship.

The world body also voted the establishment of a special committee of 14 member states, to be designated by the assembly president, to recommend practical means by which the territory should be administered.

It called upon the South African government "forthwith to refrain and desist from any action, constitutional, administrative, political or otherwise, which will in any manner whatsoever alter or tend to alter the present international status of South-West Africa."

The historic decision, climaxing a running battle between the UN and South Africa going back to the start of the world organization, came through the adoption of a series of Latin American amendments to a basic resolution proposed by 54 African and Asian members.

Only South Africa and Portugal voted against the measure.

Three Abstain

Britain, France and Malawi abstained. Botswana and Lesotho were absent; both adjoin South Africa and are dependent on it economically.

Canada, which voted in favor of the termination of the mandate, worked behind the scenes to gain the widest possible support for the resolution.

It was the most drastic action the UN has ever embarked upon to try to compel South Africa to yield the territory. But the South African government has served notice it will use "whatever means necessary" to block any attempt to take over the mandate.

This would give the assembly only one recourse: To turn the issue over to the Security Council, which has the authority to resort to sanctions or outright force.

But this posed the question of whom the council would delegate to carry out the job in the unlikely event that it did approve military measures without running into a British veto.

Force Threatened

A number of African nations threatened during the month-long assembly debate to organize an army to move into South-West Africa. But Western delegates insist the tough South African force of up to 200,000 troops and police.

It was considered more likely that the council would call for economic sanctions. But such measures have had little effect on South Africa's white supremacist government in the past.

The resolution said South Africa had failed to carry out its obligations to the 500,000 inhabitants of the territory it took over in 1920.

First Defeat

BONN (Reuters) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's minority Christian Democratic government suffered its first defeat today when the West German Bundesrat (upper house) rejected the 1967 draft budget.

Three-Way Fight Sure in Cariboo

By JOHN MIKA

The Nov. 28 byelection in Cariboo will develop into a "little general election" it appeared today as three parties said they would contest it and even the Conservatives are trying to find a candidate.

Provincial Tory president Stuart Fleming of Vernon this morning told The Times that he is urging the Cariboo PC constituency association to enter the contest by the Nov. 19 nomination deadline.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault also confirmed that his party definitely will seek a victory and Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the same Thursday immediately after the writ was announced.

Although he still has to go through a formal nominating procedure, the Social Credit party's candidate will be Attorney-General Robert Bonner for whom the opening was engineered because of his Sept. 12 defeat in Vancouver Point Grey.

IMMPORTANT ISSUES

The other parties haven't yet declared their standard-bearers but the leaders have indicated that the batle will be turned into a re-enactment of last month's general election in which they claim Premier Bennett hid some important issues.

With logging the main industry and cattle next in importance to the Cariboo riding, the NDP will have an oportunity to prove Mr. Strachan's post-election contention that his party's main campaign "peaked" just a little too early.

He said current worry over layoffs of loggers and the profits taken by meat departments of supermarkets were foreshadowed by the theme of the NDP campaign but the Sept. 12 election date enabled the Socreds to squeeze in just before the public had begun responding to the economic situation.

Mr. Perrault suggested the same this morning when he said "Cariboo riding will be good campaign territory for the Liberals.

"There are many issues and most of them have developed since the general election."

LIBERAL CANDIDATE

He said "two or three" persons already have expressed interest in standing for Liberal nomination and his conversations with local constituency officials guarantee "the party will have a candidate."

He said he would go to the riding this weekend to help with organization and pointed out that Cariboo has returned Liberal members in the past.

Mr. Fleming, whose party virtually abdicted the Sept. 12 campaign with only three token candidates, said "we're in the process of consulting with our association in Cariboo and actively pursuing the objective of mounting a campaign.

"It would give us a chance to state our case and begin rebuilding our party. But it's up to the local constituency to decide.

"The provincial organization will give them absolutely full support if they decide to run a candidate—but, of course, we will not impose this decision on them."

PICK OUR TIME

Mr. Fleming said he is making all efforts to ensure a candidate is put up by the party on general rather than local issues.

"At the beginning of the year I said the party was not in a position to fight a general election and we should pick our own time," he said.

"Well, in a byelection there is none of the pressure you have in a general election.

"I feel this is the ideal opportunity for our party to make a full and comprehensive statement of our over-all program."

Last month Deputy Speaker William Speare was re-elected for the Socreds with 3,830 votes. The NDP took 2,530 and the Liberals 719 votes while the Conservatives didn't contest the seat. But since the Socreds first won the riding in 1952, all three opposition parties have held the runner-up spot in one election or another.

Meanwhile, fiery Lillooet editor Mrs. Margaret (Ma) Murray predicted that Mr. Bonner would be defeated.

EGO-APPEAL

"Bennett is trying to appeal to the ego of the Cariboo voters, offering them a big-name cabinet minister," she said.

"But they're not a bunch of hicks who will fall for something like that. The Cariboo is the roughest, toughest place there ever was — real moonshine-drinkin' country."

She said she would be happy to be a candidate but the Liberal officials already have said they would not want her because she does not live in the riding.

Mrs. Murray's reaction to the byelection announcement contrasted with the predictable

LBJ, Marcos Had 'Words' Over Troops

MANILA (CP) — President Johnson and Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos had a "less than cordial exchange" on the question of sending Filipino troops to South Viet Nam during the Manila summit conference, an informed source disclosed today.

Johnson, speaking at the closed-door session of the seven-nation conference, had criticized Philippine participation in Viet Nam, the source said, referring to the 2,000 Filipino civic action group as only twenty-hundreds of one per cent of the Philippine population of 32,000,000.

Meeting the U.S. president later, Marcos pointed out that the Philippines has a standing army of only 45,000 men, and that during the Huk (Communist) insurrection here in 1949 the U.S. "did not send one million U.S. dollars a day" to the Philippines, the source said, referring to the cost of the Philippine effort in South Viet Nam.

SECOND REFERENCE

After the conference President Johnson, speaking in Corregidor, again referred to Filipino participation in the conflict.

Johnson then expressed concern for Viet Nam saying, "we have all agreed that a terrorist, Communist insurgency sponsored and buttressed by the Hanoi government shall not destroy the independence of Viet Nam."

He added:

"The Philippine people, who were racked by a similar armed assault on their sovereignty by the Huks, will recognize the full dimensions of these problems and the nature of the response that must be mounted."

Informed sources believed that Johnson took up the subject again prior to his departure here Thursday, following his visit to Cam Ranh base in South Viet Nam.

Grim Battle Rages In Viet Rice Fields

SAIGON (Reuters) — Heavy fighting flared in the rice fields of South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta Thursday, with government troops reporting 137 Viet Cong guerrillas killed in a set-piece battle.

Two battalions of elite South Vietnamese troops were airlifted by helicopter at noon to reinforce infantry units locked in combat with two Viet Cong battalions, a government spokesman said.

American and South Vietnamese air force planes bombed the guerrillas, accounting for about 90 of the dead.

Government casualties in the action, which took place 88 miles southwest of Saigon, were described as light.

The government force, which hit the Viet Cong within minutes of launching a search-and-destroy operation in the area, was today reported continuing its sweep through rice fields and fortified hamlets.

AFTER GUERRILLAS

The recent intensification of fighting in the Mekong Delta region has led to speculation that the United States will send large forces into the area to help the government hunt down entrenched guerrilla bands.

There also was a report, from Ottawa, that the resumption of bombing in the demilitarized zone by the United States had once again driven the Indian, Polish and Canadian members of the International Control Commission out of the area.

In making the announcement, External Affairs Minister Martin said:

"We remain convinced nevertheless that there is a role for the commission as an instrument through which a measure of disengagement on ground could be brought about. . . . This will require active co-operation of both sides."

In the air, American pilots took advantage of improved weather to step up raids on transportation and military targets in North Viet Nam. One air force plane was lost and its pilot is missing.

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The North Viet Nam news agency today claimed that U.S. Army commanders in South Viet Nam killed three Negro soldiers who wanted to go home and disobeyed orders to go on an operation Sept. 23.

Months of Terror Began With Shout: 'You Are a Spy!'

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN

PHU BINH, South Viet Nam (AP) — Sister Rosa's long night of suffering began just as school let out. The laughter of her first-graders was echoing down the road when the Viet Cong appeared in the doorway.

"You're a spy," they shouted.

They ripped off her nun's habit, took her crucifix, gave her some black pyjamas just like theirs and led her blindfolded out of the little village of Duc My in the Mekong Delta.

It was four days before last Christmas.

The 64-year-old nun walked most of the night along a jagged trail to a bleak compound where they removed her blindfold, took her rosary, clamped on handcuffs and chained her, with 21 other prisoners, to a metal bar that ran the length of the low-ceilinged thatched hut.

●

So began the long days of chopping wood and washing rice, and the long silent nights, and the weeks and months of never being allowed to talk to anyone, of being forbidden to kneel in prayer and having to listen to propaganda lectures against her church.

What had she done?

The first of her many interrogators supplied the only clues with his opening two questions. Those English books she used in the school, they were supplied by the government, weren't they? And hadn't two of the younger nuns been seen in town buying bolts of clothing with U.S. money?

One day this week, when the number of men and women chained to the long bar had reached 35, there was feverish activity among the guards. They hurried half the prisoners into sampans and promised to return for the rest.

That afternoon, advance elements of the South Vietnamese army, on a sweep through Vinh Binh province, overran the Viet Cong base camp and found 18 handcuffed, blindfolded prisoners.

'U.S. CAN'T' SUBDUE REDS

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle called today for a Vietnamese settlement based on guaranteed self determination after the withdrawal of American troops.

He told a crowded press conference in Elysee Palace the Americans cannot "subdue" Viet Nam and that an American military victory there is impossible.

At the same time, he added, the American forces now in Viet Nam cannot be destroyed by their foes.

Once more demanding withdrawal of American forces from Viet Nam, de Gaulle said peace there depends on Washington's acceptance of the principle of self-determination for the Vietnamese people.

"They have only to observe the principle that each people should settle their own affairs in their own manner and by their own means," he said.

Pearson Holds Line Against Money Demands

OTTAWA (CP) — Western premiers left the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference today not very happy and not very much richer.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia said:

"We didn't lose anything, and that's a victory for B.C. We didn't get anything either."

He said that Finance Minister Sharp has said he will write to him about British Columbia's demands for federal support for certain Crown corporations.

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial fiscal conference ended this afternoon with no significant change in a rigid federal refusal to yield more tax room to the provinces and several premiers left for home with bitter comments.

Premier Robarts of Ontario said the week had been "an exercise in futility."

Premier Roblin said it was an unhappy conference for Manitoba and "can hardly be described as encouraging in the national interest."

Prime Minister Pearson said the federal government had protected the interests of the country and he was "quite happy with the result."

The only change announced by Mr. Pearson was an adjustment in support for higher education worth $1 per capita to the provinces, or a total of $20,000,000.

Mr. Pearson said the federal government has "gone as far as we could" in giving further tax resources to the provinces. He estimated the new money promised during the week-long conference to the provinces at $350,000,000 for the year 1967-68.

He conceded that the growth in provincial programs will be faster in future than it will be in the federal field. But predictions that Ottawa would face a surplus in a few years were not correct.

SECRET CAUCUS DISCLOSED

Tory Disharmony Out in Open

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The disharmony within the Conservative caucus over the leadership of John Diefenbaker exploded into the open today.

A secret caucus of the Conservative party was held recently with attendance limited only to those who hold one particular viewpoint on the leadership question, G. W. Baldwin, Conservative MP for Peace River disclosed.

He said he received no notice of the caucus.

He learned later that the secret caucus was attended by those within the Conservative MPs who have announced their support for Arthur Maloney for the national presidency of the party.

"I think it is my right, as one who holds an opposite opinion, to make it quite plain that I was not included in that group and to give my reasons why I am opposed to this view," said Baldwin in a statement issued today.

Meantime, a smoothly functioning Diefenbaker organization has dealt two blows to the Conservative national president Dalton Camp's campaign to challenge Diefenbaker's leadership at the annual party meeting next month. There is now a serious question whether Camp will be successful in his bid for re-election with Maloney running against him.

At the same time it was learned that the agenda for the annual meeting has been prepared and distributed. Copies of the agenda have been already distributed to MPs and other convention delegates by Dr. James Johnston, national director of the Conservative party. Dr. Johnston is a Diefenbaker appointee to the Conservative head-office staff in Ottawa.

It is understood that Camp was not informed in advance—or consulted—about the agenda.

Mr. Baldwin in his statement said, "I don't think it is any longer a question of Dalton Camp et al versus Diefenbaker, Nielsen and Maloney, but rather a question of a very deep and fundamental principle; whether this is a divine right in any person to retain any elective office without some means of submitting in the usual democratic way, from time to time, to re-endorsement or rejection."

French Drain On U.S. Gold Stock Eases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. gold stock rose by $37 million in September, the federal reserve board has reported. It was the first time the U.S. had gained gold since December and the largest monthly gain in 2½ years.

France, which has been the major taker of U.S. gold, reduced her purchases. But U.S. officials cautioned against taking this to mean that French president Charles de Gaulle had dropped his attack on the dollar.

The main reason, they said, appeared to he high interest rates in the U.S., which kept French commercial banks from selling their dollars to the Bank of France as in the past.

As a result, the Bank of France bought only $34 million worth of gold in September compared to $146 million in August. September's purchase brought the French total for the first nine months of the year to about $600 million.

Industrial and artistic users bought $13 million last month, but this and the French purchase was more than offset by U.S. gold purchases overseas.

By the end of September, the U.S. gold stock stood at $13,356,000,000 down $45 million from Jan. 1.

Need B.C. Power

SEATTLE (AP)—The Bonneville Power Administration says it will have to import power from British Columbia, California and Utah this winter to meet expected needs.

David S. Black, BPA administrator, said low water flow has reduced hydro-electric generation from Columbia River dams since July.

New Electric Car Unveiled by GM

DETROIT (UPI) — General Motors, the world's largest manufacurer, revealed that it, too, is knee-deep in developing an electric car.

It made the announcement less than one month after Ford Motor Co. unveiled a "breakthrough" battery development in its work along the line. But GM went one step farther.

Where Ford's experimentation has thus far been restricted only to a battery, GM rolled out a complete experimental electric car, and a truck to boot.

The car was housed in a 1966 Corvair chassis and dubbed the "Electrovair II." A silver zinc battery pack was lodged under the hood, normall the luggage area in the Chevrolet economy model. A seconc pack was under the rear hood, above an laternating current engine.

The Electovaie was demonstrated at GM's Tech Centre in suburban Warren. It zipped quietly from a standing start to 60 miles an hour in 16 seconds and reached top speeds of 80 mph. It weighed 800 pounds more than the conventional corvair.

With the silver-zinc batter, a hybrid based on the old lead-acid batteries found under the hood of every car, the Electrovair can run only 40 to 80 miles before it must be recharged. GM said the battery was "very costly" and must be replaces after 100 charges.

CZ to Resume Log Operations

KITIMAT (CP)—Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. plans to resume normal logging Monday in timberlands inundated by floods last weekend.

Logging was suspended following the flooding, which resulted from heavy rains, mild temperatures and melting snow.

One CZ logging bridge was washed away, five sections of the company's 80-mile network of roads were cut, and 2,000 acres of timberland was flooded.

Tunnel Contract Awarded by Hydro

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Columbia Hydro and Power Authority has awarded a $387,000 contract to Gold River Construction Co., of Vancouver to excavate an exploratory tunnel at the site of the proposed Mica Dam powerhouse on the Columbia River.

The 2,000-foot long tunnel will provide information on rock conditions on the west bank of the river and allow engineers to carry out tests to determine the best location and design for the powerhouse.

Losses Reduced By Inland Gas

VANCOUVER (CP) — Inland Natural Gas Co. Ltd. reduced its losses by $176,000 in the first quarter of the current fiscal year, compared with 1965, the annual meeting was told.

John A. McMahon, president, said that in a three-month period ended Sept. 30, losses were cut to $150,000 from $326,000.

Bond Purchasers Enjoy Neat Gain

By A. B. KENT
Business Writer

Investors who took advantage of the mid-September "bottom" in the bond market could be enjoying a nice capital gain by this time.

As predicted by local investment dealers last May, bond prices remained low all summer and began to turn last month.

Selected long-term issues since then have climbed 2 to 3 points, for example: the 7-per-cent General Motors Acceptance Corp. issues offered recently at $100 now are quoted at 102-103; Simpsons-Sears Acceptance Corp. 7-per-cent due 1986 at 101¼-102; Government of Canada 5¾ per cent due 1992 at 99⅞-100⅛, and B.C. Telephone's 6¾ per cent offered at underr 99 now 101½-102.

Anyone who had cash to spare was well advised to put it into bonds while the stock market was depressed, thereby taking advantage of the highest interest rates in history as well as the tax-free capital gain.

* * *

Historically, as one dealer points out, a stock market upswing should follow the bond market turn-around by anywhere from four to 16 months.

But within that time there should be a series of rallies and declines in the stock market lasting for brief periods.

"As long as there is tight money it is not likely there will be a genuine bull market," he said.

Alexander Hamilton Institute in New York had this technical word to say this week:

"We believe the current rebound (in the stock market) should be viewed as a rally in a bear trend pending further tests of the 1966 lows and a clearer outlook for 1967 prospects."

They say that while bond and blue chip equities are better, investors should hold some reserves "pending further market developments."

Babson's Reports, in Toronto, says high-quality government bonds are good for capital appreciation over a short term and will permit purchase of common stocks when the market's down-trend is "inevitably reversed."

As is normal during the pre-Christmas period, the Bank of Canada last week released more money into the total supply compared with the previous week.

Oct. 12 the figure stood at $20,929 billion and last week it rose to $20,945 billion.

Fortune Magazine has done a business survey of American inventories and concludes a slump in buying for inventory is in the offing.

Inventory buying has been absorbing more than 5 per cent of industrial output and nearly twice as many manufacturers now would like to cut back to the low side as those who want to stay high.

Fall buying is therefore being limited, especially by retail merchants, although wholesalers are expanding.

Businessmen estimate that inventories are about 2 per cent above expected sales, more than at any time since the 1961 recession.

An Air Canada 20-foot model of the world's largest commercial jet liner, the Douglas Super 61 DC-8, goes on display at B.C. International Trade Fair in May.

This is a 251-passenger "stretched" version of the basic DC-8 which went into service in 1958, and is 37 feet longer than the largest DC-8 in service.

Air Canada expects to put the new plane into the air next year, when four will be delivered, cutting the cost of air travel to less than one cent per seat-mile for the first time in aviation history.

BURMAH BIDS FOR CASTROL

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's Burmah Oil Co. has made a £38,000,000 ($114,000,000) bid to take over Castrol, the world's biggest independent lubricating oil group, it was officially announced Thursday night.

The announcement came after a day of speculating during which two large American oil companies, Gulf and Texaco, were prominently named as possible bidders.

Tourism Aid Studied

KELOWNA (CP)—The federal government may extend its area development program to encourage new tourist industry as well as manufacturing plants in slow-growth areas, Industry Minister Drury said Thursday.

He told the Okanagan Regional Industrial Development Association that a number of areas designated for special government assistance have a tourist potential. But tourism does not qualify now for federal benefits.

Under the area development program, the federal government will grant tax concessions or make capital grants to help establish new or significantly expanded manufacturing plants in designated slow growth areas. The Okanagan Valley is a designated area.

Mr. Drury came here to open three new manufacturing plants—White Truck Manufacturing Ltd. in Kelowna, Coldstream Meat Packers Ltd. in Vernon, and Southern Okanagan Wines Ltd. in Penticton—helped by the program. The predominantly agricultural valley has about reached the limits of farming, with the land available between the mountains.

But tourism is being developed, for both summer and winter traffic. New ski tows have been established in the valley.

CONSOLIDATED, BATHURST

Paper Firms Plan Merger

MONTREAL (CP) — The boards of directors of two of Canada's largest paper companies, Consolidated Paper Corp. Ltd. and Bathurst Paper Ltd., have decided their companies should merge, it was announced Thursday.

Separate statements from both companies said the merger will create opportunities for close mutual support in manufacturing and marketing their products.

A Consolidated spokesman said combining the two companies will give Consolidated a more complete range of products on the market.

The statement said the merger will be effected by means of an exchange of a new issue of Consolidated preferred shares plus warrants, or rights to buy, for the Coass A and common shares of Bathurst.

On the Montreal stock exchange Thursday, Consolidated closed unchanged at 38, but Bathurst was up 1½ at 27½. News of the merger was not released until after the close of trading.

Consolidated Paper, which specializes in production of newspaper and paper bags, had net sales of $131,022,129 last year while the smaller Bathurst company, which concentrates on other packaging products, had net sales of $51,136,450.

A special general meeting of Consolidated shareholders has been called for Nov. 15 to approve the issuing of 4,000,000 preferred shares, par value $25.

Consolidated proposes to offer its new shares in return for Bathurst shares, the statement said.

The statement from Bathurst said Consolidated's offer is considered reasonable and fair and will be recommended to common shareholders.

The directors have indicated their intention to accept the offers, the statement added.

The initial series of Consolidated shares would consist of 2,000,000 six-per-cent cumulative redeemable preferred shares, 1966 series, non-redeemable prior to March 31, 1975, and thereafter redeemable at $26 a share.

Consolidated said that the offer will be two of the new Consolidated shares plus one share purchse warrant for each share of Bathurst A.

For each share of Bathurst common, one new Consolidated share plus one-half share purchase warrant will be offered.

'Rates Hike Would Solve Problem'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of B.C. Hydro, said Thursday that financial problems on the Peace River power project can be solved simply by raising electricity rates.

"This is only a possible solution," he said. "Not a threat, not a promise, not a hint."

Higher interest rates that will have to be paid on borrowing as the project progresses could be offset by restoring rates to the 1962 figure, he said.

Since 1962, B.C. Hydro has reduced its rates three times and restoring the consumer rates to this figure would produce an extra $20,000,000 annually — approximately the amount of the additional interest. Dr. Shrum told a meeting of the B.C. Weekly Newspapers Association that people should discount statements by "hostile" politicians that the Peace is in serious financial difficulty.

He said borrowing for the project had been at the rate of 1.777 per cent until higher interest rates and the current tight money situation had forced it up to 6.3 per cent.

Provincial Liberal Leader Ray Perrault branded the statement as irresponsible.

"The one reason for the Peace," said Mr. Perrault, "was cheap power on the lower mainland to attract new industry. Now a captive market, which is already paying the highest rates in Canada will have to bear the increase."

MORE TAKE, LESS PROFITS FORD, CHRYSLER ANNOUNCE

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and Chrysler today faced the fact that they took more money than ever before in the opening nine months of the year but made less profit doing it.

Third-quarter sales reports of the two auto companies Thursday showed their world-wide dollar sales hit a sizzling nine-months pace, even as third-quarter dividends nose-dived.

General Motors, giant of the auto world, reported Tuesday its sales for the opening nine months of this year were the second best in its history, topped only by the first three quarters of 1965.

Chrysler's third-quarter profit sag was the greatest as its earnings were off 64 per cent over a year earlier, while GM was down 62 per cent and Ford fell 36 per cent. American Motors' next quarterly financial statement is due in late November.

Ford's explanation of the drop in third-quarter and nine-month profits was virtually the same as that offered by GM and Chrysler.

Henry Ford II, board chairman, said:

"Lower profits in the first nine months of 1965 reflected principally increased costs of labor and materials. Higher marketing expense, the cost of product improvement and expenses associated with facility expansion programs reduced profits."

Nobody in Detroit appeared too concerned about the third slump as most industry observers expected that it would be reversed in the final quarter of this year as sales pick up momentum.

The fact remained, however, that Ford's third-quarter earnings were the lowest for that quarter since 1960, while for Chrysler they were the lowest since the third quarter of 1962 and GM's lowest since the third quarter of 1961.

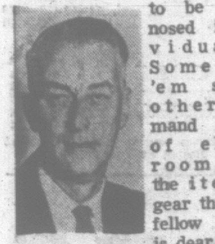
VICTORIA, B.C., FRIDAY, OCT. 28, 1966—PAGE 11

Arthur Mayse

A week or so ago, I asked the travel trailer brigade for advice and suggestions that might help some of us who are new to the roll-your-own game. The result has been a welcome deluge of letters, for which my thanks.



It is plain from these replies that trailer people tend to be hard-nosed individualists. Some like 'em small, others demand plenty of elbow room, and the item of gear that one fellow scorns is dear to the heart of his neighbor in the next rig.

However, on some points there is general agreement:

Overload springs, they point out, are no substitute for a levelling hitch; toilets are well worth the space and extra weight, especially when you travel in the U.S. where parks are crowded and washrooms often inadequate; also there's much to be said for a trailer oven and refrigerator.

C. B. McIntosh, 1090 Nicholson, is explicit on this last point:

"Icebox versus refrigerator: I have rather definite views on this, if only because I found that I did not like the status of a block of ice deciding that I would have to drive 16 miles each way to get the darn thing refilled. Also, ice is not always available and can be relatively expensive compared to the production cost of using propane. . . . Add to this the consideration that a refrigerator opens up the entire field of frozen food storage capability, and, finally, can produce lots of those little cubes that make a glass of snake-bite remedy even more palatable."

Here's a letter from Arthur H. Randell of 5317 Parker Avenue, who suggests that one reason for his grey hair might be that he woke to find a bear licking his head on a pre-trailer camping trip. Mr. Randell shoos beginners away from folding ovens with a large, loud "DON'T!"

As a substitute for the built-in oven, he suggests a rigid variety—trade name on request—that stows easily, and is sold with proper-sized pans, muffin tins and what-not as worthwhile options. Pans can be stored inside the oven.

And here are Jean and George Hegler, rovers-on-wheels who are biding time in the Sidney area until they replace their present, 16-foot trailer with a larger one being fitted to their requirements.

"A few of our own ideas are being incorporated," they write, "also such optional extras as an electric hot water tank, our own compressor for water pressure, combination gas and electric fridge, and a shower in the biffy."

With one of the new midget generators to power their establishment, they'll be about as self-contained as one can get.

The gypsying Heglers, it's worth noting, looked down their noses at trailers during their 14 years as motel operators in the British Columbia interior.

"We just couldn't approve," George explains. "It was a matter of principal."

★

We come now to a trailerman's growl so often repeated that it becomes a sort of litany.

Tenor of this complaint is that, while our provincial parks are dandy in some respects, they are inadequate as trailer havens.

"You have to jack-knife even the smallest outfit to get into a campsite," says one trailer pilot. (From my own limited experience, I think this over-states the case.) Others mention the nuisance of having to unhitch for even a one-night stay.

What they'd like to find in each park are some trailer-planned spaces a man can drive his rig into and out of without backing, filling or unhooking.

This, it seems to me, is a good notion, and to it I would add a suggestion that definite trailer areas be established.

The tent camper came first, and his rights should be respected. As a matter of fact, I think he should rate the best campsites in any public tract.

But the vacationist who tows his holiday home astern looms larger each year in the summer picture, and his needs also deserve consideration.

Ogden Point Crews Tackle Risky Project

By TERRY IZZARD
Marine Reporter

Victoria longshoremen courted death today in a bid to right a listing freighter.

A single crew of burly workmen cautiously began the job of unloading a million board feet of deck cargo from the 15,440 ton Jessie Stove.

The Jessie Stove put into Ogden Point Thursday afternoon with a dangerous 15-degree list.

As a solitary crane slowly lifted batches of lumber on to the dockside, longshoremen were reminded of the death of a fellow worker while handling the sace sort of job earlier this year.

●

On that occasion the ship was the Archangel.

While loading in Port Alberni, the Archangel suddenly listed, hurling tons of lumber into the harbor along with one of the workmen.

And only this summer another lumber ship, the Huntsland, listed suddenly while tied up at Ogden Point, throwing part of her cargo on to the dockside.

Fortunately the mishap occurred before the day shift started work.

Until the 518-foot Jessie Stove rights herself, the ship's self-loading and unloading gear cannot be used.

●

Said Stan Ball, Victoria business agent for International Longshoremen's Union: "It would be too dangerous to use the gear while the ship's tilted like this.

"The weight of even one load being lifted might be sufficient to further tilt the ship."

The Jessie Stove's cargo shifted while 300 miles off Vancouver Island en route to Japan.

"Apparently she ran into rough weather and the ship began to list," said Mr. Ball.

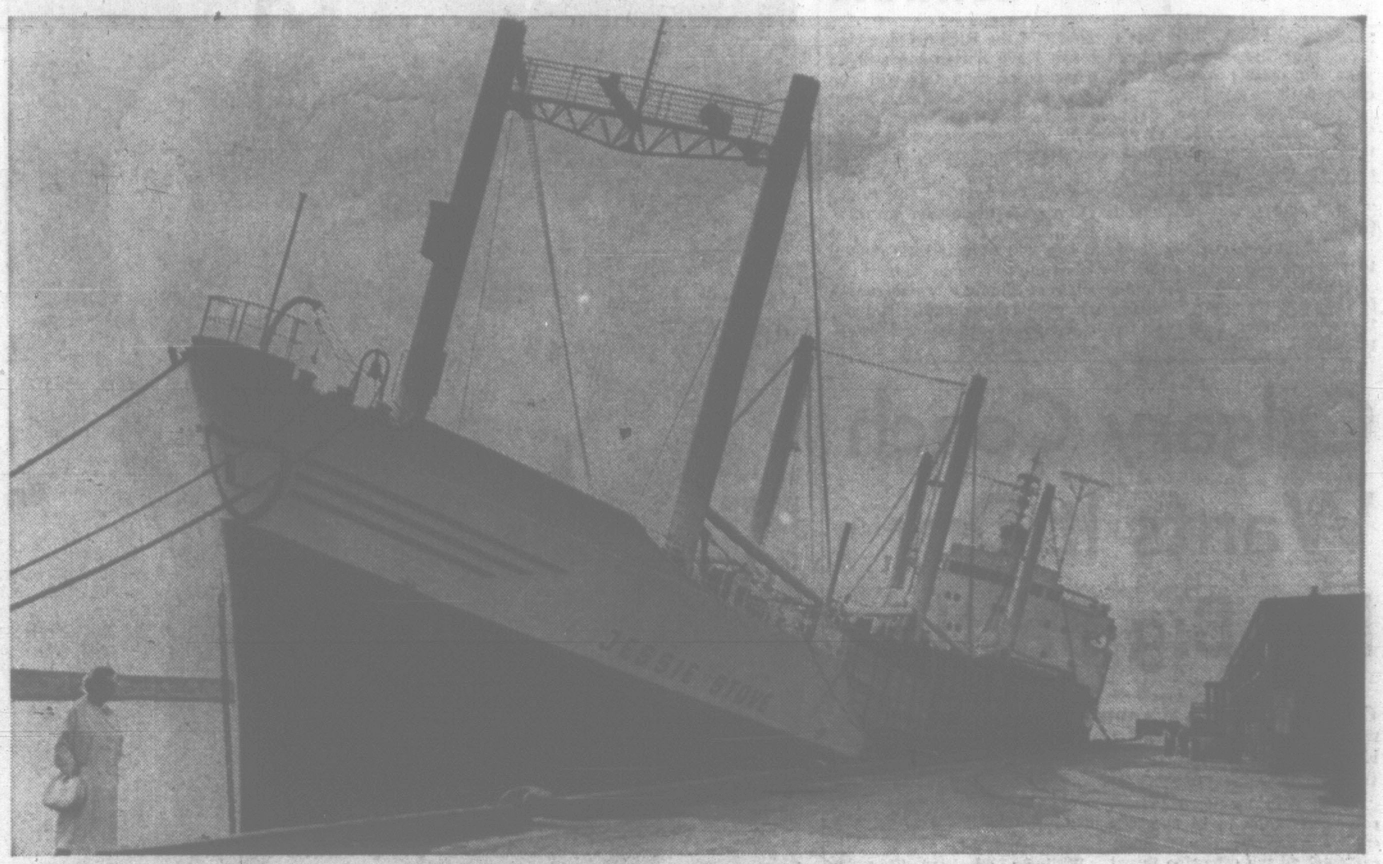
●

He estimated it will take three weeks to strip off the necessary cargo and reload her.

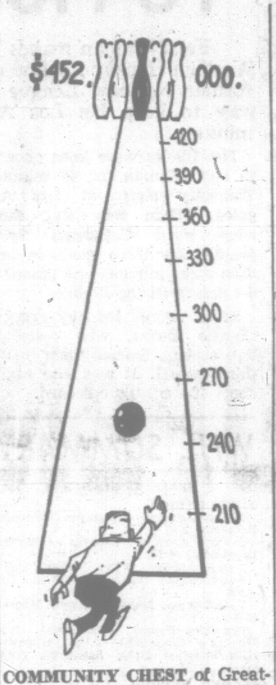
"Until we get below we'll not know what caused her to list," he said.

The Jessie Stove took on lumber at Vancouver, Port Alberni and Chemainus, her last port of call, before setting out for Japan Monday night.

Of Norwegian rfegistry, she carries a Norwegian crew.



LEANING AT CRAZY ANGLE, Jessie Stove appears to be using Ogden Point dock as a support. The seven-year-old freighter will likely be tied up three weeks while her cargo is removed and replaced. Cause of her 15-degree list will not be known until investigators get a chance to examine her below-deck cargo. She is third ship this year to suddenly list. (Bill Halkett photo.)



COMMUNITY CHEST of Greater Victoria registered a $14,000 gain today compared to Thursday as collections mounted to $254,637. This represents 56.3 per cent of the 452,000 objective.

Man Pays $100 Fine In Shooting

An Esquimalt householder was fined $100 in central court today for the gunshot wounding of a man on Sept. 8.

Luke A. Wedge, 26, of 637 Nelson, pleaded guilty to the charge of criminal negligence by causing bodily harm to Amos Pingo, a young Eskimo.

Pingo, on a boat-building course at the Canadian Forces Base, Esquimalt, suffered a flesh wound in his leg.

The Eskimo faces a trial on a charge of loitering at night. The trial date was set today for Nov. 14.

Court was told today that Wedge was awakened the night of the shooting by a scratching sound outside his window. He saw a man walk up and down beside the house and then try to climb through a bathroom window.

Wedge took a loaded .22 calibre rifle from a dresser drawer. On opening the front door, he saw a man crouched in a corner of the porch who then jumped up and ran.

A single shot was fired "into the ground" in the hope of stopping the prowler, Wedge's lawyer said, and holding him for police. The accused was unaware he had hit anyone.

The neighborhood had been troubled with prowlers, court was told, and Wedge's wife, was nervous. There are two small children in the family.

Magistrate Ostler agreed with the defence admission Wedge acted unwisely but added "it is difficult to fault this man too greatly."

Canteen to Feed The Fish Watchers

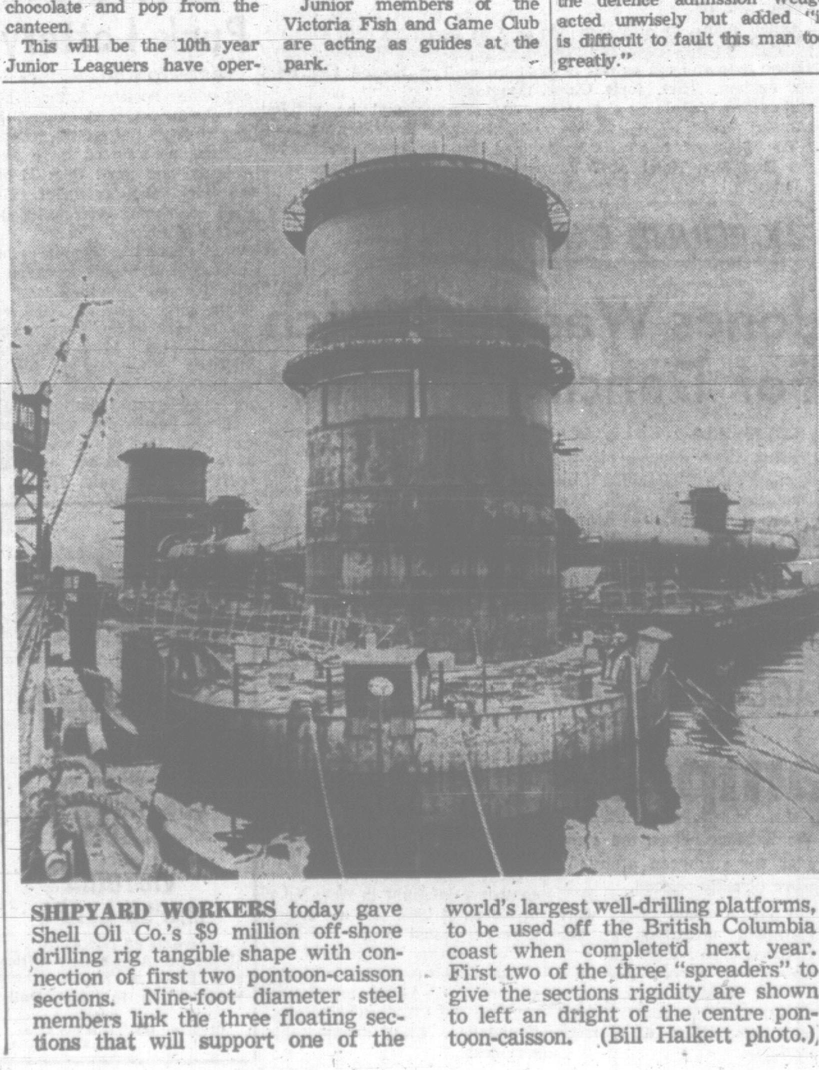
A mobile canteen will feed fishwatchers at Goldstream Park this Sunday and every Sunday through Nov. 27 while the salmon are spawning.

Solaruim Junior League members will sell hot dogs, hamburgers, coffee, hot chocolate and pop from the canteen.

This will be the 10th year Junior Leaguers have operated the canteen at the park during spawning season. All proceeds go to the Queen Alexandra Solarium for Crippled Children.

The canteen will also be at the park Remembrance Day, Nov. 11.

Junior members of the Victoria Fish and Game Club are acting as guides at the park.



SHIPYARD WORKERS today gave Shell Oil Co.'s $9 million off-shore drilling rig tangible shape with connection of first two pontoon-caisson sections. Nine-foot diameter steel members link the three floating sections that will support one of the world's largest well-drilling platforms, to be used off the British Columbia coast when completetd next year. First two of the three "spreaders" to give the sections rigidity are shown to left an dright of the centre pontoon-caisson. (Bill Halkett photo.)

School Board Agent Flailed by Teachers

'Has Not Assisted Negotiation Process'

By DESMOND BILL

Greater Victoria teachers have formally protested the functions of school board bargaining agent Wilfred Peck.

The teachers' association sent a telegram to the board asking Mr. Peck's appointment be "reconsidered and assessed".

It said he "has not assisted the negotiation process" and has shown "a lack of understanding" of the co-operative spirit.

The wire has precipitated a new row between the two bargaining groups.

The board has replied that the teachers' wage requests are "fantastic and unreasonable".

The teachers say the board is not bargaining in good faith.

WILF PECK
. . . under fire

The telegram also accused the board of not negotiating salaries "in the appropriate spirit."

It said, "If the agent's function is merely to 'hold the line' or to precipitate conciliation and compulsory arbitration he is serving no true negotiation function."

Talks between teachers and board broke down this week and the board has asked for appointment of a conciliation board to settle the dispute.

Teachers this year are demanding salary increases that vary from 8 to 50 per cent.

School board chairman John Porteous this morning released a detailed analysis of the teachers' wage demands.

It shows that if the teachers' proposals were accepted, 85 of them would get wage increases of 16 per cent, 100 would get 19 per cent, 40 would get 20 per cent, 61 would get 22 per cent, 34 would get 24 per cent, and two would get 50 per cent, to give a few examples.

PORTEOUS REPLY

Mr. Porteous, in a letter to the GVTA in reply to the telegram, said the teachers are proposing "fantastic salary increases which are unreasonable."

He said the board is "more than willing" to co-operate with teachers if they would make "a reasonable presentation . . . commensurate with existing economic conditions . . . (and) the existing basic salary scale."

His letter flatly rejected the teachers' suggestion that the board ditch its negotiator, Mr. Peck.

Mr. Peck, a Cowichan school trustee, is a former president of the B.C. School Trustees association.

The teachers had asked the board to meet with a delegation from the G.V.T.A. without Mr. Peck's being present "so that we may pursue a solution to the issues currently before us."

Mr. Porteous said the teachers are wrong in suggesting that Mr. Peck's function in the negotiations has been to "hold the line" or to precipitate conciliation and arbitration.

BOTH SIDES

He told the teachers that the board is willing to co-operate with them but reminded them that co-operation "should always stem from both sides."

Mr. Porteous indicated that the school board is going ahead with its intention to call in a conciliation officer. He added, "At the moment that seems the best way to try and settle this matter."

COWICHAN COPPER

Miners Pledged Partial Payday

By AB KENT

Cowichan Copper Co.'s Jordan River miners can expect the first instalment of six-weeks-late back pay Tuesday or Wednesday.

A public relations spokesman for Aetna Investment Corp. Ltd. said by telephone from Toronto today that British Metal Corp. is making an interim payment for copper concentrates from the Sunro mine.

Aetna, which gave up mine management following shut-down in mid-September, agreed to make up the short payroll from funds realized from the marketing of milled ore through British Metals.

"We are doing our best to get this thing over with as quickly as possible," said the Aetna man.

Mine employees — most represented by Local 1012 International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers — are owed upwards of $40,000 in wages and bonuses.

Aetna said the interim payment would be for $15,000.

Liens for $38,000 in wages have been filed by the union and steps have been taken by the provincial labor department for their collection.

Miners' families have been distressed to the point where 26 of 120 jobless are on welfare, the rest on unemployment insurance which offers a maximum $36 per week.

NO TRAFFIC JAM FROM TEST CENTRE

A $250,000 automotive centre planned for the Hillside-Shelbourne intersection will not create a traffic hazard.

City planner Geoff Greenhalgh said today the centre, first of its kind in Canada will occupy at least three-quarters of an acre of land and have carefully planned approaches and exits.

LESS HAZARD

"It will be much less of a hazard than existing operations," he said.

Rezoning to make way for the construction of the centre was approved Thursday by city council.

The testing centre will be electronically equipped to check out in detail automobile performance.

During a test run taking between 30 and 40 minutes 200 operating points of an automobile will be checked out.

All equipment runs silently with the only noise in the testing bay coming from the car motor.

During the test the car owner will be able to watch the entire procedure from a glassed-in viewing room.

Following the electronic check the car will be put through a road test machine under simulated driving conditions. With the results of the two tests combined the motorist will have an accurate report on his car's road-worthiness.

In addition to the car-testing facitlities the new plant will have six service bays, a sales showroom and gasoline pump islands.

Imperial Oil now operates a service station on the site designed to house the new centre.

Two Missing Girls Located byy Police

Two 16-year-old girls missing from their neighboring Saanich homes since Monday have been located.

Saanich detectives said today Susanna Bartlett, 1714 Newton Gardens, and Lynn Wilson, 1706 Newton Gardens, were located unharmed in the Victoria area Thursday night.

TOMBSTONE THEFT ADMITTED

A youth who went to Ross Bay Cemetery to drink a bottle of wine Thursday night pleaded guilty today to stealing a tombstone and flowers from a grave.

Brian Proctor, 19, of HMCS St. Croix was arrested after his car crashed on Calumet Road, injuring a passenger.

Proctor also pleaded guilty in central court to impaired driving. He was remanded in custody for sentence Nov. 7.

Detective Angus Stewart told the court today Proctor could give no explanation for taking the 18 by 24-inch stone, worth about $80. The stone marked the grave of a child of a Calgary man.

The flowers were taken from another grave, the officer said. There was about $25 damage to two water pipes in the vicinity.

$900 DAMAGE

After the wine-drinking in the cemetery Proctor was driving on Saanich Road when his car went out of control as he turned on to Calumet. The auto ran up on a lawn, snapping a tree eight inches thick and causing about $900 damage to the car and property.

A passenger, Alan Coutts, 19, of HMCS St. Croix, was treated at Canadian Forces Base Hospital for a three-inch gash on his forehead.

Lesser Lights Jar Favorites In World Golf

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A glance at the standings after Thursday's opening round of the Eisenhower Trophy golf championship would have the casual observer wondering if someone hadn't turned them upside down.

There was no mistake, however, and it was the also-ran countries of world golf that turned the first 18 holes of the 72-hole competition inside out.

Kevin Hartley shot a four-under par 68 to give the four-man Australian team a six-stroke lead over South Africa, which finished with 220.

India was in third place with 221, followed by New Zealand with 222. Canada and Rhodesia tied for fifth at 223.

Defending champion Britain came in with 228 behind West Germany's 224, Chile and China with 225s and the United States' 226.

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, U.S. amateur champion, three-putted two of the first four greens but finished with a 75

Keith Alexander of Calgary led the Canadians with a 73, Nick Weslock of Burlington, Ont., carded a 75 and Doug Silverberg of Calgary shot an 80.

Only the three lowest scores on each countries teams are totalled after each day's round.

SINKS 40-FOOT PUTT

Bobby Cole, who holds the British amateur title, had to stage a blazing finish—32 on the back nine—and sink a 40-foot putt on the final hole for 72 to bring the South Africans in ahead of the Indians.

The Indians — two bearded Sikhs with their long hair under turbans, a barrel - chested retired army colonel and a 25-year-old Hindu—stole the show.

A. S. Malik, one of the Sikhs, shot a 73, as did Ashok Mehra from Calcutta. The army colonel, P. G. Sethi, was even par until he reached the 195-yard 14th where he drove out of bounds and took a three-over-par six. He finished with 75. The other Indian, S. S. Malik, cousin of A. S., had 83.

CHINA SURPRISES

One of the day's better scores was a 76 by Magnus Gumundsson of Iceland.

China was a big surprise. Chienchin Chen shot a 74 and Ming-Chong Ho, who is only 20, a 75.

Only two players broke par—Hartley, with his 68 representing four birdies, and outsider Peter Cros of Paris, whose 71 led the French.

The Americans couldn't sink a putt. Bob Murphy, the University of Florida student, had the best score, a 74. Deane Beman of Bethesda, Md., Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla., and Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, Calif., all had 76s.

SERVICES TEAM AFTER FIRST WIN

The tall order goes out tonight to the Canadian Forces Base hockey team.

Coach Dave (Bunker) Hill's combined Army-Navy team looks for its first victory in Esquimalt Hockey League play at the expense of defending champion University of Victoria Vikings tonight.

The Sports Centre game gets under way at 8.

Combos lost their opening game, 6-5, to Esquimalt Tudor Monarchs last week. Vikings won their only start.

Aussie Fires Three Eagles On Last Nine

BRISBANE (AP)—Australia's Peter Thomson, who bagged three eagles on the last nine holes, and Arnold Palmer shot seven-under-par 67s Thursday to share the first-round lead in the 72-hole Australian Open golf championship.

Palmer had finished his 33-34 round over the 35-38—73 Royal Queensland course when Thomson came surging from behind with 35-33. Australian Bruce Devlin and Brian Boyes of New Zealand tied for third with 69s.

Gary Player, the defending champion from South Africa, and Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina were in the 72 group.

Blueboys Divide Tourney Tussle

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Canada's entry in the first world softball tournament split a doubleheader Thursday, defeating El Salvador 4-1 and losing 3-0 to top-ranked Puerto Rico.

Vancouver Blueboys now have won two and lost three games.

Lorne Auvauche led Vancouver to victory over El Salvador with three-hit pitching.

SEVENTH STRAIGHT WIN

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Aces downed Pittsburgh Hornets, 5-3, Thursday night for their seventh straight victory in the American Hockey League

Pro Gridder Charged After Bar-Room Brawl

DETROIT (AP)—An assault and battery complaint has been sworn out against Karl Sweetan, former Toronto Argonaut and now quarterback of Detroit Lions.

The complaint, brought in justice court on suburban Sterling Township, was lodged by Richard Vyt, a 33-year-old sheet-metal worker, who alleges Sweetan struck him in a fight in a bowling alley and bar Wednesday night.

Sweetan, 24, played brilliantly for the Lions' against San Francisco last Sunday in his debut as a National Football League starting quarterback

Sweetan, declaring himself not at fault, said Vyt threatened him "and I hit him first."

The 6-foot-1, 205-pound Texan said there was an argument at Vyt's table in the Sunnyside Lane bar and bowling alley. A young woman friend had requested him to retrieve her purse and a drink from the table where she had been sitting with Vyt and another man.

Vyt was treated for a reported facial injury in hospital.

QUICK RETURN

LONDON (AP)—Tony Hateley, star soccer centre-forward, was sold by Aston Villa to Chelsea for $280,000 Wednesday. A few hours later he helped his new team score a 3-0 victory over Tottenham Hotspur and take over first place in the English Football League First Division.

BOWLER OF WEEK.

Perfect record in Times Bowler-of-the-Week competition has been extended by Anne Goodman, who has earned women's tenpin award for fourth successive year. City all-events queen in 1960 and zone champion in 1964, Anne topped distaff tenpinners in third week of 27-week contest by rolling 182-218-178 - 578 series in Thursday Mixed League at Mayfair Lanes.

Domineering Oak Bay Makes It 16 Straight!

Ol' Man River may "jes' keep rolling along," but Oak Bay High's moves in the water are second only to frightened fish.

The dominant force in city high school swimming circles, Oak Bay did it again Friday with an overwhelming victory in the annual inter-high gala at the Crystal Garden pool.

It marks the 16th straight year Oak Bay has sped away with the team championship. As a matter of fact, some of the present swimmers weren't even born the last time Oak Bay missed. That was in 1950, when Victoria High came through.

Coach Gary Taylor's Bays won 13 of Friday's 20 events to pile up 207 points, almost twice as many as runner-up Esquimalt.

Esquimalt (105) was followed by Belmont (56), Mount View (46), Victoria (42), St. Ann's Academy (33) and Mount Douglas (14).

A total of 11 new marks went into the books, including three in the relays.

Paul Thomas of Oak Bay led the record - assault with time-cracking efforts in the boys' novice 50-yard backstroke and the freestyle.

Other record-breakers were Brenda Aylward of St. Ann's, Grant Treloar of Mount View, Gail Conklin and Ross Bruce, both of Oak Bay, Mary Horne of Esquimalt and Mike Regan of Vic High.

Oak Bay teams cracked all three relay standards, winning the girls' 220, the boys' freestyle and medley events.

Soutar, Boyd Making Switch

Transfers have been processed, so peppery Don Boyd and Bert Soutar will be able to don different Pacific Coast Soccer League colors Saturday.

Soutar, former Victorian who has been transfered back to the city by his employers, gets the PCSL's okay to switch his soccer allegiance from New Westminster Royals to Victoria O'Keefes.

Boyd will be on the other side of the fence Saturday when O'Keefes, riding high and mighty with an unbeaten record, play Vancouver Columbus at Macdonald Park.

Columbus has traded Steve Djoric to Firefighters in return for the services of Boyd, an all-star wing half.

THEY'LL BE READY

Both are expected to line up with their new teams Saturday.

On Sunday, soccer's light shines on the District League. A full schedule is slated for both the first and second divisions.

Gorge plays Hourigan Kickers at Heywood, University Vikings entertain Navy on the UVic campus, Red Lions will roar at Canadian Scottish at Bullen Park, and Vic Wests tackle Luckies at Central Park.

The four scheduled second-division games are: London Boxing-Sidney; Island Tug-Vic West; University Norsemen-Colony, and Falcons-Gorge.

All games start at 2 p.m

Mexican Vacates Top Games' Post

MEXICO CITY (AP)—Newspapers headlined stories Thursday that Gen. J. J. Clark Flores has resigned four posts involving Mexican sports activities and the 1968 Olympic Games.

Clark Flores would not comment when reached in the United States.

The newspaper La Aficion said Clark Flores had definitely resigned as president of the Mexican Sports Confederation, president of the Mexican Olympic Committee, vice-president of the Olympic Organizing Committee, and president of the Olympic Executive Committee.

MOVING FORCE

Clark Flores has been active in Mexican sports for about 10 years and was a moving force in Olympic planning. He is a close friend of Avery Brundage, president of the International Olympic Committee.

The organization and progress of preparations for the 1968 Games have been under fire from foreign sources, although Mexico has insisted that everything will be ready when the time comes.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Lowman

Q. Is there any way to stop nail biting? I hate the way my nails look, but I don't know how to stop it. I bite my nails without knowing I am doing it. I only see the result later on.

A. Nail biting is a nervous habit, so try to calm down. For more practical help have a professional manicure once a week. After paying for it and seeing how much better the nails look, most women hesitate to bite off the glamor. There are also products on the market which can be applied to the nails and which will remind you when you begin to bite. Ask your nearest drugstore about this.

Q. I keep reading that exercise both reduces and develops. I don't see how it can do both. Please enlighten me about this. I think lots of other women are confused.

A. It does sound confusing! The truth is that exercise is a normalizer of the figure, although the type of exercise is important, depending on what you wish to accomplish. Swimming is a wonderful all-round exercise. It tones the muscles and builds gentle curves and burns up calories.

As a general rule, the stretching type exercise is reducing as is the one which uses the massage idea, such as rolling back and forth on the hips. If you wish to increase a measurement, like enlarging the chest muscles to make the bust more prominent, then the strong muscular contraction is recommended. This is where the isometric exercises are helpful to the figure.

Q. What is meant by a semi-permanent rinse?

A. I suppose you refer to the rinses which are not permanent dyes but which last through a number of shampoos.

Q. Will false eyelashes make a woman's real eyelashes fall out?

A. There is no evidence that this would happen. Thousands of women wear them and still have their eyelashes.

Q. I get seven hours sleep almost every night. I feel fine, but people keep telling me that I should have at least eight hours sleep. How about that?

A. People differ in the amount of sleep they require. If you feel fine with seven hours, then it's probably all right for you. I think the average person may need eight for best performance, but as I say, folks differ greatly in this way.

UN Asked to Avert War Between Israel, Syria

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)—The United States and Britain asked Security Council help today to avert a possible war between Israel and Syria. The crisis was heightened by reports Arab saboteurs had halted rail service to three cities in Israel.

Money Big Obstacle to Tunnel

PARIS (UPI) — Britain and France agreed today to push ahead construction of a rail tunnel under the English Channel—provided private investors agree to pay the major part of a tab now estimated at $560 million.

Construction could begin soon on the tunnel provided private investors agree in the next few weeks to take "certain decisions". A British source said the problem of finance was an "important obstacle" to the construction of the tunnel.

Dock Workers Return to Work

LONDON (AP)—Striking dock workers voted today to go back to work after a 10-day walkout that tied up 66 ships in the port of London. The dispute started when members of the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union protested dockers affiliated with the Transport and General Workers Union carrying passengers' luggage at the Millwall dock.

Three-Way Fight Sure in Cariboo

By JOHN MIKA

The Nov. 28 byelection in Cariboo will develop into a "little general election" it appeared today as three parties said they would contest it and even the Conservatives are trying to find a candidate.

Provincial Tory president Stuart Fleming of Vernon this morning told The Times that he is urging the Cariboo PC constituency association to enter the contest by the Nov. 19 nomination deadline.

Liberal Leader Ray Perrault also confirmed that his party definitely will seek a victory and Opposition Leader Robert Strachan said the same Thursday immediately after the writ was announced.

Although he still has to go through a formal nominating procedure, the Social Credit party's candidate will be Attorney - General Robert Bonner for whom the opening was engineered because of his Sept. 12 defeat in Vancouver Point Grey.

IMPORTANT ISSUES

The other parties haven't yet declared their standard-bearers but the leaders have indicated that the battle will be turned into a re-enactment of last month's general election in which they claim Premier Bennett hid some important issues.

With logging the main industry and cattle next in importance to the Cariboo riding, the NDP will have an oportunity to prove Mr. Strachan's post-election contention that his party's main campaign "peaked" just a little too early.

He said current worry over layoffs of loggers and the profits taken by meat departments of supermarkets were foreshadowed by the theme of the NDP campaign but the Sept. 12 election date enabled the Socreds to squeeze in just before the public had begun responding to the economic situation.

Mr. Perrault suggested the same this morning when he said "Cariboo riding will be good campaign territory for the Liberals.

"There are many issues and most of them have developed since the general election."

LIBERAL CANDIDATE

He said "two or three" persons already have expressed interest in standing for Liberal nomination and his conversations with local constituency officials guarantee "the party will have a candidate."

He said he would go to the riding this weekend to help with organization and pointed out that Cariboo has returned Liberal members in the past.

Mr. Fleming, whose party virtually abdicated the Sept. 12 campaign with only three token candidates, said "we're in the process of consulting with our association in Cariboo and actively pursuing the objective of mounting a campaign.

"It would give us a chance to state our case and begin rebuilding our party. But it's up to the local constituency to decide.

"The provincial organization will give them absolutely full support if they decide to run a candidate—but, of course, we will not impose this decision on them."

PICK OUR TIME

Mr. Fleming said he is making all efforts to ensure a candidate is put up by the party on general rather than local issues.

"At the beginning of the year I said the party was not in a position to fight a general election and we should pick our own time," he said.

"Well, in a byelection there is none of the pressure you have in a general election.

"I feel this is the ideal opportunity for our party to make a full and comprehensive statement of our over-all program."

Last month Deputy Speaker William Speare was re-elected for the Socreds with 3,830 votes. The NDP took 2,530 and the Liberals 719 votes while the Conservatives didn't contest the seat. But since the Socreds first won the riding in 1952, all three opposition parties have held the runner-up spot in one election or another.

Meanwhile, fiery Lillooet editor Mrs. Margaret (Ma) Murray predicted that Mr. Bonner would be defeated.

EGO-APPEAL

"Bennett is trying to appeal to the ego of the Cariboo voters, offering them a big-name cabinet minister," she said.

"But they're not a bunch of hicks who will fall for something like that. The Cariboo is the roughest, toughest place there ever was — real moonshine-drinkin' country."

She said she would be happy to be a candidate but the Liberal

'U.S. CAN'T' SUBDUE REDS

PARIS (AP) — President de Gaulle called today for a Vietnamese settlement based on guaranteed self determination after the withdrawal of American troops.

He told a crowded press conference in Elysee Palace the Americans cannot "subdue" Viet Nam and that an American military victory there is impossible.

At the same time, he added, the American forces now in Viet Nam cannot be destroyed by their foes.

Once more demanding withdrawal of American forces from Viet Nam, de Gaulle said peace there depends on Washington's acceptance of the principle of self-determination for the Vietnamese people.

"They have only to observe the principle that each people should settle their own affairs in their own manner and by their own means," he said.

South Africa Ponders Getting Out of UN

ANOTHER TRIP

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Martin probably will send special envoy Chester Ronning on a third mission to Hanoi, but not immediately, informed sources said today.

WAS IT AN OMEN? When Attorney - General Robert Bonner (Stetson hat, centre) posed for this "fun" picture during the Barkerville restoration hi-jinks in 1962 it probably never occurred to him that one day he'd be fighting a personal election campaign in British Columbia's legendary cattle and gold country. But next month he'll contest a byelection in the historic Cariboo riding, seeking a legislative seat the voters of Point Grey denied him in general election in September. (Svendsen photo.)

Mandate Ending Brings Reaction

PRETORIA (Reuters) — Prime Minister John Vorster held a special cabinet meeting today to discuss South Africa's answer to Thursday night's United Nations vote to terminate the republic's mandate over South-West Africa.

Political observers speculated the government might now consider quitting the United Nations.

The cabinet was due to hear later a first-hand report from Foreign Minister Hilgard Muller on the General Assembly vote, which aims at wresting from South Africa control of the territory which it has administered for 46 years. Muller was due back from New York by air today.

The vote came too late for comment in most South African morning newspapers, but in Johannesburg The Rand Daily Mail said it demonstrated a sharp deterioration in South Africa's international position and the extent of its failure to convince the world that apartheid (racial segregation) could be made morally acceptable.

The Rand Daily Mail usually supports the opposition Progressive party, which is opposed to apartheid.

Doubts

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Many UN diplomats expressed doubt today that the world organization could carry out the General Assembly's decision to wrest South-West Africa from a defiant South African government.

The 121-nation assembly voted 114 to 2 Thursday night to end South Africa's old League of Nations mandate over the 320,000-square - mile territory on her northwest border and bring it under UN trusteeship.

The world body also voted the establishment of a special committee of 14 member states, to be designated by the assembly president, to recommend practical means by which the territory should be administered.

It called upon the South African government "forthwith to refrain and desist from any action, constitutional, administrative, political or otherwise, which will in any manner whatsoever alter or tend to alter the present international status of South-West Africa."

The historic decision, climaxing a running battle between the UN and South Africa going back to the start of the world organization, came through the adoption of a series of Latin American amendments to a basic resolution proposed by 54 African and Asian members.

Only South Africa and Portugal voted against the measure.

Three Abstain

Britain, France and Malawi abstained. Botswana and Lesotho were absent; both adjoin South Africa and are dependent on it economically.

Canada, which voted in favor of the termination of the mandate, worked behind the scenes to gain the widest possible support for the resolution.

It was the most drastic action the UN has ever embarked upon to try to compel South Africa to yield the territory. But the South African government has served notice it will use "whatever means necessary" to block any attempt to take over the mandate.

This would give the assembly only one recourse: To turn the issue over to the Security Council, which has the authority to resort to sanctions or outright force.

But this posed the question of whom the council would delegate to carry out the job in the unlikely event that it did approve military measures without running into a British veto.

Force Threatened

A number of African nations threatened during the month-long assembly debate to organize an army to move into South-West Africa.

It was considered more likely that the council would call for economic sanctions. But such measures have had little effect on South Africa's white supremacist government in the past.

The resolution said South Africa had failed to carry out its obligations to the 500,000 inhabitants of the territory it took over in 1920.

Vicious Battle Raging In Viet Nam Rice Fields

SAIGON (Reuters) — Heavy fighting flared in the rice fields of South Viet Nam's Mekong Delta Thursday, with government troops reporting 137 Viet Cong guerrillas killed in a set-piece battle.

Two battalions of elite South Vietnamese troops were air-lifted by helicopter at noon to reinforce infantry units locked in combat with two Viet Cong battalions, a government spokesman said.

American and South Vietnamese air force planes bombed the guerrillas, accounting for about 90 of the dead.

Government casualties in the action, which took place 88 miles southwest of Saigon, were described as light.

The government force, which hit the Viet Cong within minutes of launching a search-and-destroy operation in the area, was today reported continuing its sweep through rice fields and fortified hamlets.

AFTER GUERRILLAS

The recent intensification of fighting in the Mekong Delta region has led to speculation that the United States will send large forces into the area to help the government hunt down entrenched guerrilla bands.

There also was a report, from Ottawa, that the resumption of bombing in the demilitarized zone by the United States had once again driven the Indian, Polish and Canadian members of the International Control Commission out of the area.

In making the announcement, External Affairs Minister Martin said:

"We remain convinced nevertheless that there is a role for the commission as an instrument through which a measure

Pearson Holds Line on Demands

OTTAWA (CP) — Western premiers left the Dominion-provincial fiscal conference today not very happy and not very much richer.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia said:

"We didn't lose anything, and that's a victory for B.C. We didn't get anything either."

He said that Finance Minister Sharp has said he will write to him about British Columbia's demands for federal support for certain Crown corporations.

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal-provincial fiscal conference ended this afternoon with no significant change in a rigid federal refusal to yield more tax room to the provinces and several premiers left for home with bitter comments.

Premier Robarts of Ontario said the week had been "an exercise in futility."

Premier Roblin said it was an unhappy conference for Manitoba and "can hardly be described as encouraging in the national interest."

Prime Minister Pearson said the federal government had protected the interests of the country and he was "quite happy with the result."

The only change announced by Mr. Pearson was an adjustment in support for higher education worth $1 per capita to the provinces, or a total of $20,000,000.

Mr. Pearson said the federal government has "gone as far as we could" in giving further tax resources to the provinces. He estimated the new money promised during the week-long conference to the provinces at $350,000,000 for the year 1967-68.

He conceded that the growth in provincial programs will be faster in future than it will be in the federal field. But predictions that Ottawa would face a surplus in a few years were not correct.

SECRET CAUCUS DISCLOSED

Tory Disharmony Out in Open

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The disharmony within the Conservative caucus over the leadership of John Diefenbaker exploded into the open today.

A secret caucus of the Conservative party was held recently with attendance limited only to those who hold one particular viewpoint on the leadership question, G. W. Baldwin, Conservative MP for Peace River disclosed.

He said he received no notice of the caucus.

He learned later that the secret caucus was attended by those within the Conservative MPs who have announced their support for Arthur Maloney for the national presidency of the party.

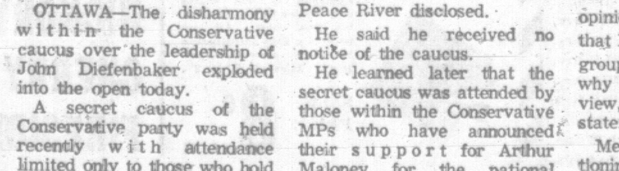
"I think it is my right, as one who holds an opposite opinion, to make it quite plain that I was not included in that group and to give my reasons why I am opposed to this view," said Baldwin in a statement issued today.

Meantime, a smoothly functioning Diefenbaker organization has dealt two blows to the Conservative national president Dalton Camp's campaign to challenge Diefenbaker's leadership at the annual party meeting next month. There is now a serious question whether Camp will be successful in his bid for re-election with Maloney running against him.

At the same time it was learned that the agenda for the annual meeting has been prepared and distributed. Copies of the agenda have been already distributed to MPs and other convention delegates by Dr. James Johnston, national director of the Conservative party. Dr. Johnston is a Diefenbaker appointee to the Conservative head-office staff in Ottawa.

It is understood that Camp was not informed in advance —or consulted—about the agenda.

Mr. Baldwin in his statement said, "I don't think it is any longer a question of Dalton Camp et al versus Diefenbaker, Nielsen and Maloney, but rather a question of a very deep and fundamental principle; whether this is a divine right in any person to retain any elective office without some means of submitting in the usual democratic way, from time to time, to re-endorsement or rejection."



Thet's another trade restriction on South Africa—no export of apartheid t' South-West Africa.

LBJ, Marcos Had 'Words' Over Troops

MANILA (CP) — President Johnson and Philippine President Ferdinand Marcos had a "less than cordial exchange" on the question of sending Filipino troops to South Viet Nam during the Manila summit conference, an informed source disclosed today.

Johnson, speaking at the closed-door session of the seven-nation conference, had criticized Philippine participation in Viet Nam, the source said, referring to the 2,000 Filipino civic action group as only twenty-hundreds of one per cent of the Philippine population of 32,000,000

Meeting the U.S. president later, Marcos pointed out that the Philippines has a standing army of only 45,000 men, and that during the Huk (Communist) insurrection here in 1949 the U.S. "did not send one million U.S. dollars a day" to the Philippines, the source said, referring to the cost of the Philippine effort in South Viet Nam.

SECOND REFERENCE

After the conference President Johnson, speaking in Corregidor, again referred to Filipino participation in the conflict.

Johnson then expressed concern for Viet Nam saying, "we have all agreed that a terrorist, Communist insurgency sponsored and buttressed by the Hanoi government shall not destroy the independence of Viet Nam."

He added:

"The Philippine people, who were racked by a similar armed assault on their sovereignty by the Huks, will recognize the full dimensions of these problems and the nature of the response that must be mounted."

Informed sources believed that Johnson took up the subject again prior to his departure here Thursday, following his visit to Cam Ranh base in South Viet Nam.

French Drain On U.S. Gold Stock Eases

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. gold stock rose by $37 million in September, the federal reserve board has reported. It was the first time the U.S. had gained gold since December and the largest monthly gain in 2½ years.

France, which has been the major taker of U.S. gold, reduced her purchases. But U.S. officials cautioned against taking this to mean that French president Charles de Gaulle had dropped his attack on the dollar.

The main reason, they said, appeared to he high interest rates in the U.S., which kept French commercial banks from selling their dollars to the Bank of France as in the past.

As a result, the Bank of France bought only $34 million worth of gold in September compared to $146 million in August. September's purchase brought the French total for the first nine months of the year to about $600 million.

Industrial and artistic users bought $13 million last month, but this and the French purchase was more than offset by U.S. gold purchases overseas.

By the end of September, the U.S. gold stock stood at $13,356,000,000 down $45 million from Jan. 1.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Rallies Falter On Toronto, N.Y.

Both Toronto and New York markets failed to hold their rallies in moderate to light trading.

At Toronto stocks such as Alcan and CPR were down, Alcan by ¾ to 29⅛ and CPR by ¾ to 52½.

Consolidated Paper also slipped ¾ to 37¼ following announcement of its merger with Bathurst Paper. Bathurst rose ¾ to 28½.

On Wall Street Du Pont wiped out a two-point gain and showed a net loss exceeding a point.

AT TORONTO Chrysler hit a low for the year of 36¼ with a ¼ drop after it reported net earnings for the first nine months of this year down from a year ago.

Western oils fell for the second successive day, led by Canadian Superior, which dipped 1⅛ to 24⅛. Scurry Rainbow was off ¼ to 18, Dynamic 8 cents to 2.66 and Provo Gas 5 cents to 4.35.

Rio Algom was down ¼ to 25¼ but Frobex and Area continued to gain in the speculative field. Each was up 25 cents, Frobex to 4.60 and Area to a years' high of 4.65.

AT NEW YORK rails bucked the trend, posting a long string of fractional gains on word of their agreement to boost freight rates.

Gulf and Western Industries rose a fraction in active trading. Allis Chalmers ranked close to it in activity as it lost a small fraction following an initial rise. Skelly Oil ran up about 4½.

AT LONDON the week ended quietly on the stock exchange today. Leading stocks were usually little changed after some narrw, irregular movements.

Gilts lost a few initial improvements and prices turned down a shade.

Dollar stocks advanced further. Canadian Pacific recovered 2½ points of its recent loss. Elsewhere in Canadian issues, Consolidated Paper, Massey Ferguson and International Nickel each added 1½ points. Royal Bank of Canada and Bank of Montreal were firmer but other Canadian banks were quiet.

AT VANCOUVER three issues hit new lows on the mining section before noon today.

Dundee was off one to .11, Silver Arrow dropped .08 to .30 and Western Tin was down .18 to .38.

Cascade Moly lost six cents to $1.38. Brenda gained .15 to $18 and Madrona rose .12 to $1.40.

Trading was light in the industrial and oils sections.

Imperial Oil Earnings Up

TORONTO (CP) — Imperial Oil Ltd. had net earnings of $66,000,000 or $2.08 a share in the first nine months of this year, compared with $61,000,000 or $1.93 in the similar 1965 period.

The improved earnings were due to higher sales and production volumes, combined with more stable product prices, president W. O. Twaits said.

"The outlook for the remainder of the year appears favorable," he added.

IT'S IMPORTANT FOR YOU, THE INVESTOR, TO KNOW
"WHAT'S THE RISK?"

Well-placed mortgages represent one of the lesser investment risks. That's why insurance companies, trust companies, pension funds and other such institutions rely so substantially on mortgages. 66⅔% 1st mortgages are commonly placed today. There are companies who have based a nationwide industry on 2nd mortgages, lending to 87½% of value.
However, every $3,500 currently invested by Victoria Mortgage is secured by an average of $10,000 in real estate security. Share Capital provides additional security to the debenture holder. Debentures repaid in event of death before maturity date. 7%, 1 yr.; 7¼%, 30 mo.; 7½%, 5 yr. Interest paid or compounded quarterly.

. . . CARIBOO

officials already have said they would not want her because she does not live in the riding.

Mrs. Murray's reaction to the byelection announcement contrasted with the predictable cliches that came from others Thursday.

"Bonner needs to be in there, and there was no one stepping down," Mr. Speare explained his resignation, tendered Monday but kept secret.

"I just put my own personal position second to the good of the province.

"I will be a party to the campaign and I will assist Bonner in any way I can because I'm wholly convinced that he should be in the legisalture."

"I am delighted at this opportunity," said Mr. Bonner, recalling he first entered the House in a byelection in the rural riding of Columbia.

"I think frankly the experience of being in an interior riding will certainly be good for me and I hope it will be good for the riding."

"My first task will be to add to my general knowledge of the riding," he said, adding he will meet with Cariboo delegates to next week's Socred provincial convention in Vancouver.

"Some time following that I hope to get on to the ground and to work."

Mr. Strachan said "the calling of the byelection in the Cariboo constituency is an indication of the reluctance of other Social Credit elected members to resign for the purpose of providing a seat for carpetbagger Bonner.

"I know of none of Mr. Bonner's quaities that would fit him to represent the great Cariboo consituency.

MORE SUPPORT

"The increased support that our party received in the recent general election will carry over so that on election day the Cariboo constituency will be represented by a New Democratic Party member who will be a resident of the area and thus able to better understand the requirements and problems of the people."

Mr. Perrault said selection of rural riding for Mr. Bonner's attempt "is an indication that there was serious concern about the possibility about an election result in this area where he's best known."

Asked if the Liberals would contest the seat, he said he had "no comment on that aspect of it at the present time. We hope to go into the area within the next few hours and meet with the people there."

Premier Bennett, from Ottawa, issued this statement:

"I am sure all British Columbians, no matter what party they belong to, would like to see Attorney - General Bonner back in the legislature helping democratic government.
